COOLIDGE ACTS TO RELIEVE SITUATION IN NORTHWEST

Appeals for Federal Co-operation to Halt Farther Bank Failures, in Special Message

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Moved by the increasing gravity of the economic situation in the Northwest, President Coolidge today sent to Congress a special message outlining the relief and quickened efforts of the Federal government to halt farther bank failures in that section. The Chief Executive in his message presented five methods for "organized co-operation on the part of the Federal government and financial institutions of that territory."

Tens of Thousands March Silently Past Bier of Arch Rebel

Peasants With Bared Heads Line Route From Home to Capital

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—The body of Nicolai Lenin, the Bolshevik Premier, and probably the greatest rebel of this or any other generation, against the system of society built up by the ages, lay tonight in a silver-trimmed casket on a red-draped dais in the great glittering hall of the House of Unions in Moscow.

Tens of thousands of persons marched silently past the bier to take a last look upon the face of the man who led the Communist revolution which turned topsy-turvy the lives of the people of a nation of 130,000,000 and left its mark in nearly every corner of the globe. Some of those in the continuous stream passing by the casket perhaps had followed and loved Lenin, while others must have hated him, but there was almost dead silence and solemnity in the great hall, and there seemed to be prevalent more of the ele-

MacDONALD HITS TARDY DIGNITARIES

New British Premier Gets Apology From Peer Who Keeps Him Waiting

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Ramsay Macdonald who took office today as England's first Labor Party Premier, gave tacit aptics to the country and his colleagues today that he expected to give the British people a business-like administration and would look for punctuality on the part of his associates in reporting for duty each day.

Soon after partaking of a light quick luncheon in the American fashion he called at the foreign office at about 2 o'clock this afternoon in the expectation of seeing Marquis Curson or Sir Eric Crowe, who in the foreign secretary's absence is the executive head of the department. But Lord Curson had already given up the reins of state and gone home and Sir Eric, like most British officials who believe in a full two or three hours siesta, at midday, had not yet returned from luncheon.

Sir Eric Crowe did not arrive until about 2:30. Mr. Macdonald meanwhile having cooled his heels in an ante-room. Sir Eric apologised profusely for his tardiness, after which the premier engaged him in a long talk over the personnel and functioning of the various departments of the foreign office.

VANISHED MILLIONS EXPLAINED

Daughter of Jay Gould Says Brother's Secretary Sold Holdings

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Testifying for the second consecutive day at a referee's investigation of the accounting filed by trustees of Jay Gould's $35,000,000 estate, Mrs. Finley J. Shepard—the former Helen Gould—today disclosed that her brothers, George and Edwin, secretly had sold millions of dollars worth of their father's holdings.

She wilted and appeared to be about to collapse after several hours of rapid fire questioning and cross examination, and the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow. Apparently utterly fatigued she was led from the court room by her husband. Her brother, Edwin Gould, is expected to take the stand again tomorrow.

Mrs. Shepard's testimony related chiefly to the estate's sale of $15,000 worth of Western Union stock to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1909, and of 152,400 shares of Missouri Pacific Railroad stock to individuals during 1913 and 1914.

The witness declared each of these deals was made without her knowledge, although she was one of the four trustees of the estate and had been guardian of her sister Anna, now the Duchess De Talleyrand. Objections of Anna and Frank Gould to the trustee's accounting resulted in the present hearing.

DOHENY OFFERS TO TELL ABOUT NAVAL OIL DEALS

Los Angeles Man to be Volunteer Witness at Senate Inquiry; Sensation Is Predicted

BY ROBERT BARRY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Teapot Dome investigation approached the boiling point in Washington tonight when rumors of a highly sensational development tomorrow came at the end of a day full of developments. After Senator Walsh of Montana, directing genius of the Senate inquiry, had announced that "a voluntary witness of considerable prominence and able to shed light on the dark places" would appear at a specially called session of the committee tomorrow afternoon, it became known the witness referred to was Edward L. Doheny of Los Angeles, internationally known oil man and lessee of a naval oil reserve in California from former Secretary Fall.

In a Senate speech Senator Walsh announced he would ask Congress to authorise and direct President Coolidge "to employ special counsel to prosecute litigation" for recovery of the naval reserves leased to Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair "entirely independent and without any control over it by the Department of Justice or the Attorney-General."

Senators Caraway of Arkansas and Heflin of Alabama, demanding immediate action by Congress to revoke the Teapot Dome lease, denominated Sinclair and his associates and Fall as "traitors," "marauders" and "liars," guilty of "the greatest wrongdoing in our history."

"It was treason," Senator Walsh said, "for Secretary Fall to lease away the naval oil reserve at a time when the whole fleet was being converted into oil burners; at a time when control of the air meant national safety."

PREDICTS ANNULMENT

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader in the Senate, doubting the legality of the Caraway resolution to annul the Teapot Dome lease after an examination of the statutes, gave the opinion that within a week the Senate would adopt a resolution expressing the "sense of the Senate" that the leases should be annulled by the President acting through the Secretary of the Navy.

Measure Introduced in Greek Assembly Brings Turbulent Scenes

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ATHENS, Jan. 23.—A measure was introduced in the National Assembly tonight declaring the Glucksburg dynasty—the reigning house—forfeited. Owing to the turbulent scenes which this action provoked the house was adjourned until Friday without reaching a vote.

The measure was presented by the Republican leader after Premier Venizelos, addressing the Assembly for the first time in his new office, aroused a storm of applause by declaring that the Greek people had ceased to believe in the necessity for a dynasty, and there was no foreign obstacle to a republic.

The procedure aroused many of the Deputies and the session became partially disorganized. Spectators in the galleries joined with the Deputies in abusing rolayti.

Venizelos frequently intervened in the interest of order.

AWARDED CARNEGIE MEDAL

Angeleno and Another Californian Included in List of Heroes for Year 1923

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSBURG, Jan. 23.—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission at its twentieth annual meeting here late today recognized twenty-five acts of heroism by awarding one gold, three silver and twenty-one bronze medals in addition to $3960 a year in pensions to the dependants of twelve of the heroes who lost their lives.

The commission also awarded $2350 to heroes' dependents to be expended under direction of the commission; $6200 for educational purposes and $6000 for other worthy purposes.

The heroes who lost their lives while performing deeds of valor included one woman, Helen Gill Geist of Newark, Del., killed while attempting to rescue a child from the path of an automobile truck at Newark, May 29, 1923. A bronze medal was given to her son.

Other awards included:

John Miller, 314 West 107th street, Los Angeles, crossing watchman, attempted to save a man and woman from the path of a train at Winnetka, Ill., September 1, 1919, bronze medal; and Marshal E. Miller, Butte City, Cal., attempted to save a girl and did rescue a man from drowning at Butte City June 7, 1918, bronze medal.

Tax Compromise Unaccepted

Garner Says His Party Will Not Yield Until Definite Offer is Made

Republicans Win Tilt Over Order of Procedure in Committee

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The offer of Republicans of the House Ways and Means Committee, to compromise with the Democrats and work out a nonpartisan tax bill remained unaccepted tonight by the Democrats, while the committee proceeded with consideration of the miscellaneous rates, using the Mellon plan as a basis.

Representative Garner of Texas, speaking for the Democrats in committee, said his party would not yield on the rates outlined in the Democratic tax-revision plan of which he is the author, until the Republicans had proposed definite terms of compromise.

Chairman Green of the committee, who made the offer for the Republicans, indicated that while consideration of the new rates would be continued in full committee, it was possible the majority members might decide upon a schedule among themselves, which could be adopted by majority vote in committee.

GREEN MEETS GARNER

Sidetracking temporarily of the Mellon bill by the Republicans came prior to the first consideration of the new tax rates by the whole committee. Mr. Green asked Mr. Garner if the Democrats intended to support only their program for tax revision. At the suggestion of Representative Hull of Tennessee, who is chairman of the Democratic national committee, Mr. Garner asked the chairman if the Republicans intended to support in whole, the Mellon proposals.

Mr. Green replied that the majority members were willing to cooperate in framing a bill which would be supported by both parties in the committee and on the floor of the House.

A second tilt arose when the Republicans proposed a program of procedure by which the indirect or miscellaneous taxes would be considered first, postponing until the last determination of the income rates.

Representative Garner urged that the rates be considered in the order in which they came in the bill, which would bring the income taxes up first. The Republican program was adopted on a party vote, with Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin, dissenting.

EXEMPTIONS NEXT

The proposal for increased exemption for earned incomes and the community tax provision of the Mellon plan will come up next before committee. Green said tonight it was likely the miscellaneous taxes would be disposed of this week and that the other provisions would be completed in plenty of time for a report of the bill to the House by February 11, as directed by the Republican majority.

In its first consideration of the rate reductions, the Republicans carried a motion by Representative Mills, Republican, New York, to apportion the proposed reduction of $320,000,000 with $200,000,000 for direct or incoms taxes and $120,000,000 for the indirect or miscellaneous taxes. This follows substantially the lines of the Mellon bill. Representative Garner had moved that $230,000,000 of the reductions be allowed in the income-tax revenues and $90,000,000 in the indirect taxes.

While no decisions were made today on the tax rates under discussion, numerous motions for repeal of many of the excise or nuisance levies were offered.

CLASHES IN BOK PEACE AWARD QUIZ

Reed's Hint of "Packed" Jury Stirs Up Witness Defended by Caraway

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The League of Nations was brought prominently to the fore by Senator Reed of Missouri, a league irreconcilable, in the Senate committee investigation today of the Bok Peace Award. The discussion resulted in sharp exchanges between Senator Reed and his Democratic colleague, Senator Caraway of Arkansas, and frequent protests from Miss Esther Everett Lape, member in charge of the policy committee of the award, the only witness heard.

Miss Lape objected to what she regarded as intimations in questions by Senator Reed that the selection of members of the policy committee and the jury of award had been influenced by their attitude toward the league. Senator Reed asserted there were no such intimations, but Senator Caraway disagreed with him, saying he thought there was a hint that the jury had been "packed."

Senator Reed took up the league question after Miss Lape had gone into the organization and operation of the award in great detail.

Miss Lape asserted and several times reiterated that the league question in nowise had entered into the selection of the members either of the policy committee or of the jury of awards.

SENATOR ASSASSINATED ON MEXICO CITY STREET

Opponent of American Pact Slain; Washington Opposes Sale of Warships to Obregon

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23.—Francisco Field Jurado, Senator of Campeche, was shot and killed at 2 p.m. today. A group of individuals in an automobile, reported to have been dressed as laborers, approached Jurado, who was walking toward his home in the fashionable residential district. They fired five shots and Jurado dropped dead.

Jurado was the leader of the minority bloc which has continually opposed ratification of the general claims conventions between the United States and Mexico. He was the most ardent opponent of the conventions, and was generally spokesman for the minority parties.

The assassination followed the first indication of a break in the ranks of the Senate minority bloc which has been opposing ratification of the claims conventions.

The minority faction issued a statement which said that it would reconsider its action in the general claims matter if this was presented to the Senate in more detail so that its discussion could be facilitated during the present extraordinary sessions. Up to the present the members of the opposing bloc had delayed a vote on the claims conventions by absenting themselves from the Senate, thus making it impossible to obtain a quorum.

Spokesmen for the minority faction also stated that the public has been led to believe their opposition has been due to political reasons. They declared that this was not the case, their actions having been inspired only by patriotic considerations because they considered certain clauses in the conventions to be unfavorable to Mexico.

WARSHIP SALE BANNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Sale to the government of Mexico by American citizens of vessels intended to be added as fighting craft to the Mexican navy would be in spirit, if not in letter, a violation of the conception of the treaty obligations of the United States, in the view of administration officials.

This attitude is understood to have been made clear to the Mexico City government and is expected to result in the dropping of negotiations with private American shipowners for the purchase of vessels which the Mexican government intended to use against rebel gunboats.

The original desire of the Obregon government was to purchase from the government of the United States not only army equipment but several light naval craft of gunboat or destroyer type. The Washington naval limitation treaty, however, specifically forbids the signatory powers to dispose of any warcraft in any manner which will permit them to become part of the naval forces of any country.

REBELS HAD WARNING

Several elements in the Mexican situation moved toward adjustment today, Consul Wood at Vera Cruz not only reporting to the State Department that the Tampico blockade had been lifted but that orders for the removal of all mines and obstructions from the ports of Frontera, Puerto Mexico and Vera Cruz had been issued by the revolutionary authorities at Vera Cruz.

At the same time the two claims conventions with the Obregon government, the basis of which the

Revolt Branded as Effort to Seize Presidency of Republic by Force

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The policy of the Coolidge administration in dealing with the Mexican revolutionary movement was described by Secretary Hughes in an address here tonight as "the greatest contribution directly within our power, and in accord with our established traditions and manifest interest to the cause of world peace."

"This hemisphere should be the exemplar of peace," Mr. Hughes said, "and we look with confidence to the creation of a unity of sentiment of the American republics against resort to the brutal arbitrament of force in political controversies. To this end the United States gladly gives its co-operation."

Speaking under the title "Recent Questions and Negotiations" before a meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations, Mr. Hughes also outlined the purposes of the liquor treaty with Great Britain, signed today in Washington, and explained why the administration considered it necessary to give up extraterritorial rights in negotiating the new treaty with Turkey.

The Secretary's discussion of Mexico was prefaced by a recital of the steps that led up to the signing of the two claims conventions by which the Obregon government was accorded diplomatic recognition.

REBEL PURPOSE PLAIN

"After this happy result had been achieved," he continued, "as we were looking forward to a period of quiet and to opportunities of advantage to both peoples, suddenly there was an attempt to overthrow the established government of Mexico by violence. It is plain that the purpose of those engaged in this enterprise of arms is simply to determine by forcible measures the successor to President Obregon.

BRITISH RUM PACT SIGNED

Suspected Smuggling Craft Liable to Search and Seizure if Caught by Dry Agents

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The double-barreled liquor treaty with Great Britain was signed today by Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Geddes, to become effective when ratifications are exchanged. By tacit agreement, however, the two governments are expected to give the pact some measure of immediate application in dealing with rum smuggling and ship liquor matters which may arise before ratification is completed.

Under the treaty suspected liquor smuggling craft under the British flag would be liable to search and sizure if intercepted anywhere within an hour's sailing distance of shore, the speed of the suspected vessel being the measure of distance. In return for this aid in prohibition enforcement the United States would grant to British ships the right to carry sealed stores of ship liquors within American waters anywhere on the same terms that such liquors now pass through the Panama Canal. The treaty is to run for one year at the end of which period it can be terminated on three months' notice.

PROVIDES PROTECTION

A summary of the treaty made public at the State Department shows a provision not previously disclosed under which British vessels improperly detained or searched would be compensated for any loss or damage resulting. Such cases would be referred to a joint commission for adjudication and award.

Signing of the treaty, which officials hope will pave the way for breaking up the rum fleets off the American coasts, and also eliminate causes of irritation between the two countries with respect to ship liquor matters and the seizure of British suspected craft, was the last official act of Ambassador Geddes. He called afterward at the White House to present his letters of recall, and with the excep-

FULFILLS PLEA OF FARM BOARD

Federation Sees Concession in Coolidge Note

Urged Aid for Growers as Well as Creditors

Importance Attached to Vote on Wallace Plan

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 23. — President Coolidge's message to Congress today relative to loans for relief of farmers was declared at the headquarters of the American Farm Bureau Federation tonight to be in harmony with recommendations telegraphed to the President by the executive committee of the federation. The recommendations were said to have been telegraphed last night, and were as follows:

"In approving the Norbeck-Burtness bill (providing loans through a revolving fund of $50,000,000 for the refinancing of agriculture where needed, as in the Northwest) we desire it to be so amended that the other groups such as the present creditors, transportation systems, and other local business interests, be required to join and share in the responsibilities with the farmers in order to secure the benefits offered by the bill."

NOT ALONE FOR CREDITORS

The bill referred to provides for the lending of monies to assist farmers in conversion of their farms on the basis of diversified farming. President Coolidge, in indorsing such measures, urged that arrangements be made to the end "that the loans will insure to the benefit of the farmer himself instead of merely to the benefit of his creditors."

The recommendation above and other resolutions bearing on legislative matters were adopted by the committee following a report made in person by Gray Silver, Washington representative of the federation.

Outstanding importance is attacked by agricultural spokesmen here to the resolution adopted by the committee indorsing the Wallace plan for a $2,000,000 exporting corporation designed to handle surplus products through foreign trade.

SEEK REPRESENTATION

A resolution adopted today by the committee declaring that the federation was constantly seeking the appointment of "farmer-minded members" of Federal boards and commissions opens upon the heels of a move made by the administration of the federation, through its department of information, to launch a publicity drive against the Pittsburg plan.

It was pointed out at federation headquarters that the federation also is interesting itself actively in appointments to the United States Shipping Board. It is known that Silver believes the salvation of the American farmer lies in large measure in the restoration of trade with Europe, and it is understood the interest of the federation in the shipping Board is related to that end. The indorsement of the Wallace exporting plan is regarded as indicating that at least to a considerable extent Silver had carried his point with the committee.

The Wallace plan as embodied in the McNary-Haugen bill is seen as a significant victory of the Silver program of farmer relief through foreign trade.

COOLIDGE ACTS IN MONEY CRISIS

and announced that he had directed Secretaries Hoover and Wallace and Managing Director Meyer of the War Finance Corporation, to confer with representatives of these interests to bring about refunding of farmers' indebtedness. Indications were given at the Commerce and Agriculture departments and the finance corporation that such conferences shortly would be held.

Reading of the President's message in the Senate and House brought no immediate reaction except a declaration from Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, that he had pointed out six months ago the coming of such a situation as now existed.

Administration leaders, however, expressed the view that the message would hasten action on agricultural legislation.

FARMERS IN PERIL

Calling attention to the mention he made of the situation in the Northwest in his message to Congress in December, the President continued:

"Great numbers of individual farmers are so involved in debt, both on mortgages and to merchants and banks, that they are unable to preserve the equity of their property. They are unable to undertake the diversification of farming that is fundamentally necessary for sound agricultural reconstruction of the area. They are unable to meet their obligations and there has been involved the entire mercantile and banking fabric of these regions.

"Not only have there been large numbers of foreclosures on actual farms, but there are great numbers of farmers who are continuing in possession on sufferance from their creditors.

"There has been large and increasing bank failures. Bills have been introduced providing for this lending by the Federal government of moneys directly to farmers for purposes of assisting them in conversion of their farms on the basis of diversified farming. I am heartily in favor of these bills, but they do not and will not compass the entire problem.

"Many of the farmers are, however, in such jeopardy from their creditors that even with this assistance there is no assurance that they would have sufficient period in which to work out the necessary conversion of their methods and it would be useless to give to this group such governmental assistance if it is to be only for purposes of immediate seizure by the creditors.

FUNDING OF DEBTS

"Such legislation, therefore, will be of little avail unless arrangements have been effected between the farmer and his creditors, by the funding of past due indebtedness and interest, or by similar means, so that the loans will inure to the benefit of the farmer himself, instead of merely to the benefit of his creditors. If such arrangements can be made, the farmer can be given the opportunity to work his way out of the present difficulties. If they are not made, it is difficult to see how he can benefit from the plan. In addition to legislation of this character, coupled with the agreements which I have mentioned looking to the refunding of past due indebtedness, it is necessary to consider whether any steps can be taken to bring financial help to certain limited areas of the Northwest in which embarrassment and failures among country banks have added to the hardships of the farmers.

"The War Finance Corporation is still functioning, but its authority to make new loans expires March 31 of this year. I recommend that Congress extend until December 31, 1924, the time during which loans can be made by the corporation and grant some extension of the period for which loans heretofore made can be renewed.

"It appears to me that it is essential that the large business concerns, such as transportation, the more stable banks, not only in this territory, but in adjoining States, should, in their own interests, extend a very large measure of aid in remedy of this situation, and that creditors even further afield, such as our insurance companies and others, should co-operate fully.

"In these agricultural sections in which numerous bank failures have contributed to the distressful conditions, it must recognized, however, that there is a distinct limit to the scope of the assistance which the Federal government can render. Government agencies cannot properly make loans upon insecure collateral or to banking institutions whose capital is impaired. In certain sections a more drastic remedy may be necessary. It may necessary, on a well-organized extensive scale to provide systematically for the restoration of strengthening of the capital resources of the country banks and financing institutions necessary to proper service of the farmer.

GOVERNMENT HANDS TIED

"It may be found to be advisable to create new financing institutions, such as have been organized with great success in the live-stock territory to co-operate with the War Finance Corporation. The government cannot supply banking capital, nor can it organize loan companies, but it can properly call on those large business concerns the railroads, the mercantile establishments, the agricultural supply houses and all those large business establishments whose welfare is immediately connected with the welfare of the farmer. It can ask them, in their own interest, as well as in the interest of the country, to co-operate with Federal agencies in attacking the problem in a large way.

"I have, therefore, directed the Secretaries of Commerce and Agriculture and the managing director of the War Finance Corporation to confer with representatives of the interested groups to devise a practical plan of action."

TO ESTABLISH BRANCH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SIOUX FALLS (S. D.) Jan. 23.—After a conference with bankers here today Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, announced tonight that the corporation would establish immediately a branch agency in Sioux Falls in order to bring its resources and assistance in closer contact with the South Dakota bank situation, which has become critical due to numerous failures.

HUGHES PRAISES MEXICAN POLICY

by the aspirations of an oppressed people; it is a matter of personal politics. It is an effort to seize the Presidency; it means a subversion of all constitutional and orderly procedure."

Mr. Hughes then touched on the request of the Mexican government to purchase arms and ammunition from the United States. To refuse, he said would have been to turn a cold shoulder to the government recently restored to friendly relations and "would in fact have given powerful encouragement to those who were attempting to seize the reins of government by force."

By that course, he said, the Washington government would have "incurred a grave responsibility for consequent disturbances" whereas granting the request for arms involved "no question of intervention, no invasion of the sovereignty of Mexico."

Referring to the question of the constitutionality of the new Bucareli treaty with Great Britain, the Secretary said the administration had no intention to violate constitutional provisions.

"The purpose is to facilitate their enforcement," he said. "I know there are some who have expressed doubt whether such an international agreement can be made under our Constitution. This doubt I do not entertain."

In negotiating the treaty with Turkey, he continued, the United States was faced with the necessity of giving up the long standing "capitulations" or else having no treaty at all and no protection for American interests in that country.

NO BARTER OF RIGHTS

"In these circumstances," he said, "the only practicable course was to negotiate a treaty as with a fully sovereign state. If such a treaty falls short of expectations, especially in that it acquiesces in the abrogation of the capitulations, it should not be forgotten that the only way to maintain the capitulations was to fight for them.

"At no stage in the negotiations was the American position determined by the so-called Chester concession. This had been granted before negotiations of our treaty with Turkey had been begun. This government took no part in securing it; this government made no barter of any of its rights for this or any other concession."

Mr. Hughes also touched briefly on the status of negotiations respecting mandated territories, the unofficial American financial commission to Persia, and the recognition of the Egyptian government. With relation to Greece, he said, the situation there had now "materially changed" and it was hoped the elections held in December would result in establishment "of a government which will enable this government to extend formal recognition."

Theodore Roosevelt

AS TOLD IN THE PRIVATE LETTERS OF

Maj. Archie Butt,

Aide and Intimate of "T. R."

Copyright, 1924, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
June 30, 1908.

My Dear Mother:

The President and his family left Washington this morning, and I am now ready to take up the matter of summer trips. He left at 9 o'clock, and that meant getting up early and donning a uniform in order to reach the station before him. We had played six sets of tennis yesterday afternoon at the White House, and I would have liked to have slept late this morning, especially as I had been out late to a dinner the night before.

The President and I played against McCoy and Fitz Lee, and I am glad to say we were the victors. It was even playing throughout and four of the sets were love sets. After the game Ethel served iced tea and cakes to us and my, how refreshing! I took occasion to give Clark Howell's love to Mr. Roosevelt and to repeat what he had written to me about him. He was much pleased and said that nothing touched him more deeply than the affection and confidence he received from all parts of the South. He said that John Temple Graves and others were insistent on his making the race again, and was much interested when I told him that John Temple was a kinsman and repeated your old story about him and the mercy and the glory of the Lord. He said that it sounded like John Temple might have said it only last week.

FAMILY DEPARTS

We all went down to see him off this morning, and the members of the Cabinet were there and also Mrs. Taft. She asked after you and seemed glad to know you were coming to Washington.

It is rather a problem as to how they are going to live this summer and pay campaign expenses. For the present they are going to their brother's house in Ohio, and I presume he will simply have to support them while the Secretary is campaigning, for they have nothing, the Secretary having lived up his salary, and he has nothing else. He has kept up some life insurance, but that is all he has to show after his years of public service. The question which he faces now is how he is going to meet his expenses during the campaign. Of course the cities where he speaks will meet all reasonable expense, but there are so many incidental expenses, and he says he sees only hard times for months to come. But isn't it fine to see our public men in this position? The old school of politicians would have doubted his sincerity had he told them of his actual financial condition.

RETIREMENT PLANNED

The Secretary of State intends to retire to private life on the 4th of March, but if Mr. Taft is elected and asks him to remain at the head of his Cabinet, I do not see how he can very well refuse. He cannot urge the necessity of laying aside money, for he is very wealthy now. Gov. Wright comes in at the head of the War Department on July 1, and the Army is expecting great things from him. Certainly Secretary Taft has given little attention to the Army for the last two years; indeed, as spokesman for the administration, it is not seen how he very well could.

Your affectionate son,
ARCHIE.

WASHINGTON, D. C.,
June 22, 1908.

My Darling Mother:

You have got somewhat mixed up on the two favorite short poems of the President. The first was the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

I have found the second poem which he likes so much, and which is from Scott. It is "Elspeth's Ballads," written in 1816, and appears in The Antiquary. The first stanza begins with "The herring loves the merry moonlight," but this is not the real beginning, for the poem proper begins at the second stanza:

"Now haud your tongue, baith wife
And I will sing of Glenallan's and earle,
And listen great and sma',
Earl,
That fought on the Red Harlaw."

OPINION DIVIDED

I confess that I do not think a lot of it, as the President does. It has a lot of action in it, and when repeated by him seems to possess tremendous vigor, but I could name a dozen short poems which I think are equally vigorous and possessing finer poetic qualities.

Some new problem (social) is always coming up, however. For instance, at the dinners to the Governors, when William Jennings Bryan was present, we were in a quandary where to seat him. No such complication had ever arisen before. The Speaker and Chief Justice and other justices and certain Senators were also there. Usually when the Speaker is invited to dinner the Chief Justice is not, as both claim precedence. So McCoy and I took the matter up, and after a conference with the President and the Secretary of State, Mr. Root, it was decided to settle this matter once for all by putting the Chief Justice on the right of the President and the Speaker on the left, thus, of course, giving the place of honor to the Chief Justice.

CANNON SULKY

Cannon appeared to be rather sulky the entire evening, and I noticed that when he left the White House that night he did so without saying good-by to the President.

In the matter of Mr. Bryan, the question was not so easily settled. The others thought that as he had no official position he should sit after the Governors, but I took exception to this, as I felt sure that the President would want to pay some signal attention to the Democratic leader. So finally we took the matter to the President, and he said offhand that Mr. Bryan must sit next to him, but to this Secretary Root and others declaimed, and so the President finally compromised by putting him next to the Supreme Court and ahead of all Senators and Governors. But if the President had had his way he would have smashed all form and seated the "Peerless One" next to himself. As it was, he talked with him the entire evening so as to even up the honors. The Governors were seated according to the dates on which the States entered the Union. But no more. Good-by. Affectionately.

[Signed] ARCHIE.

Capt. Butt to Col. William M. Black, Engineers' Corps, Havana, Cuba:

WASHINGTON, D. C.
About end of June, 1908.

My dear Col. Black:

Col. Edwards tells a very good story apropos of Symons which illustrates some of the funny incidents which can and do occur at the White House. It is worth repeating to you as an engineer, especially as it is in line with some of our talk on the same subject before.

GROUNDS LOANED

He said he went with Secretary Taft one afternoon late to keep an appointment with the President. It was the summer time, when the family were away somewhere, and grounds were being loaned once or twice a week for the sick or other charities. That as he and the Secretary entered they heard the greatest racket on the grounds, and inquiry developed the fact that Col. Symons had loaned the grounds to the Society for Fallen Women. Just at that moment the President entered. He had not seen them before, and hearing the noise he went to the window, where as Edwards described, large yellow-haired women were rolling up and down the lawn pulling at each other's bleedine wigs and pink ribbons and making an awful racket.

"In Heaven's name, what is this going on?" he asked.

By that time the Secretary was convulsed with laughter and between gasps he explained:

PRESIDENT ANGRY

"Only Symons has loaned the White House to the Society for the Rescue of Fallen Women, Mr. President. Come to this window and watch them fall. They are falling in great numbers here. Watch that last one fall"—as a 200-pounder rolled down the hill.

"Where are the rescuers?" yelled the President.

"Falling too, no doubt," laughed the Secretary.

"Well, let's send for Symons then," said the President, and a messenger was dispatched for the officer in charge of Public Buildings and Grounds. Before the conference ended Symons came in and the President, red with anger, demanded of him what he meant by turning the White House into such a pandemonium.

"Aren't we near enough to the fallen district without having it moved into the grounds?"

Poor Symons was very much flustered, but replied as best he could:

"Knowing how charitably inclined both you and Mrs. Roosevelt are, Mr. President, I loaned the grounds to the Society for Fallen Women, thinking it a charity which you wanted to encourage."

HUMOR SEEN

"Encourage not to fall, Symons, but here we are encouraging them to fall. I never knew it was possible for so many large and ugly women to fall as rapidly as they are doing out there. Rescue them, Symons, before it goes too far. See if you can save that one who is about to fall over there. Tell them, if they must fall, to fall nearer the fence and not so close to the office. Go and help to rescue them, Symons"—and the crestfallen officer made a dash out of the side door to find Charlotte Walker, the main rescuer, who had them in charge.

By this time the President saw the humor and as Symons left the office he was joining the Secretary in bursts of laughter. Edwards thinks that this scene was the straw which was thrown into the scales which finally brought about the appointment of Col. Marshall as Chief Engineer instead of Col. Symons, who everybody thought had the post nailed down. . . .

With best wishes, most sincerely your friend.

A. M. BUTT.

HONOLULU EXPERT ON FOOD HERE

A. H. Ford Making Long Tour to Study Problem of Conservation

Alexander Hume Ford, internationally known food expert, arrived from Honolulu yesterday on the liner Calawaii. He is president of the Pan-Pacific Congress, which next spring will convene in Honolulu for the study of the food conservation problems of the world.

Mr. Ford's mission out of Hawaii is to outline the Pan-Pacific program by personal interview with the leading conservationists of America and he will start from Los Angeles a trip that will take him through Canada, the Eastern United States, Mexico and Central America. Yesterday he was the guest of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Approximately 200 island travelers and tourists arrived yesterday on the Calawaii, among them being F. B. Silverwood, prominent clothing man and also the composer of "I Love You, California." Mr. Silverwood, met at the dock by a delegation of local Shriners, told them he felt sincerely the theme of the famous ballad.

SEEKS LETTERS ON ESTATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 23.—James P. Lavin, attorney, has asked for letters of administration on the estate of Thomas P. Drennan, former secretary of the Democratic State Committee. The heirs are the widow, who lives in Los Angeles, and a daughter. Shares in a gypsum mining company constitute the main part of the estate.

TO CARRY MONEY PROBE TO BERLIN

Experts Examine Bergmann and Schacht

German Gold Bank Program of Dawes Favored

International Committeemen Work in Harmony

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The second committee of experts investigating Germany's financial and economic situation today had before it Karl Bergmann, former undersecretary of the German Treasury, who answered questions with regard to the expertation of capital from Germany.

This committee, which is headed by Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of the British Exchequer, announced in an official communique at the end of the day's session that it purposed to go to Berlin soon to continue its investigations in the German capital. The communication said:

"The committee on evasion of capital has made a close preliminary survey of the problems submitted for its examination and interviewed Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, and Karl Bergmann on the general lines on which a practical investigation can be pursued in Germany. It will meet again in Berlin on Thursday, January 31.

TO PREPARE STATISTICS

"Meantime it will be necessary for the secretariat of the committee, working in Paris, to prepare a considerable amount of statistical information which the committee feels will be necessary for further pursuit of its labors."

The first committee headed by Brig. Gen. Dawes, now engaged today in further consideration of plans for the formation of a gold bank in Germany.

The essential features for the German gold bank designed by the experts have been taken from a plan proposed by Gen. Dawes and Owen D. Young, the American unofficial representatives. The plan is to draw into the service of the new bank, gold or the equivalent in foreign monies, now in Germany, and also a portion of the German deposits abroad. Dr. Schacht, it is understood, estimates the value of foreign currencies now in private hands in Germany at 1,000,000,000 gold marks.

The purpose of the committee of experts is to mobilize these nonproducing monies into the public service and to induce German funds outside the country to return, by offering them adequate guarantees for the safety of the capital and profitable dividends. The method of winning this capital to the bank will take the form of issuing bearer shares, probably by banks abroad or under conditions at home by which no disclosure of ownership would be possible.

ANONYMITY OF CAPITAL

Anonymity of capital would be fully respected and safeguarded.

A certain proportion of the capital would be subscribed abroad, sufficient to add to the confidence and give a measure of control. One of the great advantages of the plan is considered to be the fact that Dr. Schacht himself favors it. In fact, the president of the Reichsbank suggested some of the more important parts of it. Hence it is considered that the plan will not be regarded as having been imposed on Germany by foreign pressure, as it already has German official countenance.

The members of the committee have arrived at what is regarded by the observers in contact with them as a point of remarkable solidarity, as the French, British, American, Italian and Belgian, and even the German, delegates are working in singular harmony.

SENATOR SLAIN IN MEXICO CITY

United States accorded diplomatic recognition, were ratified by the United tates Senate with little debate.

It is known that agents of the Mexican government have seached the harbors of the United States for privately-owned vessels suitable for their naval purposes. Inquiries from the owners of the ships which the Obregon government has sought to buy have been received by the Washington government asking that it indicate its attitude relative to such sales.

Included in the available craft now privately owned are numerous old destroyers, gunboats and cruisers stricken from the United States Navy lists within the last few years and sold at auction, most of them to be junked, but a few to be converted in various ways or to be kept substantially as they were when taken over from the Navy Department. Many were in a condition when sold to be exactly what the Mexican government now needs.

NO LEGAL BAR

Most of the sales were made in 1919 and 1920, before the Washington called the Arms Conference being used as war-craft by other exists to their sale to Mexico, although naval vessels which have been sold since President Harding called the arms conference have been disposed of under the stipulation that they must not be transferred without the sanction of the Washington government in any way that would permit their being used as a war-craft by other countries.

If the Washington government in response to an inquiry sent immediately to Consul Wood, is informed that the lifting of the Tampico blockade is permanent, American warcraft will be withdrawn from the vicinity of that port. In revolutionary headquarters circles here it was learned that the rebel leaders had in mind rather a change in form than abandonment of their blockade plan. Orders to the rebel gunboats, it was said, would be to warn merchant vessels that they would pass at their own risk between the war vessels and the shore targets of bombardments by ship guns.

State Department officials have emphasized at every opportunity, however, that since belligerency of the rebel faction was not recognized by the United States, no rebel interference with legitimate American commerce could or would be tolerated.

REBEL FORCES SPLIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23.—The military situation on the western front is completely changed, according to government quarters, the rebel forces having split into several columns which are being rapidly mobilized against ungarrisoned towns, fleeing before the approach of the Federals and refusing to give battle. Unable to carry out enveloping maneuvers against the government forces advancing on Guadalajara, the revolutionists at present are said to be spreading over the State of Michoacan and endeavoring to prolong the situation indefinitely by destroying considerable stretches of railway to hinder the Federal pursuit.

The rebel leaders, Rafael Buelna and Manuel Diegues, abandoned Salvatierra when forces under Gen. Gonzalo Escobar arrived from Celaya. The rebels are declared to have forced a loan of 25,000 pesos from the residents of Salvatierra and greatly damaged the railway before withdrawing toward Acambaro, where the main rebel concentration is taking place.

Gen. Escobar is actively engaged in repairing the railway and is expected to reach Acambaro shortly. President Obregon has arrived at Celaya, from where he will direct the campaign. Simultaneous attacks have been ordered against the various rebel columns in an effort to exterminate them quickly and there is no intention now to recapture Guadalajara until the rebels are severely punished.

GEN SANCHES NEAR DEATH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LAREDO (Tex.) Jan. 23.—Guadalupe Sanchez, one of the foremost revolutionary generals of Mexico, was probably mortally wounded in a personal encounter with Lieut. Ponciano Carranza, his aide, according to information which the Mexican Consulate here today announced it had received.

The two officers had been drinking, and quarreled, the report stated. Sanchez was taken to Orizaba for treatment, it added.

HONOLULU TELEPHONE SERVICE GROWING NOW

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU, Jan. 23.—An expenditure of approximately $235,000 in extensions and improvements of its telephone system this year is planned by the Mutual Telephone Company, Ltd., of Honolulu. Included in the proposed work is the laying of six miles of additional underground conduits. At this time the company has forty-nine miles of conduits containing 23,440 miles of telephone wires. The company has an authorized capital stock of $2,500,000, with $1,500,000 issued. It has outstanding bonds to the amount of $490,700. E. P. Bishop is president and F. G. Hummel general manager.

GROVE AND HOME SOLD

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

COVINA, Jan. 23.—The ten-acre orange grove and residence at corner of Puente street and Azusa avenue has been sold by Miss Georgena Anderson, William and Irving Anderson of this place and Dr. James Anderson of Fort Worth, Tex., heirs of the late George Anderson, to E. J. Sumerhays for $25,000 cash. Mr. Sumerhays, who with his family has recently come from Chicago and who is living temporarily in Hollywood, has purchased the property for a home and will make extensive improvements. During the coming month Miss Anderson, William and Irving Anderson will move to Los Angeles.

BODY OF LENIN LIES IN STATE

ment of respect for the dead than of curiosity.

From early morning, when lines of soldiers with fixed bayonets, and hordes of policemen established a cordon along the streets, through which the body of Lenin was to pass on its way from the railway station to the House of Unions, the crowds waited in the snowy, zero weather behind these human barriers, formed to keep the thoroughfares clear.

This evening after the government leaders, the heads of the trades unions and others who made up a chosen party, had a chance to see the face of the dead, the great crowd waiting outside the building was permitted to enter.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon notwithstanding the extreme cold, lines eight persons abreast were standing a half-mile long, on each side of the House of Unions and were growing in extent hourly.

The police had planned to admit the crowd at 7 o'clock this evening, but owing to the great press the doors were thrown open at 5 o'clock.

PASS BY CATAFALQUE

Silently and in orderly fashion, the people passed by the catafalque, each person obtaining a momentary glance at the face of the Premier. Lenin was dressed in a gray-brown suit. His wax-like face bore few marks to indicate the suffering through which he had passed.

Soldiers lined the hall where the casket lay tonight.

The guard of honor about the casket was changed every ten minutes. This guard is composed of commissars, labor leaders and members of the executive committee of the Third Internationale. They will keep the vigil over the dead until the hour of burial. The commissars include such men as George Tchitcherin, the Foreign Minister. It is expected that the body will be exposed to the view of the people until Saturday morning when the funeral takes place.

PEASANTS PAY TRIBUTE

The tribute to Lenin started early this morning when the peasants of the village of Gorky, where the Premier died, gathered about the gates and doffed their hats as the body was brought out and carried on the shoulders of comrades to the railway station. It continued as the train slowly made its way over the twenty-mile route into Moscow and while the casket was being conveyed on the shoulders of his followers from the station to the House of Unions.

From Gorky to Moscow, the people stood along the railway line with heads bared, notwithstanding the bitter wintry weather.

In Moscow the national flags of nations which have recognized the soviet government, or have established relations with it, hung at half-mast over embassies, legations and the headquarters of missions. Throughout the city perfect order marked the day and there was a marked lack of excitement.

$1600 an acre from Bartlett Pears

Los Angeles, Calif., January 19, 1924.

I bought 15 acres in Mountain View Farms. I will plant more cherries and some other deciduous fruits. We intend to build and move onto our land very soon. I have never seen better land. It is nice and level, on main line railroad and State Highway near a growing town.

I have lived in Los Angeles 13 years and have traveled over most of this country. I have never seen any project which seems to have a better future. I had no intention of buying when I went to see your land, but it looked too good for me not to buy. I can advise all my friends to buy some of your land. One can buy for a home or investment. We saw lots of fine orchards in the district, some cared for by the owners and some by neighbors. All orchards looked very fine. I believe this land will increase to $1000 or more an acre in 18 months. It is way underpriced now. Pear orchards are selling up to $1400 an acre in this district, and the expense of growing them is much lower than oranges and most other fruit.

WOOD TALKS ON INDEPENDENCE

Tells Filipinos Desire is Creditable

Aguinaldo Also Addresses Veterans' Gathering

Occasion Celebration of Republic Proclamation

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MANILA, Jan. 23.—Addressing Filipino veterans and several thousand participants in the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the proclamation of the "Philippine Republic," Gov.-Gen. Leonard Wood declared that the desire for independence by the Filipino people is "natural and creditable."

"All should co-operate in establishing conditions precedent to independence," he said.

Emilio Aguinaldo, former revolutionary leader and erstwhile president of the short-lived republic, read the proclamation which established it "amid the chaotic conditions which prevailed following the battle of Manila Bay." He declared that whatever had been or might be done for the veterans could not be too much.

Music for the occasion was provided by the Philippine Constabulary Band, which played America and Philippine national airs.

Senator Sergio Osmena expressed the hope that "we will attain in peace, under the auspices of the United States, what we did not through war and bloodshed."

UNVEILS CORNER-STONE

Aguinaldo unveiled the cornerstone of a monument erected to perpetuate the history of the establishment of the Philippine republic.

Among those who attended the celebration were a number of American veterans of the Philippine insurrection.

The celebration was held at Malolos, about thirty miles north of here, in the Province of Bulacan, which served as the capital of the erstwhile republic. A school holiday was declared, and railroads made excursion rates to the celebration from all points.

The Governor-General and Aguinaldo motored to Malolos together, Manuel Quezon, president of the Senate, Senator Osmena and other government officials attended the exercises. Three universities and various colleges of Manila sent cadet regiments in addition to large student delegations. A parade was reviewed by Aguinaldo.

WOMAN LEADER FOR PEACE

Marie Bernarda Balitaan, a Filipino woman, who says she is the leader of the Colorums, reputed religious fanatics who recently killed nineteen constabularly soldiers in outbreaks on Bucas Island, Surigao Province, has declared that her followers want peace and order and whenever trouble comes that they will always work with the champions of peace.

"We are constantly beset by enemies," she is quoted as saying, "all sorts of stories have been fabricated against me and my followers. We want justice in the islands and our order and church will always endeavor to preserve peace."

TELLER OF BANK FROM MISSOURI

Pasadena Chief of Police Had to "Show" Him to Cash Check

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

PASADENA, Jan. 23.—Bank tellers of Pasadena have gotten to be very suspicious individuals because of the number of check passers working hereabouts so it was not surprising that one of them politely declined to cash a check for a man who was a stranger to him until he had been identified. The man endeavoring to get the money on the $5 check chanced to see City Attorney Riccardi approaching and after a whispered conference the two approached the teller.

"Shake hands with Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley," said the attorney. "I know him. He's all right." And the Chief got his money. Such is fame.

DOHENY TO TELL ABOUT OIL DEAL

to the effect that Secretary of the Navy Denby was to resign from the Cabinet of President Coolidge if the Senate or Congress adopted a resolution repudiating the leasing of the naval oil reserves because of the implied reflection on his official conduct. Denial was entered of any such intention on his part. The rumor appeared to have originated in Democratic quarters at the Capitol. It was illustrative of the tenseness in political circles here over the situation.

HOLDS LEASES VOID

Senator Walsh, opposing action on the Caraway resolution until the Committee on Public Lands should have had opportunity to report on its investigation, declared in the Senate that "without any regard whatever to the evidence which would indicate that there was corruption or fraud, the leases are utterly void for want of power or for want of exercise of undeveloped power on the part of officers of the government who purported to execute the lease."

"Through some three or four months of laborious and painstaking investigation, facts concerning the execution of these leases have been developed," said Mr. Walsh, who bears the reputation in the West as one of the greatest authorities on mining law and all questions affecting the public domain. "They reveal an astonishing, not to say alarming, condition of affairs. They disclose that our great reserves, set aside in 1909, although formally certified as naval reserves later and cared for by three successive Presidents of the United States—Taft, Roosevelt and Wilson—are entirely gone."

SMALL SHARE FOR NAVY

The Senator from Montana declared furthermore that although the Navy would get at best not more than 6 per cent of the oil from these reserves under private exploitation, Mr. Doheny, who is to appear again tomorrow has stated he expected to make $100,000,000.

"These leases," Mr. Walsh said, "were let without any competitive bidding, the utmost secrecy being preserved with reference to the execution of both of them (the Doheny lease in California and the Teapot Dome lease to Sinclair.)"

All manner of speculation was rife tonight as to the reasons actuating the "voluntary appearance" of Doheny before the Senate committee tomorrow. There had been no intention of holding a session until Friday when Fall will appear under what Washington expects to be highly sensational circumstances—a former Senator and an ex-Cabinet minister under the shadow of official wrongdoing.

DOHENY FRIEND OF FALL

Doheny is known to have been a close personal friend of Fall's for many years. They began life in the same mining camp; studied law at the same Western college and began practice in the same section of the country yet the story persisted in Washington tonight that Doheny was going before the committee to "tell all he knew" about Fall leases." There seemed to be no doubt in the minds of Senate leaders that his testimony would be of a sensational nature.

There was a disposition to attach significance to the fact that Fall was rushing to Washington to appear in person after Doheny, who had been in conference in New Orleans with Fall and Col. J. W. Zevely, Sinclair's Washington attorney, had left the Crescent City for the National Capital.

Gavin McNab, prominent attorney and Democratic leader of San Francisco, has come to Washington with Doheny, whom he represents.

CAN'T STOP ACTION

Administration leaders in the Senate doubted their ability to restrain the agitation for Congressional action to annul the oil leases. They said the cloakrooms were in a fever of excitement in both houses. Members declared that regardless of whether the committee developed actual evidence of fraud or corruption the country was so persuaded of wrongdoing action was necessary. There is a great volume of speculation as to the probable political effect. Few can see how the details can reflect on the administration of President Coolidge.

Senator Caraway, weaving a chain of circumstantial evidence to support his contention of fraud and corruption in Fall's lease of the Teapot Dome reserve to Sinclair, declared "it was a fair inference that McLean never gave Fall any checks at all for $100,000" instead of their having been given and returned uncashed.

"I know and I think this Senate and the country knows," Caraway continued, "that when Fall said he had obtained $100,000 from McLean he knew that he never had done anything of the kind. I know and this Senate knows that when Mitchell Palmer, as McLean's attorney, said that McLean was the man who lent that $100,000 to Fall, he said something that was not true."

PRAISES ROOSEVELT

Praising Archie Roosevelt for his voluntary appearance before the Senate committee Senator Caraway placed special stress on Roosevelt's statement that G. D. Wahlburg, Sinclair's private secretary, had expressed a fear of being left alone to explain certain things before he feared he would be expected to lie about certain things.

"God bless his soul," Caraway added, "he lived up to their highest expectations. After telling Mr. Roosevelt of the $68,000 in canceled checks to Fall's ranch-foreman, Wahlburg had the idiocy to come down here and tell this committee he was talking about six or eight cows. It's a wonder he didn't try to say they were canceled cows. The cupidity and infamy of that are more shocking than the actual transaction."

DOHENY ON WAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.) Jan. 23.—"I don't own a penny's worth of interest in the Teapot Dome oil reserve properties—not a cent."

This was the declaration made here this afternoon by E. L. Doheny on board his private car "Patriot" en route to Washington.

"I am going to Washington to appear before the Senate committee investigating the matter. I shall submit a statement to the committee, but I shall not reveal that statement before I get there," he said. "I have not been summoned by the committee. I go voluntarily.

"Sinclair and I are rivals instead of being jointly interested," Mr. Doheny asserted. "I have nothing to say as to Mr. Sinclair's trip to Europe," he said.

FALL AND ZEVELY LEAVE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, and J. W. Zevely, personal friend and counsel for Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, left at 8:30 a.m. over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad for Washington to comply with subpoenas ordering them to appear before the Senatorial committee investigating the Teapot Dome oil lease.

Mr. Fall and Mr. Zevely made separate reservations for the trip.

"You can tell the newspapers that Mr. Zevely and I will occupy my drawing room, as I am too ill to travel alone," Mr. Fall told newspaper men.

An agent of the Department of Justice traveled on the same car.

Mr. Fall, who came here from Florida a week ago, declined to add to his previous statements that he had not received a penny from anyone in connection with the lease, declaring that he did not wish to say anything about the inquiry unless it was in an official way. He said he would make a full statement when he appeared before the committee.

Mr. Zevely is expected to be questioned concerning Liberty bonds and stock loans from Sinclair referred to in testimony of G. D. Wahlburg, private secretary to the oil magnate.

MINNEAPOLIS MAYOR WEDS WAR WORKER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Mayor George E. Leach of Minneapolis, formerly commanding officer of the One Hundred and Fifty-first Field Artillery, and Miss Anita M. Churcher, an overseas worker for the Y.M.C.A., whom he met in the occupied region of Germany after the armistice, were married yesterday in Marble Collegiate Church. They will sail Wednesday on the S.S. Pittsburg. Col. Leach is going to Switzerland to see the American Olympic ski team, of which he is manager, in competitions. Later he will inspect conditions in Germany for the relief committee on which Gen. Allen is head.

Col. Leach was divorced last July on the ground of desertion. Miss Churcher is a grand-daughter of Oscar Millard, a forty-niner. She has lived at La Jolla, a suburb of San Diego.

TELLS OF SPLIT IN COMMISSIONS

Testifies Anti-Saloon League Head Got $3875

Money Part of Wages Due Collector of Funds

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—William H. Anderson, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, gave written instructions for the recording on the organization's books of financial transactions, which form the basis of the forgery charge against him, a jury before Supreme Court Justice Tomkins was told today.

The testimony was offered by William M. Potter, former assistant treasurer and head bookkeeper of the League, who identified a note instructing him to make the transfer as having been signed by the League [illegible] in March, 1921. Potter further testified that Anderson had "paid himself," $3875 in checks which he had ordered drawn against the salary account of O. Bertsall Phillips, former head solicitor for the League, who accused Anderson of having compelled him to "split" his collection commissions in excess of $10,000 annually.

STATE CLOSES

Potter's sensational testimony from which he could not be shaken throughout a severe grilling by former Gov. Whitman, chief of Anderson's counsel, closed the State's case.

The defense will begin presentation of its case tomorrow morning.

Potter's direct testimony was largely in corroboration of statements made on the stand yesterday by Phillips. Whitman asked Potter if a money consideration had not induced him to dispose of his book store in Texas to return to New York to appear as a witness against Anderson. Potter replied in the negative.

Potter testified that he had remonstrated with Anderson at the time he directed him to make out two checks totaling $3875 against Phillips's salary in 1920, saying he suggested that the checks be drawn in the collector's name and indorsed over to Anderson by him.

Anderson refused, he said, and he complied.

Phillips previously had testified that these checks represented the 1920 commission "split" which Anderson had "paid to himself."

DEFENSE CONCEDES

Mr. Whitman conceded that the $3875 checks which Phillips had alleged Anderson had "paid to himself" had been deposited to the league head's account in a local bank.

Phillips, taking the stand this morning so that Whitman might complete his cross-examination, was asked if he desired to change his testimony of yesterday.

He replied with an explosive "No," and denied that he knew it was "criminal to split" his commissions with Anderson.

"I knew it was wrong," he explained, "but I had to do it to hold my job."

KURTZMANN
THE PIANO THAT ENDURES

There Is a Real Background to

Kurtzmann Pianos

It takes so much time, thought, skill and experience to build a truly fine piano, that no one can tell how many of these "ingredients" it contains simply by looking at the instrument.

That is why so many pianos are bought because they have a good name, and in that select class not one is held in higher repute than the Kurtzmann. The good name of the Kurtzmann has been acquired by three-quarters of a century of whole-souled piano building, where the goal was excellence rather than economy.

The Kurtzmann has an honored place in this store because we have examined every phase of its manufacture. We know that it is created with that painstaking, artisan spirit which is the only way to produce a musical instrument of artistic worth and assured endurance.

AMERICANS BUY QUEBEC LIQUOR

Best Customers in Purchase of Ardent Stuff

Province Residents Content With Cheap Wine

System Appears in Support of Temperance

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—Dry Americans are Quebec's best customers in the purchasing of hard liquors. They take the bulk of the ardent stuff where the profits are highest, while the local people go in most strongly for Wine, which they are able to get almost at cost price. Of the $3,500,000 profit made by the Quebec Liquor Commission last year it is estimated that more than 55 per cent was derived from purchasers form outside the Province. Dry Ontario stakes its thirst on Quebec grog at a neat profit, and the bootleggers and tourists from the United States absorb most of the highest priced stuffs.

The sales in the eighty-two government stores show the greatest buying is along the borders. Stores in the interior show comparatively low sales, which heightens the impression that the system of government control is promoting actual temperance. But in the border communities the stores do a land office business and most of the stuff travels outside for consumption.

BORDER SALES HIGH

Similarly in Montreal the government stores that do the greatest trade are those nearest the great hotels and the railroad stations where the traveler from outside can step in and buy his bottle. The store on Peel street for instance, across from the Mount Royal Hotel, is one of the most profitable to the government. In summer thousands of automobile tourists passing through load up at this point. All year through the Peel street shop has a thriving patronage from transients. They go in largely for the many-starred brands of Scotch and brandies at $4.50 to $4.90 the quart bottle, where the profit is greatest.

Wines can be purchased at what seems to be a ridiculously low price—as low as 45 cents a bottle, and in the highest priced hotel restaurants one can get a pint of good imported claret and burgundy for $1.25. In some of its stores the government is promoting the use of wine by displays of tables set for various meals and party occasions—somewhat like the furnished cottage displays in the department stores.

The psychology of prohibition seems simple enough. It appears nothing unusual for a traveler to leave Chicago and New York with his tongue hanging out and his imagination painting pictures of ice tinkling in tall glasses, only to have his thirst do a rapid fade-away when he hits Montreal where he can get all he wants. They start buying bottles the day they strike town, but most of them it would seem are for souvenirs for the loved ones at home. A portion of the tourists get saturated, others mildly exhilirated in their hotel rooms on their own bottles, but to hear them tell it here, most of the bottles bought by visitors in the Peel street store are taken back home.

Bootlegging inside the Province has vanished; speak-easies and blind pigs are no more; moonshining is unknown except in some remote sections; the drunkenness and crime rates have been greatly reduced; what liquor is consumed is now authentic where before it was a chance at blindness. Wine, beer and ale are growing and ardent spirits are diminishing as thirst quenchers—these are results of Quebec's liquor system that seem to protrude most prominently.

PROFIT APPRECIATED

Added to the increased sobriety is enhanced revenue—that $3,500,000 of profits is well appreciated by the Provincial government.

The commission estimated that it is selling liquor at prices 15 to 40 per cent cheaper than if the trade were privately controlled. Local option is not interfered with and neither is personal liberty and Quebec seems to be showing quite conclusively that while prohibition does not prohibit, government control and regulation can actually promote sobriety and temperance.

CONFERENCE HELD ON UNFINISHED HIGHWAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—A delegation of thirty men representing Tulare, Kings, Fresno and Monterey counties conferred with the State Highway Commission this afternoon in furtherance of the desires of the four counties for construction of an uncompleted portion of the Sierra-to-the-sea highway between Three Rivers, near Sequoia National Park, Tulare county, and San Lucas, Monterey county.

The delegation informed the highway commissioners that the four counties had agreed to expend $350,000 for grading and graveling the road, with the understanding that the highway commission later would take over the highway and maintain it.

Apparently in a receptive mood, the commission authorized the district engineers at Fresno and San Luis Obispo to go over the proposed road with the supervisors of the counties concerned and to send a detailed report of their findings to the State Highway Engineer. The report of the State Highway Engineer will be submitted to the highway commission for final action.

DAM WORK IS INJURED BY FLOODS

Rio Yaqui in Sonora Has Flow Twice That of Colorado at Maximum

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 23.—About a fortnight ago, the Rio Yaqui, in Southern Sonora, had a flood that approximated 250,000 second feet at its peak, or about twice the quantity of water carried by the Colorado River in its maximum periods of late years. This information comes from W. D. Code, whose firm, Quinton, Code & Hill of Los Angeles, is doing much of the engineering work for the Richardson Construction Company, which is throwing a weir diversion dam of the Laguna type across the Yaqui at a point sixty miles northeast of Guaymas. A trestle had been built across the stream and was assumed to have been destroyed, but only a third of the 1400 feet was found to have been washed away. There was estimate that the water at one time was moving at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

"It seems incredible that such a quantity of water could be carried by a stream in such a dry land," said Mr. Code. "The Yaqui watershed area can have no comparison with that of the Colorado, but, like the Colorado, the stream has its sources in a range of the highest mountains of the continent."

CORPORATIONS PAY WELL IN HONOLULU

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU, Jan. 23.—In a statement just issued by the Trent Trust Company, Ltd., of Honolulu it is shown that a total of $18,271,894 of dividends was paid by Hawaiian corporations whose stocks are listed on the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange during the year 1923. This has only been exceeded in 1920 when every listed corporation paid dividends to an aggregate total of $20,672,191.

Fourteen sugar plantation companies with aggregate outstanding capital of $43,930,000 paid total dividends of $7,425,600. Five others, with total capital of $12,150,000, paid no dividends.

Three sugar agencies with $21,500,000 capital paid $1,350,000; two pineapple companies $7,800,000 capital, paid $1,190,154, and six public utilities, $14,150,000 capital, paid $1,185,338.

WOBBLIES ACQUITTED BY COURT RULING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—Sam Obermun, Ed Higgins, and Edward McCray, alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World, who were charged with violating the California criminal syndicalism law, were acquitted tonight by a jury in Judge J. F. Pullen's court. Court officials said the jury's verdict was the result of the recent decision of the Third District Court of Appeals, which held that the prosecution must prove the defendants had knowledge of the character of the organization at the time they became members.

REPORTS ON TROUT PLACED IN STREAMS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—Approximately 12,500,000 young trout were planted in the streams of California in 1923, thus making last year the greatest in the history of the hatchery department of the State Fish and Game Commission, W. H. Shebley, in charge of the department of fish culture, announced today.

The Sealy mattress sanitary-tufte

For Forty Years In the Service of Perfect Sleep.

Like a Swirling Snow Storm

A SWIRLING storm of snowy cotton fibres, filling a room 2 stories high, settling gently into a soft, firmly-woven mass—a gigantic white "batt"—lying heaped beneath. This is the air-weaving process in the making of the Sealy Tufteless Mattress—the process which makes the Sealy different from every other mattress.

It is the process that has made it possible to make the Sealy without tufts—because when the mattress is finished the mass of cotton presses against the envelope evenly in every direction. It will not lump or mat, because perfect shape is its natural shape, to which it will always return.

Forty years ago the first Sealy Tufteless Mattress was made. Today thousands will use nothing but Sealys. Hundreds of hotels are equipped with Sealy Tufteless Mattresses exclusively,—and advertise the fact.

The person who has slept on a Sealy has learned a new comfort. Sleep on a Sealy, and you will answer the mattress question for good.

Handsomely fashioned, masterfully made, fresh, clean and sanitary.

The Sealy Tufteless Mattress, $55 to $125. Other Sealy Mattresses, $25 to $50. The name "Sealy" is on the covering. Accept no other.

HOPPE MOST DECISIVELY DEFEATS SCHAEFER IN TITLE BI

E CHAMPION RETAINS TITLE

Easily Disposes of John Schaefer, Jr.

Fails to Play Up to Standard

Perform Poorly at Different Times

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Willie still clings to that old title of his. He won it over on Jake Schaefer tonight with consummate ease, the final count being 1196 to 1196 for the three days' play. Only on several occasions tonight did the figures click close to or over the 100 mark. The work of champion and challenger at times was somewhat amateurish, for any time that Jake got ready to co-ordinate with his hands and brain, old Willie would shoot onto the spheres with his magic wand and tangle drew away.

Hoppe's performances in his last two matches stamp him as in a class by himself on the green baize, and it should be many moons before the 18-2 emblem passes from his masterful hands. He finished the three nights' play with an average of 37 42-54. His high run was 181.

Schaefer's average was 22 8-54 with a high run of 176. On the second and third nights' play, the latter had opportunity after opportunity to blossom forth into a star, but the mere fact that Hoppe's figure was always staring him in the face was a moral handicap that mantled his cleverness and unnerved his high-strung opponent.

LEFT COMFY

The balls left in a cozy position after a unfinished run of 181 by Hoppe ticked off a few times before saying "go to 'em." The brave was a safety when Schaefer failed to click but once in the balls. Both players then played for a few innings. Mediocrity followed for a spell with Schaefer's play often going from the disgruntled to the disgruntled.

Hoppe then took heart of grace and poked off 48, missing on something easy. Jake seldom did. He, left a ball for Willie, old dear, who was left 17 on the lower rail. Willie turned 'em up the side rail in front of the table, finally leaving a short draw when he left Willie simply would have to move up and look 'em over.

PINS STROKIN'

Schaefer found his stroke in the 11th, a spell of 40, tripping on a 181 run bank. At the end of the forty-third inning the score stood Schaefer 1281, Hoppe 1140. There was a gallery gasabo got when Hoppe put by a sudden guffaw, as neither the champ's medulla, nor the table revolved round the table several times stopped suddenly and seemed to kill—but missed. Ingleton, amid a barrage of laughter, said this time give as pretty an

OBSERVATIONS by the INNOCENT BYSTANDER

W. M. H.

Joe Stecher's threatened assault on the throne of Strangler Ed Lewis as heavyweight wrestling champion of the world is beginning to be interesting in view of Stecher's triumph over Stanislaus Zybzko at Omaha the other night. Any time that a wrestler heaves the big man from Poland on his ear he has class, for Stanislaus, who is not to be confused with Wladek, his brother, is one of the greatest wrestlers of all time, and has been able to bowl over just about everybody except Strangler Ed.

Stecher is one of the most interesting of all grapplers, as he is quiet all unassuming, and looks like a big kid from some college football team rather than a professional. When he was in Los Angeles several years ago, Stecher threw a couple of birds in jig time, and his famous body scissors hold at that time was causing more comment than the headlock of Strangler Lewis.

Stecher is a tall youngster with unusually long legs, and when working on an opponent keeps one leg cocked in the air as a constant threat of applying the deadly body scissors. At that time it was claimed that Stecher could break a sack of wheat by the pressure of his mighty legs, and after squeezing his opponents thoroughly for a few minutes he turned them over on their back with an arm or bar lock.

A lot of persons have an idea that Stecher is a good deal better wrestler than Strangler Lewis, but he seemed to lose interest in the game after the war and didn't do so well. His victory over Zbyszko was something of a surprise, and the next move will be a championship mess with the champion. It will probably take place before the threatened invasion of Southern California by the bone wrenchers.

So George Marks is at last to get a crack at the championship. The diminutive Los Angeles bantamweight has been fussing around in the East for a long while without apparently getting anywhere, but by consistently outpointing his opponents has finally reached the point where he gets a chance to poke Pancho Villa's handsome Filipino nose in an effort to lift the world's flyweight title. Marks is a splendid little scrapper, but will have to be a lot stronger than he used to be at Vernon to nose out as tough and persistent a battler as Villa. Villa has been over the long route and gets better as he goes along, and doubtless expects to wear Marks down.

If A. M. Young's justly celebrated "speedway circuit" goes over as he thinks it will, the automobile racing game will probably take a new lease on life. A chain of speedways stretching across the country and capable of giving the drivers a good purse to shoot at about once a month would not only serve to make the drivers enjoy more opportunities to get waffle money but would keep alive the interest in the A.A.A. championship, which sometimes seems to drop between races.

NAME POMMER FOR A.A.A. POST

Pick Angeleno as Secretary of Contest Board

Vail and Earl Cooper Start Practice Next Week

Pilots Anxious to Get Ready for Titular Race

A Los Angeles man has been named secretary of the contest board of the A.A.A.

A. M. Young, manager of the Los Angeles Speedway Association, which owns and operates the Los Angeles Speedway at Beverly Hills, yesterday received a wire from the office of the contest board announcing the appointment of P. C. Pommer to the office of secretary of the governing body of the motor sport in America and a number of congratulatory wires were immediately dispatched to the new secretary at New York.

The new contest-board secretary is well known here and has served as an official many times at Beverly Hills Speedway during the running of the 250-mile championship races on Thanksgiving Day and in February. Pommer also officiated at Fresno, Cotati, Tacoma and at Kansas City and is recognized as one of the ablest race officials in this country.

VALUABLE MAN

Pommer's knowledge of the racing sport and conditions governing the speedway game in California will undoubtedly make him a valuable man with Joseph Mack of Detroit, the recently appointed chairman of the contest board who succeeded William Schimpf. Young and other speedway officials were delighted to learn of Pommer's new place in the racing sport and he has been urged to come to Los Angeles with Chairman Mack to attend the 250-mile championship race at Beverly Hills Speedway on February 24.

Ira Vail, Brooklyn speed king, who is in Los Angeles for the opening championship event of the 1924 season scheduled for the Beverly Hills course announced yesterday that he will remain in this section until some time in May, when he will leave for Indianapolis to compete in the annual 500-mile race on the famous brick speedway. He paid a visit to race headquarters yesterday and then went out looking for an apartment, where he and Mrs. Vail will make their winter home.

Both Vail and Earl Copper announced yesterday that they would be able to get out on the speedway for practice within another week and they are anxious to start training for the championship event. Cooper's car has been practically rebuilt since the Thanksgiving Day race and he promises more speed than he had when he led the field with his teammate, Tommy Milton, and had the race stored away until he opened up too wide and broke a valve which forced him to fall far to the rear of Bennett Hill, Eddie Hearne and Jimmy Murphy.

COOPER GOES NORTH

Cooper announced that he would drive up to San Francisco on business today, but would be back to take his H.C.S. special out on the speedway during the latter part of next week. The fact that Cooper has been a pace-setter during the races of the past season instead of the crafty general that he was in the days before his retirement from competition in 1920, has made him one of the most popular of speed merchants in the business today and his work in the coming race will be watched with great interest. Cooper has a great record for the past season. In every race of the year he led the field at the time he was forced out. This is something that no other driver has ever accomplished. In many of his races he was able to get back into the contest and finish well up in the money, but he never won an event although his driving and that of the former champion and recognized star, Tommy Milton who teamed with him on the H.C.S. mounts, made the races of the year much faster than they would have been had the two stars stayed back with the cars in tow.

Cliff Durant was not at speedway headquarters yesterday and was unable to accompany Young to San Diego as planned, to attend a conference with the men back of the move to build a board speed

MERCURY QUINTET WINS

L.A.A.C. Tossers Trim Sheetz Candy Team, 37 to 24, in Opening Game of A.A.U. Tourney

BY BRAVEN DYER

Getting away to a good start in the first half the Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball team trimmed the Hollywood Sheetz Mission Candy quintet, 37 to 24, at the Movie City Y.M.C.A. last night, thereby opening the 1924 A.A.U. tournament schedule in an auspicious manner. The Mercury tossers piled up a lead of 17 to 6 during the first twenty minutes and although the losers made a gallant and thrilling rally in the final session it wasn't quite good enough to nose out the blue and white jerseyed shooters.

The story of the game is the tale of the last half. In the opening period the Sheetz men were dead on their feet, failing to cover the speedy work of Fred Olney, Rex Reason and Maynard Laswell, who brought the ball into shooting position almost at will. Not until the last three minutes of play did the home club get a basket, and then Mellette and Benson scored in quick succession. The former had the ball rolling all around the basket repeatedly, but wasn't blessed with much luck in getting the casaba to drop through the net.

STAGE BIG RALLY

Coach Josephs gave some of his subs workout during the last few minutes of the first half and then kept them right in the fray when the second period opened. This was just what the Sheetz team wanted for they proceeded to enlarge their score considerably, such tactics resulting in the return of Olney, Larson, Laswell and Reason to the game. However, the old timers were a bit slow in getting their joints unwound and before they knew it the score stood 29 to 22, with Mellette running wild all over the court.

Reason and Olney then demonstrated how basketball should be played, working the ball down the floor with lightning short passes and dropping the melon through the net from seemingly impossible angles. The two work together with the utmost precision and being well over six feet in height have a distinct advantage over mere men. Many a boarding-house roomer would give a lot for the reach of either Olney or Reason.

The spurt of the Hollywood team ended after a short consultation by the L.A.A.C. team, who from then on kept the ball to themselves, letting go of it only when either Olney or Reason were in position to shoot without molestation.

SAUNDERS IS GOOD

Herf Saunders, former W. and J. player, is one of the most potent guards we have ever seen. He has a pair of shoulders that would make Atlas blush for shame and needless to say little got by him. Mellette, former Redlands U. star, had very little help offensively.

The line-ups:

L.A.A.C. (37)		Sheetz (24)
Laswell (4)	F.	Mellette (11)
Reason (15)	F.	Reeves (6)
Olney (11)	C.	Porter (5)
L. Larson (3)	G.	McFadden
Saunders (2)	G.	Demeling

Substitutions: L.A.A.C., Kennedy (2), J. Larson, Marberry, McQuaide; Alling; Sheetz, Benson (2). Referee, Peloura.

The Fullerton A. C. evidently have outgrown their desire to win the A.A.U. championship this year for instead of showing up last night to play the Larry Semon A. C. at Hollywood the Bean Pickers sent their regrets, plus the statement that they have dropped out of the loop. This may necessitate the rescheduling of all games.

Just to be doing something the Semons took on the Standard Oil five and grabbed a 37 to 5 victory, Bob DeGrasse and Max Gold passing the ball up and down the court at will. The Semon seconds trimmed the Young Men's Institute of Pasadena, 34 to 7, with Sidley and McNew doing most of the damage.

WEBBER TRIMS GARCIA IN VENICE FISTICUFFS

Johnny Webber got the call over Louie Garcia in the main event of last night's bouts at Venice. Both boys put up a great scrap. Bill Mata and Sailor White fought four rounds to a draw, and Bill Edge won the decision over Roy Morrell. Kid Dallas sent Johnny Villaflores to the floor in the third, and he stayed there for the full count. Joe Rickey knocked out Jack Martin in the fourth round, and Kid Smiley put Young Douglass to sleep in the opening period.

INTEREST GROWS IN GOLF MATCH

Sarazen-Havers Battle is to Open Tomorrow

Differing Styles of Famous Pros in Opposition

American Champion Favored Over British Player

BY CHARLES WEST

Whether the interlocking grip and full swing of Gene Sarazen can bring him world's golf title in competition with Arthur Haver's Vardon grip and short but effective stroke will be decided within a few short days when the American professional champion meets the British open title holder in a match which has stirred up the entire golfing world.

The big event will be parted in the middle, opening tomorrow on the links of the Lake Merced Golf and Country club in San Francisco with 36 holes of match play, and finishing with the final 36 holes at the Hillcrest Country Club here next Sunday.

Two more representative professional golfers could not have been selected to represent United States and England in a match of this kind. Both are comparatively new in the championship class, Sarazen having burst into fame in 1922 by winning both the national open and national professional titles, and retaining his prestige by defeating Walter Hagen in the finals of the professional event in 1923.

REAL CHAMPIONS

Havers obtained international prominence by winning the British open crown last summer, finishing one stroke ahead of Hagen at Troon, and following up his victory by defeating practically the same field in the Gleneagles tournament shortly afterward. Both Sarazen and Havers are in their early twenties, but have humbled their elders in the professional ranks with such enthusiasm that their right to meet for the international title is apparent.

The match will carry with it no official title, inasmuch as competition is limited to the two players, but the resulting victor will be generally recognized as the golfing champion of the world.

Popular opinion seems to favor Sarazen, probably because Havers's game in Southern California was anything but impressive until his last two exhibitions. It might be pointed out that Sarazen was far from championship form in the State open tournament, and that he has lost in two of three exhibition foursomes with Havers and Ockenden. Steady improvement has marked the game of the Britisher since his whirlwind trip across the continent, and he seems to be playing the type of game now that will make Sarazen play supergolf in order to win.

SELECT REFEREES

In the Southern California section of the match, William M. Armstrong, president of the California Golf Association, will referee the first eighteen holes, while the venerable Eddie Tufts, president of the Southern California Golf Association, will be the presiding genius in the afternoon part of the match at Hillcrest.

Bus service will be maintained between the Biltmore and the Hillcrest Country Club for spectators all day Sunday, cars leaving every few minutes for the scene of the struggle. Tags are selling for $2 each.

If dust appears another spraying, more penetrating than the first two, will be administered to the surface.

MILLER IN FAREWELL MAT BOUT

L.A.A.C. Wrestling Wonder Takes on Heinie Engel Thursday, January 31

Walter Miller, who will sail February 5 for Australia, will have one big battle here at home before he goes to tackle the best men in Kangarooland. He signed yesterday to take on Heinie Engel at the Los Angeles Athletic Club the night of Thursday, the 31st inst. It should be one of the most exciting and interesting wrestling matches ever seen in this city. A tougher opponent than Engel it would be difficult to find. He is one of the classiest middleweights on the mat anywhere.

Just a year ago in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Engel wrestled Johnny Myers three and a half hours, when the police stepped in and stopped the proceedings. It was a draw. Within the year he has defeated such men as Paul Prehn, Johnny Kilonas and Ralph Parcaut, not to mention many others, showing that he can put it over most of the top-notchers. When he bumps into Miller and all his tricks he will have plenty to do. The ex-champion is without an equal with the head scissors, and has now developed a masterly new hold, the leg split. The latter is likely to divide an opponent into two equal parts, lengthwise, and is the very latest development in the grappling game.

All in all, both Miller and Engel are going up against a hard proposition, and it should be a good night for the fans. The little local wonder could not afford a defeat on the eve of a tour across the Pacific to meet Australia's champions, while on the other hand it would be a feather in Engel's cap should he manage to slam the L.A.A.C. instructor to the mat and pin him down. This means that it will be a sharp contest, with a two-hour limit. Miller is in prime condition, having already gotten in shape for the wrestlers across the water, where he will take them on at any weight. Engel has been at it constantly, too. Heinie will leave Dubuque next Saturday for this city.

PIRRONE'S TEAM TO PLAY NEXT SUNDAY

Baseball fans will have another chance to see the classy Coast and minor-league All-Stars meet the all-professional White King Soap nine next Sunday afternoon at Maier's Vernon Park.

These two clubs played a bang-up game last Sunday afternoon, which was witnessed by a large crowd of fans and fanettes. Accommodations have been made to take care of the largest crowd that has gathered at the Vernon grounds for many years.

Joe Pirrone, manager of the famous All-Star nine, is out to grab off a pair of sluggers. Paul Strand type, for his squad in order to get some hitting in the pinches.

Elmer Meyers, Salt Lake twirler, and Chet Thomas, Coast League receiver, will again form the battery for the soapers. Either Jesse Doyle, Toronto wiz, or Lefty Shanklin, 19-year-old sensation of the Toledo club, will mound for Pirrone's aggregation.

SEVERAL HOPEFULS GET BLUE TICKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—In shaving down the limit before taking their throng of athletes south for the Dixie training trip the world's champion Yankee gave a couple of hopefuls the blue ticket today.

One of them, Benny Karr, a right-handed pitcher, who has been in the majors before and who belts the ball over a lot of fences, has been turned back to Atlanta. Nick Cullop, right-handed pitcher recently purchased from Omaha, has been abandoned to the Omaha club because of a hitch in the deal. Karr was considered a fair prospect for big-league performance, not only because of his ability as a pitcher, but because of his hitting quality, but after some deliberation Manager Huggins decided to let him stay in the minors.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Tad Jones, Yale coach; Lou Young and Bill Hollenbeck of Pennsylvania, and Bill Roper and Jimmie Cormick, Princeton men, were officially appointed coaches of the Philadelphia police eleven Gen. Butler hopes to organize this spring. The five gridders met the general here today, got an earful of what he wants to do and all agreed to give the matter as much of their attention as possible. Butler believes in athletics for the police and he plans many intercity games with the marines at Quantico. Butler stated that football built up a man, taught him to think and to fight hard and long. He also stated that it would also help to arouse the athletic interests of force. Baseball teams will also be organized.

CARD NINE OUTLOOK IS PROMISING

Stanford Baseballers May Cause Bears Considerable Worry This Season

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 23.—The 1924 baseball season should see far better collegiate baseball competition between Stanford and California than for some time past, when the Bear stickers and twirlers have had the best of the Redshirts. This season Coach Harry Wolter of the Stanford nine has a crew which promises great things. Fifty men are out for places. Among these are six twirlers, Teague, Lowenstein, Solomon, Oviatt, Ditzler and Nevers, an imposing array when the past few seasons are considered. Teague, Lowenstein and Solomon did work on the mound last year for the varsity. Nevers, Oviatt and Ditzer hurled for the 1926 frosh. The new men have as much chance as the varsity men. At the receiving end will be Jim Lawson and Chuck Johnston, two football men who are also baseball sharks; and in the category must be included Nevers, the "man-mountain" of football fame; Murray Cuddeback, place-kicker, and Solomon, a backfield performer, who will play ball this season.

The hitting end of the game should be better as well. McCandless swings a wicked bat, and Lawson, Roberts, Cuddeback and Patterson are no mean performers with the wand.

PUGILISTS ARRIVE AT BUENOS AIRES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

Dominique Is Easy Winner at Tijuana

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 23.—Dominique, a notable performer on the big eastern time, won his first start at Tijuana today, with such ease that he is expected to continue his high class performance during the remainder of the season. This horse made creditable showings against the great Zev on two occasions. Today he won the feature event, finishing five lengths ahead of the Belle of Elizabethtown. The time for six furlongs was 1:11 3-5, which is within one-fifth of the Tijuana record for the distance.

Runclair, owned by A. B. Spreckels, defeated Cherokee Lee in the fourth in a nip and tuck affair. Lady Le Band and Marcella Boy won the seventh and eighth races, respectively, at outside prices. All other races were taken by favorites.

First race, three furlongs: Queen Current won; Mark Master, second; Purnell, third. Time :35 4-5.

Second race, five furlongs: Fullanti won; Boundcraft, second; Beth's Memory, third. Time 1:01 3-5.

Third race, one mile and one-sixteenth: Mignon Bay won; Flinger, second; The Wag, third. Time 1:47.

Fourth race, six furlongs: Runclair won; Cherokee Lee, second; My Daddy, third. Time 1:12 3-5.

Fifth race, six furlongs: Dominique won; Belle of Elizabethtown, second; Judge Fryer, third. Time 1:11 3-5.

Sixth race, one mile and one-sixteenth: Wynecrest won; Planet, second; Ever Bold, third. Time 1:46 1-5.

Seventh race, five and one-half furlongs: Lady Le Band won; Bill McCloy, second; Dan Hogan, third. Time 1:07 3-5.

Eighth race, one mile and 70 yards: Marcella Boy won; Marine Corps, second; Caffield, third. Time 1:44 3-5.

ALASKA AND $60,000 IN GOLD DUST

[Copyright, 1923, in United States and Great Britain, Cuba, Japan and South America, by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

We were sitting around a stove one night in a combination hardware, grocery, feed, clothes and liquor store in Henrietta, when one of the cattlemen got a letter from Jim Roberts, who had left his ranch in 1890 to go up to Alaska.

I was the town marshall of Henrietta then, wearing a blue uniform, broad-brimmed hat, gold star and everything. And let me tell you, I was getting mighty tired of the job. We hadn't had any excitement for a month.

"Listen, what Jim says," said the man who had got the letter: "so cold up there that he wanted to climb in the stove on top of the fire, but one feller said to wouldn't do no good 'cause some fool'd come along and leave the door open."

"Yes," said one of the old men in the group, "and they tell me whisky freezes up there so hard that you can carry it around in your pocket like a plug of tobacco an' bite off a chew whenever you feel like it."

"Wait a minute, fellows," begged the reader, "Ol' Jim says he was in on a gold strike and they dug out more'n fifty thousand dollars' worth of gold in a week."

The crowd then went into a lengthy discussion of what they'd do if they had a million of dollars, like they thought Jim had.

"Wal," declared the old man named Banks when it had come to his, "I reck'n I'd pay it on my debts—far as it went."

The old fellows talked on about the money, but a young fellow named Will Slack and myself got to thinking about Alaska. The upshot of it was that we decided to hook up together and go after the gold. It wasn't long before we were on our way.

In 1895 we landed at Juneau, Alaska, but found we hadn't really got started.

UPHILL FOR A WEEK

To begin with, we had to get a year's supply of grub and take it over the Chilkoot Pass to the lakes on the other side—about forty miles.

One night Slack came in after talking to a prospector.

"Man," he said, "do you know that after we climb that mountain over all that ice we got to hitch ourselves up and pull a sled more'n 300 miles?"

That made us think. But being young and full of pep we planned to try it.

First, we had to carry our stuff up the side of that steep mountain five miles to the top—one pack at a time. That was a job. We had to take a small load and then make another trip until we had the whole outfit on top. It took us more than a month. On top we could load the stuff on sleds and slide down to the other side. After working ourselves into a perspiration we would nearly freeze when we stopped to rest. We certainly cooled off—and cooled off quick!

When we eventually reached the lake at the bottom, frozen solid, Slack stopped and looked at me.

"Tex," he said, "Texas may be short on gold, but she's short on ice and cold weather, too."

Just the same, we piled up them sleds, hitched ourselves to them and pulled them 300 miles over the coldest, wildest region that any man ever saw. It was well along toward fall when we covered the chain of lakes and reached the head of the Yukon. We passed the spot where Dawson City now stands without seeing so much as a house. We were headed for Circle City, so named because it is just inside the Arctic circle.

To describe that trip would take a book or two, and men like Rex Beach and Stewart Edward White have done it lots better than I could expect to do.

Will Slack stuck until his help was no longer needed and then told the world that we could have Alaska and he'd take Texas. Will Slack was one of the best fellows in the world, but he liked his comfort more than Klondike gold. I don't know but that he was sensible, at that. Still, he went back to Texas and was killed in a gun fight.

GOES THROUGH WITH IT

I had taken a chance, though, and was going through with it.

We wintered in Circle City and worked out from there in the spring. I was lucky enough to buy out the No. 3 and No. 4 claims of the Bonanza strike. This, however, was after I left Circle City and got into the Klondike.

George Cormack, who had an Indian wife, discovered the Bonanza lead. That was the first time I ever heard of a squaw man. That is what everybody called Cormack.

The squaw man had been on a moose hunting trip. On his way down a little river, which he afterwards named the Bonanza, he stopped for water. Right on the edge of the stream his eye fell on a piece of gold. The rocks and sand in the swift water had worked at the gold until it was exposed.

No use for me to tell you what excitement there is over a gold strike. The odd part of it is that Cormack, even with millions in front of him, had not struck the richest part of the gold at all. There were many fortunes in what he found, but on a little branch of the stream a little farther up, called the Eldorado—well, it was simply studded with gold. It would be difficult to count the millions of dollars taken out of there.

Anyway, I staked out those two Bonanza claims and had a half interest. They brought me in a lot of money.

When we got back to Circle City in May we heard some big news.

"A man named McKinley was elected President last November," an old miner told me. "Ever hear of him?"

To tell the truth, I hadn't. Then we got the details of the campaign with Bryan. The talk of 16 to 1 had fixed the price of gold in Alaska. We used gold dust for money and it was always worth $16 to the ounce.

THEY BET ON 17 AND 23

I sold out my Bonanza interest and had about $40,000 in gold dust. Just like the others, I went in for a good time. Then it was that I first got the gambling fever.

A man named Tom Turner had come in from the outside with news of how badly they needed a gambling house at Dawson. The miners wanted amusement and also wanted some fellows with whom they could leave their gold for safe-keeping.

The proprietor of a gambling house was much like a hotel or innkeeper. It was no cinch. There wasn't any graft. Nobody preyed on suckers. There were no suckers, to tell the truth. A gambling house was sort of social headquarters.

I went in with Turner and we opened up a gambling house, drinking and eating place. We lasted about four months.

One night a lot of fellows came in to bet on the middle column and Nos. 17 and 23 of the roulette layout and hit us hard. If they won they'd simply pile on more gold dust in small stacks and tell us to roll. We rolled ourselves right out of house and home. At the same time they were taking us hard on faro.

As I say, the gambling house was no cinch. Later I will tell of a more exciting gambling adventure—of my rise to wealth in that country. This time, though, the finish is sad. I started in with $57,000 that I had left out of the Bonanza strike and lost every nickel of it. I was flat broke, and it was getting colder.

"Don't worry, my boy," a friendly old miner whispered to me the next day. "They're striking it rich down at Rampart."

That night we were busy packing up.

Thomas and Hugh Kirk (Flintridge) defeated G. P. Toms and Fred Tracy, (Annandale) 2 and 1. R. M. Modisette and C. P. Erdman (Annandale) defeated Erle Barker and Neal Burns (Flintridge) 1 up.

SAN GABRIEL 4, VIRGINIA 1

Combes and Campbell made up the only Virginia Country Club combination capable of making an impression on San Gabriel yesterday, these sterling players winning from Rankin and Frank after a bitter fight, 1 up on the nineteenth hole of the Mission links. Arnold Statz and Leon Keller won from Virginia's ranking players, Hicks and Holladay, 4 and 3. Other matches resulted as follows. Bean and Jacobs (San Gabriel) defeated Cody and Foote (Virginia) 2 up; Getty and McCredie (San Gabriel) defeated Bixby and Sellery (Virginia) 3 and 2. Cheek and Westcott (San Gabriel) defeated Maule and Jones (Virigina) 5 and 4.

RED HILL 4, PASADENA 1

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Jan. 23. — Red Hill Country Club came off with flying colors this afternoon in the second round of the four-club tournament of the Southern California Golf Association when the local players won four out of five matches from Pasadena Country Club on the Red Hill course this afternoon.

Capt. McNaughton and McCook of Pasadena, turned in a score one under par, defeating Colladay and Nixon of Red Hill 4 and 2, but they were the only visitors to win.

Walker and Lawson of Red Hill beat Wright and Herlihy of Pasadena, 1 up; Howe and Craig beat Wisner and Losey, 4 and 3; Black and Neill beat Engle and McGregor, 4 and 3; Taylor and Gray beat Stevenson and J. Losey, 3 and 1.

SASSY JANE

Mrs. C. K. Smithley won the Sassy Jane tournament at the Municipal links at Griffith Park yesterday, scoring 94-18-80. Second honors were taken by Mrs. Ike Wentworth, 96-14-82, while Mrs. P. S. Noon won third place, 91-6-85.

WOMEN'S MATCHES

Teams in the women's auxiliary of the Southern California Golf Association will resume play for the team title today with three interclub matches. The Los Angeles Country Club players meet Hollywood's representatives on the latter links, San Gabriel's team plays Hillcrest at Hillcrest, and Midwick faces Brentwood on the Santa Monica links.

TRACK STARTS WITH BANG AT REDLANDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Jan. 23.—Track has started with a bang at Redlands High School with Coach William Yount in charge. He plans to have the interclass meet in about two weeks, and expects to have fifty men out within a few days. Yount believes the outlook is fair, with some good distance men, sprinters and hurdlers. Field men are lacking. There are three letter men available this year, Felix Mosso, Carl Redmond and Ernest McIver.

SPEEDER TOTAL FOR YEAR HIGH

Reckless Drivers Well Up in Statistics

Annual State Report Shows Many Violations

Estimated Figure in Excess of Fifty Thousand

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—More than 51,000 California motorists were arrested in 1923 on charges of speeding and reckless driving, these arrests constituting approximately 77 per cent of eleven violations of the motor-vehicle laws during the year, according to figures made public today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the State Division of Motor Vehicles. The report says 51,587 persons were arrested for driving too fast or carelessly. Almost 50,000 persons were arrested for various violations of the motor laws.

Although there were 7255 fewer arrests during the year for all violations than during 1922, the figures show an increase of more than 2 per cent in violations of the speed laws.

ANGELENOS LAX

Exclusive of the city of San Francisco, Marsh's report shows a total of 49,845 arrests for motor-vehicle law violations. If statistics were available for San Francisco, Marsh estimated the grand total would reach 60,000.

Approximately 35 per cent of all arrests or 17,138 were reported from Los Angeles. In that city alone during the year, 6700 speeders were caught, while 2164 paid the penalty for reckless driving. The Los Angeles traffic squad arrested 2036 persons for improperly displaying license plates, as compared to 411 arrests for the balance of the State.

LICENSES REVOKED

During the year the licenses of 193 persons were revoked. Of these forty-nine lost their licenses for driving while intoxicated and seventy-one for speeding. Licenses suspended during the year amounted to 524.

Violations throughout the State were reported as follows: Speeding, 51,425; reckless driving, 10,-165; improper headlights, 4719; improper display of plates, 3467; failure to cut muffler, 1477; failure to produce operator's licenses, 1740; miscellaneous, 875.

ANGELENO AWARDED STATE HIGHWAY JOB

GEORGE H. OSWALD GIVEN CONTRACT FOR 13.1 MILES OF ROAD WORK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—Contracts for a highway job in Southern California and for a bridge in Monterey county were awarded today by the State Highway Commission. George H. Oswald of Los Angeles got the contract for 13.1 miles of work on the highway between Shoup avenue and the westerly boundary of Los Angeles on his bid of $288,788.50. The engineer's estimate was $418,422.50.

A 340-foot bridge over the San Lorenzo Creek, near King City, Monterey county, will be constructed by Rocca & Caletti of San Rafael on their bid of $36,416.10.

The commission also awarded a contract to grade 8.3 miles and pave 2.5 miles of road between Huntington Beach and Corona del Mar, on the Coast Boulevard, Orange county, to W. F. Beale of Brawley, on his bid of $188,035.45. The engineer's estimate was $195,-336.

Action on the low bid of Charles W. Wimmer of Bakersfield for work on fifteen miles of highway in Ventura county was held over.

GERMAN AID CAMPAIGN IN FULL SWING

Team Captains in City to Report Today; Drive Outside Progresses

Team captains canvassing the city in behalf of the emergency fund for hungry German children will meet at luncheon today at the Alexandria for further instructions and to report to date.

Competition among the teams has become keen, with Hollywood still defying all other sections of the city. At a meeting of prominent men in the office of G. G. Greenwood, manager of the Hollywood branch of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, today, further activities in that district will be outlined. If it is not possible to finish their big task by Friday night, this team will continue until some time next week in order to reach every one.

While the city canvass was being made, reports were being received from the other parts of Southern California. Mayor H. F. Coulter of Fullerton wrote that a committee of business men, with B. W. Bartels as chairman, was actively gathering funds. Yucaipa Valley Chamber of Commerce sent word of a mass meeting to be held next week at which the apple district subscriptions will all be raised at one time. From Tujunga came word that the famous "Millionaires' Club of Contentment," aided by three teams of Boy Scouts, the Christian Endeavor Society, Masonic Lodge, men and women of every denomination, would hold a meeting in the Community Auditorium "and might be counted on for the largest per capita aid of any community in the State."

Returns from the Jack Doyle arena, where on Tuesday night high school girls passed tin cans among the fight spectators, showed a total of a little more than $2000. One elated schoolgirl announced that Charlie Chaplin had stuffed a $50 bill into the basket.

Yesterday contributions were individually brought to headquarters in the San Fernando Building by those who thought they might be overlooked. H. Schwartz, president of the Schwartz Lumber Company of Wichita, Kan., left $300 for the local committee. He had given $2500 in Wichita just before he left for a visit here. Rev. Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple, sent in $1000, of which $647.09 was a basket offering from her congregation, and the balance her own personal gift.

JUDGE WEDS MAN AFTER FINING HIM

Charge Against Bride is Dismissed and Ceremony Performed Free

Police Judge Caryl Sheldon yesterday fined W. Fisher, 24 years of age, 3422 South Freemont street, $200 and sentenced him to life.

The fine came when Fisher pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of seventeen pints of liquor.

The sentence was enacted when the judge married Fisher to Miss Bessie Fisher in his court room at the University Police Station.

Fisher and the girl were arrested by Officers McMullen and Rayher on the 19th inst. Fisher furnished $200 bail and the charges against the girl were dismissed.

"Judge, all the money I have in the world is the bail money," said Fisher before the ceremony was performed, "but we want to get married and all that is left after you fine me you can have as a fee."

"The fine is $200," pronounced Judge Sheldon solemnly, "but we're performing marriage ceremonies free today, so step up."

WIFE-SLAYER GETS LIFE IMPRISONMENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHIPPEWA FALLS (Wis.) Jan. 23.—John Astor Harrison Blake McCormick, former Ladysmith, Wis., grocer, today was found guilty for the second time on a charge of having murdered his wife, and will be returned to the State prison at Waupun to spend the remainder of his life.

SOVIET LIVING CHURCH IS NOW ON DEATHBED

ONLY LEADERS LEFT TO TAKE $50,000 FUND RAISED BY METHODISTS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIGA, Jan. 23. — Radical and misinformed American Methodists who contributed to the $50,000 fund for the aid of the soviet government's living church may be surprised to know that the living church is now on its deathbed. According to Moscow newspapers the second living church congress scheduled to open in Moscow has been postponed indefinitely because only seven parishes throughout Russia elected delegates to attend the session.

Priests of the living church are quietly returning to the old fold of Patriarch Tikhon. Only the leaders, who have been subsidized by the soviet government, remain and are awaiting the $50,000 from America which will enable them to establish a seminary to educate priests sympathetic toward the communist government.

The Man In Lower Ten

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

COPYRIGHT 1924 BY McCLURE NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE

The story thus far:

Laurence Blakely, lawyer, in partnership with Richard McKnight, is going to Pittsburgh with the forged notes in the Bronson case to show to John Gilshow, millionaire. McKnight does not want to go as he wishes to visit Baltimore to see a Miss West. As Blakely puts the notes in his pocket, McKnight notices a woman's face watching him from a window in the unoccupied house next door. Blakely transfers the notes to his alligator skin bag. Blakely goes to Pittsburg, sees Gilmore, and there becomes interested in the photograph of his granddaughter, Alice West, whose cosmopolitan father was a friend of Bronson. He realizes this is the same Miss West in whom McKnight is interested. In a restaurant at luncheon he notices a man and a woman together, discussing a journey which the woman wishes to take alone. He is drinking heavily. Later at the station the woman asks him to get her a lower berth while he is standing in line. He gives her lower 11. His car is lower 10. The train starts out late, delaying the second section, behind them. Blakely goes to the smoker and, when he goes to his berth, he finds it occupied by a man in a dressing gown. The porter put him in number 9. He can't sleep and goes to the vestibule for air and runs into a woman with bronze braids. She starts as she sees him. He finds a late telegram ... over ten, car save— ... Lower ten, car seven ... is supposed to be his berth. He wakes in the morning to find his bag and clothes stolen and others in their place. But he has blundered into berth number 7 in the night. However, since his supposed berth, is empty, and the man in berth 10 is found murdered. A charming young girl in blue and her companion attract his attention. The latter is arrested both by the conductor and a physician. Blakely is interviewed by an inquisitive man who is trying to solve the identity of the murderer. Another lively inquest in court, subjecting Blakely to strenuous questioning.

Chapter IX
A CROSS EXAMINATION BY THE CONDUCTOR

Somebody on the edge of the group asserted that hereafter he would travel by daylight. I glanced up and caught the eye of the girl in blue.

"They are all mad," she said. Her tone was low, but I heard her distinctly. "Don't take them seriously enough to defend yourself."

"I am glad you think I didn't do it." I observed meekly, over the crowd. "Nothing else is of importance."

The conductor had pulled out his note-book again. "Your name please," he said gruffly.

"Lawrence Blakeley, Washington."

"Your occupation?"

"Attorney. A member of the firm of Blakeley and McKnight."

"Mr. Blakeley, you say you have occupied the wrong berth and have been robbed. Do you know anything of the man who did it?"

"Only from what he left behind," I answered. "Those clothes—"

"They fit you," he said with quick suspicion.

"Isn't that rather a coincidence? You are a large man."

"Good Heavens," I retorted, stung into fury, "do I look like a man who would wear this kind of a necktie? Do you suppose I carry purple and green barred silk handerchiefs? Would any man in his senses wear a pair of shoes a full size too small?"

The conductor was inclined to hedge. "You will have to grant that I am in a peculiar position," he said. "I have only your word as to the exchange of berths, and you understand I am merely doing my duty. Are there any clews in the pockets?"

For the second time I emptied them of their contents, which he noted. "Is that all?" he finished. "There was nothing else?"

"Nothing."

"That's not all, sir," broke in the porter, stepping forward. "There was a small black satchel."

"That's so," I exclaimed. "I forgot the bag. I don't even know where it is."

The easily swayed crowd looked suspicious again. I've grown so accustomed to reading the faces of a jury, seeing them swing from doubt to belief, and back again to doubt, that I instinctively watch expressions. I saw that my forgetfulness had done me harm—that suspicion was roused again.

The bag was found a couple of seats away, under somebody's raincoat—another dubious circumstance. Was I hiding it? It was brought to the berth and placed beside the conductor, who opened it at once.

It contained the usual traveling impediments—change of linen, collars, handkerchiefs, a bronze-green scarf, and a safety razor. But the attention of the crowd riveted itself on a flat, Russia leather wallet, around which a heavy gum band was wrapped, and which bore in gilt letters the name "Simon Harrington."

The conductor held it out to me, his face sternly accusing.

"Is this another coincidence?" he asked. "Did the man who left you his clothes and the barred silk handerchief and the tight shoes leave you the spoil of the murder?"

The men standing around had drawn off a little, and I saw the absolute futility of any remonstrance. Have you ever seen a fly, who, in these hygienic days, finding no cobwebs to entangle him, is caught in a sheet of fly paper, finds himself more and more mired, and is finally quiet with the sticky stillness of despair?

Well, I was the fly. I had seen too much circumstantial evidence to have any belief that the establishing of my identity would weigh much against the other incriminating details. It meant imprisonment and trial, probably, with all the notoriety and loss of practice they would entail. A man thinks quickly at a time like that. All the probable consequences of the finding of that pocketbook flashed through my mind as I extended my hand to take it. Then I drew my arm back.

"I don't want it," I said. "Look inside. Maybe the other man took the money and left the wallet."

The conductor opened it, and again there was a curious surging forward of the crowd. To my intense disappointment the money was still there.

I stood blanky miserable while it was counted out—five one-hundred-dollar bills, six twenties, and some fives and ones that brought the total to six hundred and fifty dollars.

The little man with the note-book insisted on taking the numbers of the notes, to the conductor's annoyance. It was immaterial to me: small things had lost their power to irritate. I was seeing myself in the prisoner's box, going through all the nerve-racking routine of a trial for murder—the challenging of the jury, the endless cross-examinations, the alternate hope and fear. I believe I said before that I had no nerves, but for a few minutes that morning I was as near as a man ever comes to hysteria.

I folded my arms and gave myself a mental shake. I seemed to be the center of a hundred eyes, expressing every shade of doubt and distrust, but I tried not to flinch. Then some one created a diversion.

The amateur detective was busy again with the sealskin bag, investigating the make of the safety razor and the manufacturer's name on the bronze-green tie. Now, however, he paused and frowned, as though some pet theory had been upset.

Then from a corner of the bag he drew out and held up for our inspection some three inches of fine gold chain, one end of which was blackened and stained with blood.

The conductor held out his hand for it, but the little man was not ready to give it up. He turned to to me.

"You say no watch was left you? Was there a piece of chain like that?"

"No chain at all," I said sulkily. "No jewelry of any kind, except plain gold buttons in the shirt I am wearing."

"Where are your glasses?" he threw at me suddenly. Instinctively my hand went to my eyes. My glasses had been gone all morning and I had not even noticed their absence. The little man smiled cynically and held out the chain.

"I must ask you to examine this," he insisted. "Isn't it a part of the fine gold chain you wear over your ear?"

I didn't want to touch the thing; the stain at the end made me shudder. But with the baker's dozen of suspicious eyes—well, we'll say fourteen; there were no one-eyed men—I took the fragment in the tips of my fingers and looked at it helplessly.

"Very fine chains are much alike," I managed to say. "For all I know this may be mine, but I don't know how it got into that sealskin bag. I never saw the bag until this morning after daylight."

"He admits that he had the bag," somebody said behind me. "How did you guess that he wore glasses, anyhow?" to the amateur sleuth.

That gentleman cleared his throat. "There were two reasons," he said, "for suspecting it. When you see a man with the lines of his face drooping, a healthy individual with a pensive eye—suspect astigmatism. Besides, this gentleman has a pronounced line across the bridge of his nose and a mark on his ear from the chain."

After this remarkable exhibition of the theoretical as compared with the practical, he sank into a seat near by, and, still holding the chain, sat with closed eyes and pursed lips. It was evident to all the car that the solution of the mystery was a question of moments. Once he bent forward eagerly, and putting the chain on the window-sill, proceeded to go over it with a pocket magnifying glass, only to shake his head in disappointment. All the people around shook their heads, too, although they had not the slightest idea what it was about.

The pounding in my ears began again. The group around me seemed to be suddenly motionless in the very act of moving, as if a hypnotist had called "Rigid!" The girl in blue was looking at me, and above the din I thought she said she must speak to me—something vital. The pounding grew louder and merged into a scream. With a grinding and splintering the car rose under my feet. Then it fell away into the darkness.

Chicago Water Supply Periled by Clogged Ice

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Bands of workers were kept busy today fighting with dynamite and poles the peril to the city's water supply, "anchor ice" at the intakes far out on the lake.

The ice is abundant because of the cold weather. A twenty-four-hour vigil is being maintained lest the intakes become clogged.

The "anchor ice" is an annual source of worry to those whose charge it is to keep up Chicago's water supply.

FARMERS WHO ALWAYS MAKE MONEY

The politicians' talk about "the farmer" has created an impression that farmers are all alike. The truth is that they differ just as much as merchants, and merchants are never lumped together and considered as "the merchant."

In a 2500-mile farm-to-farm automobile trip for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, Harry R. O'Brien found that farmers differ most strikingly in money-making capacity. Some farmers, he learned, always make money. Others never do. In between is a group whose profits depend on whether or not it is "a good year." These three kinds of farmers often live in the same community.

Differences in management, he found, run parallel with differences in profits. Certain sound practices are uniformly followed by farmers above the profit line. Certain uneconomic practices are common to farmers in each of the less prosperous groups.

In a series of articles in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, beginning January 26, Mr. O'Brien analyzes these different practices and their results. This is typical of the service THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN constantly renders its farm readers to help them make more money.

65 out of 70 farms investigated in Humboldt County, Iowa, earned a profit in 1922— 5 lost money

Report of Iowa State College

The money-making, business type of farmers read THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN because they find it pays them to do so. Advertisers use it more largely than any other farm paper for the same reason. Through it they reach the cream of the farm market.

850,000 persons pay $1 a year or five cents every week to get THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for themselves and for their families.

GLANDS

LIFE—HEALTH—VIM—STRENGTH

Science has given to the suffering public this master stroke in the treatment of disease. Results that are being obtained through gland therapy are truly marvelous, and in many instances beyond belief.

The public should know that gland therapy is useful in almost all diseases, and is not a treatment along certain lines only, as many of you now believe. In many diseases where every other treatment has failed, gland therapy will often show results within forty-eight hours or less.

Especially beneficial in rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, high blood pressure, diabetes, Bright's disease nervousness and neurasthenia as well as general weakness nnd run down condition.

The old method was to transplant a whole gland within the body by surgery. This is not necessary. The new and better method is the hypodermic injection of the active secretion of the gland into the tissues of the body. No operation, no pain, no detention from your duties or business in any way.

There is now open to the public who really want the very best of gland treatment an office conducted and directed by a graduate physician and surgeon with years of experience, who will personally treat every case. All cases treated in strict confidence and privacy. Using only the most potent and active glands obtained from the goat, ram and monkey in limited amount. Receiving fresh stock daily.

Men, women and children treated. Especially the man or woman who has about given up all hope. Gland therapy is starting many on a useful, healthy and happy life.

This is not a free clinic or treatment. Some one has to pay for all the free things in this life. A reasonable charge made all cases. The public is invited to call for free consultation. No case treated without thorough examination.

Private waiting rooms for men and women. Nurse in attendance. Will treat invalids or private cases in their own home by prearrangement only.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

En obsequio a nuestros numerosos amigos de habla española, y para beneficio de los lectores americanos de "The Times" que estudien esa lengua, publicamos diariamente esta columna en castellano, con un extracto de las más importantes noticias de última hora.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cercana se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestras hermanas, las repúblicas del sur. Para que lleguen a ser enteramente cordiales, no hay nada tan importante como que nuestros ciudadanos se familiaricen con la lengua castellana. Tan se dan cuenta de este hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25.000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, enero 23.—El nuevo tratado sobre licor con la Gran Bretaña fué firmado en el Ministerio de Estado.

Anuncio el Ministerio de Marina que se habían perdido cuatro vidas en el naufragio del crucero "Tacoma" en Veracruz.

Una delegación de Puerto Rico ha pedido al Presidente Coolidge y al Congreso que se modifique la ley orgánica de la Isla, a fin de que ésta tenga mayor autonomía.

La compañía "Union Carbide," de Nueva York, ha hecho una oferta por Muscle Shoals, y ha acompañado a ella una proposición para fabricar fertilizantes.

En mensaje al Congreso, ha delineado el Presidente Coolidge un plan para aliviar a los agricultores del Noroeste.

Se ha sabido que el Gobierno de Washington considerará contrarias al espíritu, si no a la letra, del tratado de limitación naval, las ventas que al gobierno mejicano hagan los ciudadanos americanos, de barcos destinados a fines guerreros.

El Senado ha ratificado las convenciones con Méjico sobre reclamaciones.

Senador Asesinado en Méjico

CUIDAD DE MEJICO, enero 23. Hoy, a las 2 p.m., fue matado a balazos el Senador por Campeche, don Francisco Field Jurado.

Un grupo de individuos que iban en un auto, y que, según se dice, vestían como jornaleros, se acercó a Jurado, que caminaba rumbo a su casa en el barrio de las residencias elegantes. Le dispararon cinco tiros y cayó muerto.

Era Jurado líder del bloque de la minoría, que se ha opuesto tenazmente a la ratificación de la convención de Reclamaciones Generales entre Méjico y los Estados Unidos. Era el más firme opositor de dicha convención, y llevaba generalmente la voz de los partidos de la minoría. Hace como una semana los líderes laboristas de la Cámara de Diputados amenazaron con acción directa a los miembros del partido cooperatista.

El General Sánchez Gravemente Herido

WASHINGTON, enero 23.—La Embajada Mejicana anunció hoy que había recibido un despacho del Ministerio de la Guerra en la ciudad de Méjico, en que se le participa que el General Sánchez uno de los principales líderes de la rebelión contra el gobierno de Obregón, había sido gravemente herido hoy por uno de sus propios oficiales, y conducio a Orizaba en grave estado.

NOTAS LOCALES

El Juzgado le ha Exigido Fianza a Dines

La historia de "no me acuerdo" relatada por Courtland S. Dines ha traido una nueva fase a la audiencia preliminar de Horace A. Greer, acusado de conato de homicidio en contra del rico comisionista de Denver.

Esa fase ha sido una declaración jurada del Teniente Fiscal Keyes, en la que se hace el inusitado cargo de que se están ocultando los verdaderos hechos en el asunto del asalto a Dines, y de que éste había hecho dos relaciones contradictorias de dicho asalto, llevado a cabo en presencia de Mabel Normand y Edna Purviance; y se suplica al juzgado en la referida declaración que se exija al corredor de Denver una finza de $10,000 para asegurar su comparecencia en el juzado en fecha posterior.

Esta declaración jurada del Fiscal vino a raíz de la predicción general de que el asalto a Dines y los incidentes con él relacionados serían cohonestados, que la acusación contra el chófer de la señorita Normand sería desechada, y todo el asunto quedaría sepultado en el olvido, sin llegar nunca al Jurado Superior. Vino la repetida declaración al terminar de prestar testimonio en su cama la señora Edith Burns, amiga confidencial de la Normand, y última testigo que había de ser oída, antes de sobreseer, según generalmente se creía, en la causa de Greer.

Chaplin no Demandará a Julian

La Batalla de Petroushka, entre Charles Spencer Chaplin y C. C. Julian, comensó ayer su curso descendente hacia el limbo de las contiendas olvidadas, pues el cómico de la pantalla manifestó que iba ya a desterrar ese asunto de su mente, en vez de llevar a los tribunales, como en un principio se dijo, al negociante de petróleo.

Dijo el señor Chaplin que estaba satisfecho ya, ahora que había sido publicada en los periódicos su versión del escándalo de café registrado la noche del domingo en el Club Petroushka, y que le complacía sobretodo la declaración dada por Nat Ariock, dueño del café, quien dijo que el señor Chaplin no había tenido culpa ninguna en el asunto; que el agresor había sido el señor Julian, y que el secretario de éste había pagado a nombre de su patrono, los perjuicios materiales ocasionados al establecimiento.

Beware the Cough or Cold That Hangs on

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—[Advertisement.

Prisoners Dig Through Snow to Warm Cell

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLORENCE (Ariz.) Jan. 23.—Five prisoners, just delivered at the State penitentiary, helped by hard work to make clear their path to comfortable cells. Under charge of Sheriff Dan Divelbiss and two deputies, they had been on the road from Holbrook for seventy hours of almost continuous travel, bucking deep snow for many miles on the Mogollon plateau beyond Pine. For fifty hours the party was without food or sleep, shoveling through deep drifts and building pine fires at intervals to keep themselves from freezing to death.

The officers are returning by way of Phoenix and Ash Fork, about twice the distance by the direct road.

ORATORS GIVEN CHANCE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Oratorical prizes aggregating more than $1400 for college students are offered by the National Transportation Institute, it is announced at headquarters of the Institute here. The prizes are for orations on a choice of six subjects connected with transportation, and are open to undergraduates of nineteen universities and colleges in the Middle West.

AGREEMENT ON NEW PIER NEAR

Santa Monica Commissioners and Manager Meet

Pleasure Company Officials Offer Proposition

Fireproof Construction Plan Being Offered

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 23.—Belief that an agreement will be reached in the course of the week between amusement capitalists and city officials is prevalent following a conference between George Cleveland, manager of the Ocean Park Pier Company; his attorney, John G. Harrah, and City Commissioners. The amusement men have offered a definite business proposition for the new pier on a basis which, it is believed, will be satisfactory to the public and the builders.

It was pointed out by the attorney that the company is ready to proceed at once with as near fireproof constructions as possible. Fire resisting material such as used in the construction of some theaters would be considered, commissioners were told. To build a solid concrete pier would not be practical from a financial standpoint, Harrah said.

SURFACE CONCRETE

The company proposes to lay a concrete surface for the entire pier, to protect it underneath with fire walls, and to give all buildings an outer coat of plaster that will greatly stay fire menace.

Mayor J. C. Steele informed Harrah that an application for the advertisement and sale of the pier franchise is required. Harrah responded that other piers were built under the terms of a lease with the city, but added that his company would consider either a lease or a franchise as was deemed best. Commissioners were informed that the operations of the pier company would be on a much larger and more advanced scale.

MAPS EXAMINED

The outcome of the conference was an agreement between Mayor Steele and Commissioner Helton, but Commissioner Morton is to be informed of the details of what the city and pier builders desire.

Following the adjournment of the Council, commissioners and amusement men began an examination of maps and various data in the hope of reaching a common ground of agreement.

The leases under which the Venice piers are operated, it is understood, pay the city $1000 per year. How much Santa Monica franchises pay was not made known in the Council session.

DIVORCE PLEA URGED

Wife Says Husband Married Her For Business Reasons

FRESNO, Jan. 23.— On the ground that her husband informed her that he married her "chiefly for business reasons," Mrs. Effie Lavena Harris has started divorce proceedings in Superior Court here against Howard A. Harris, a Fowler insurance agent.

Harris, his wife charges, told her that he made her his wife so that he could use her in his office work, and that he considered her a "good investment." He added, she charges, that he could not afford "a butterfly wife." Furthermore, she says, he has an ungovernable temper which he exercises on her.

Declaring that Harris has an independent income of $8000 a year, she asks $5000 permanent alimony, attorney's fees and costs, in addition to an interlocutory decree. They were married in Alameda last 1920 and separated in Fowler last August.

POMONA LIBRARY GIVEN BOOKS AS PRESENTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 23.—Pomona College library has acquired a number of interesting books. A gift from E. P. Clark of La Angeles, a member of the board of trustees, is a leaf of the Guteaberg Bible, printed between the years 1450 and 1455. This is published by Gabriel Wells of New York and with a bibliographical essay by A. Edward Newton, bound in blue morocco. Miss Aurelia Harwood of Upland has presented a set of Audubon and Bachman. This is a beautiful set, the drawings being reproduced in color and some of the animals being lifesize. The library is soon to acquire a large number of books on religious education and religion of E. St. Clair Smith of Eagle Rock.

WALNUT GROWERS CHOOSE OFFICERS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

EL MONTE, Jan. 23. — The El Monte Walnut Growers' Association has chosen officers for 1924 as follows:

President, T. H. Lambert; vice-president, E. D. McSweeney, secretary-manager, Frank Hayes assistant secretary-manager, E. A. Hayes; treasurer, First National Bank of El Monte.

The past season has been a most satisfactory one. Over 1000 tons of nuts were shipped from the El Monte packing-house and the returns to the growers in the district aggregated $356,000. This does not include the receipts from culls which if added would bring the total close to the $400,000 mark.

WATER HEAD ELECTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, Jan. 23.—William Rehrig will serve the Upland Foothill Water Company as its president during the ensuing year, it was announced this evening following the annual meeting of stockholders at the First National Bank. Other officers and directors elected were T. J. Cromer, vice-president; G. A. Hanson, general manager; Harlow S. Wilson, secretary; Wallace C. Taylor and G. S. Catudal.

SAN DIEGO ZOO IS SUED BY TRAINER

Former Director Says Society Caused Great Financial Loss

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 23.—Suit for $22,500 was started in Superior Court today by Frank H. Buck, former director of the San Diego zoo, against the Zoological Society and its president, Dr. Arthur Wegeforth. Of this amount Buck asks $12,5000 for salary due under his contract, and $10,000 for asserted damages to his animal business sustained in accepting the position here.

Buck testified that an offer of a three-year contract at $4000 salary the first year and $5000 a year thereafter, was made him by the society December 22, 1921.

He told of his connections with the New York Zoo in Bronx Park, of his frequent trips to Asia to trap or buy birds and animals, and of his traffic in them with circuses and menageries.

Buck said that on accepting the San Diego Zoo's offer) he closed out his orders and gave notice to patrons that he was going out of business as an animal broker. He then spent several thousand dollars settling in San Diego, he testified.

Buck's complaint charges that the grounds given by the board of zoo directors for his dismissal were "false and fraudulent and deliberately planned and concocted by Wegeforth."

HOSPITAL CHARGES ADMITTED

Fresno Institution Head Agrees With Report of Health Officer

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Jan. 23.—Conditions in the Fresno County General Hospital, criticised yesterday in a report to the Board of Supervisors by Dr. G. L. Long, county health officer, were admitted to be "terrible" in a statement today by Dr. Herbert O. Collins, director of the institution.

In his statement to the board yesterday Dr. Long charged that children and young girls are locked up with women of the underworld in the hospital, and added that two or three persons are kept in the County Jail in spaces large enough for only one.

Dr. Collins declared that he would ask the Supervisors to take immediate steps to remedy the situation, supplementing Dr. Long's request that the board furnish a separate quarantine ward for children and young girls at the hospital, and enlarge the "bull pen" in the County Jail.

Price of Bread Cut in War of Baking Houses

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 23.—A bread war between wholesalers today sent the price of "The Staff of Life" down to the lowest level since prewar days.

Wholesale prices of twenty-four-ounce loaves ranged from 6 to 9 cents. Until recently the price was 11 cents. One bread company was selling its product for 5 cents, while others held out for 8 and 9 cents. Bread at the wholesale price of 6 cents was termed "suicidal" by one baker, and he predicted the price would not long remain at the present low level.

ROAD AFFAIRS UP

Oxnard Judge Recently Returned From San Diego to Leave

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Jan. 23.—Judge C. J. Elliott of Oxnard, who returned from San Diego yesterday after doing work for the California State Highway Commission in connection with securing rights of way for new highways in San Diego county, will return to Los Angeles tomorrow, where he will work for the State on affairs of the highway from Girard to Camarillo.

The road from Girard to Camarillo is to be widened to twenty-fest and is to be repaved. Many of the curves, especially the curve at Calabasas, in Los Angeles county will be eliminated.

NEW REGIME OFFERED AT HUNTINGTON PARK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 23. As the city of Huntington Park has long ago outgrown the trustee board form of government the Trustees have decided that at an adjourned session next Monday night they will pass an ordinance to call an election on April 14, the date of the general city election. The matter to be voted on at that time, besides the election of four City Trustees, will be whether the city desires a City Manager. If it is decided to have a City Manager the form of government cannot be changed until after the next meeting of the Legislature.

WESTGATE SERVICE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAWTELLE, Jan. 23.—According to an announcement of Pacific Electric officials, service on the Westgate car line will be maintained. Rumors that the line is to be abandoned and a bus system installed were denied this morning by D. W. Pontius, general manager of the company.

COW TESTERS PICK OFFICERS

Corona Man Heads Riverside Association; Silver Cups Awarded in Contests

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 23.—With 300 dairymen present the annual meeting of the Riverside County Cow Testers' Association was opened at the Walter Dupee ranch near here today. Officers elected were W. F. Eldridge of Corona, president; W. P. Blodgett of San Jacinto, vice-president, and W. R. Elliott of Riverside and Clarence Grearty of Corona, directors; C. C. Clute of the Riverside Farm Bureau was appointed secretary.

Interest centered in the awarding of a number of silver cups for dairy herd competitions during the last year. The winners follow:

The Hemet-San Jacinto Chamber of Commerce cup for the best herd average was awarded to R. E. Babcock of Arlington. Babcock's herd average for 1923 was 414 pounds of butter fat.

The Board of Supervisors cup went to M. E. Goodreau of Arlington whose average was 476.

The County Farm Bureau cup went to W. F. Eldridge, Corona, with an average of 371 1-10.

Los Angeles Creamery cup, to C. W. Main, Corona, average 378 8-10.

For individual cows:

The Corona Chamber of Commerce cup was won by Paul Pierce of Beaumont with an average of 624 8-10.

Cow Testing Association directors' cup went to M. E. Goodreau, Arlington, average 485 8-10.

California Dairy Council cup to W. F. Eldridge, Corona.

Sperry Flour Company cup to M. F. Goodreau, Arlington.

The Corona Chamber of Commerce cup for the best grade cow in the Corona district was won by McCarty Brothers of Corona, average 614 8-10.

NOTABLES TO ATTEND EDUCATIONAL CAUCUS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 23.—It is estimated that from 400 to 500 educators will be in Pasadena for the Southern California conference, February 8 and 9 at which vital school problems are to be faced. Among them will be the responsibility of the public schools in the prevention of child delinquency. Prof. W. Hardin Hughes, director of educational research in local public schools and also president of the Southern California Educational Research Association, is in charge of arrangements for the extensive program which will include addresses by twenty authorities from various sections of the Coast.

Four retiring directors, K. E. Watson, George C. Sherwood, Dr. J. C. Crawford and Floyd Watson, were re-elected to serve for another term.

The annual secretary's report, showing a surprising gain in Y work in this district, was presented to the meeting by C. E. Morrow, local secretary.

SIGNALS DEMANDED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, Jan. 23. — The installation of wig-wag warning signals is embodied in a demand being formulated for submission to the State Railroad Commission as a protection to automobile traffic. Danger warnings are wanted at the Southern Pacific Sherman Way crossings, where autos, steam trains and trolley cars frequently meet and where accidents are frequent and near-accidents of almost hourly occurrence. Signals are also desired at the Ethel-street crossings. The request is being fathered by the Chamber of Commerce.

TRUCK DRIVER FINED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, Jan. 23.—E. H. Herzik was fined $150 today by Police Judge Crawford on a charge of reckless driving. Herzik was at the wheel of a truck when it struck a telephone pole and cut it off even with the ground.

LONG FAST PUTS MAN IN ASYLUM

Pipe-Fitter Drank Water Only in Forty-nine Days; Undressed on Street

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 23.—Carl H. Johnson, 29 years of age, Huntington Beach pipe-fitter, exponent of modern methods of dieting, was in Orange County Hospital today for mental observation after having completed a fast of forty-nine days.

Johnson abstained from food and drank only water, he said, to cure himself of a chronic ailment. Dr. R. E. Hawes, who treated him at Huntington Beach, where he resides, said Johnson had fasted forty-nine days, but Johnson maintained it was fifty-six. Huntington Beach officers said Johnson was taken to the hospital late last night after he had become irrational.

Despite his long fast, Johnson was able to leave his bed today and got out for a little air. Officers said he attempted to display his emaciated body by taking off his clothes in the street at Huntington Beach.

Hospital authorities said Johnson would be normal in a short time.

BOOST FOR Y.M.C.A.

Directors Re-elected at Annual Orange Meeting

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, Jan. 23.—The annual meeting of the Orange Y.M.C.A. was held at the Presbyterian Church last night, with a banquet as one of the features. More than 100 boosters were in attendance, listening to an address by H. O. Hill, State secretary, who detailed the growth of the Y movement, which he described as world-wide.

Four retiring directors, K. E. Watson, George C. Sherwood, Dr. J. C. Crawford and Floyd Watson, were re-elected to serve for another term.

The annual secretary's report, showing a surprising gain in Y work in this district, was presented to the meeting by C. E. Morrow, local secretary.

BIDS FOR VAN NUYS GYMNASIUM OPENED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, Jan. 23.—Work is to be started within ninety days on the new $50,000 gymnasium at the high school, bids for the work having been opened and now being under consideration by the Board of Education. The new structure will face Hamlin street, thus permitting the erection later of an auditorium as proposed on Cedros street, on that portion of the school grounds now occupied by the lawn tennis courts. The plan is to locate the agricultural and domestic science buildings on the present site of the athletic field.

PASADENA POETS PREPARE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 23.—Pasadena poets are all excited over being given the chance to become famous by writing a valentine sentiment regarding the Crown City of not more than eight lines to be used in connection with the advertising of 1924 jubilee year by the Chamber of Commerce committee. Beside the honor the winner is to receive a silver trophy so all the local bards are burning the midnight oil in an effort to pen the cleverest ditty.

VOTE LARGE BOND ISSUE TO SCHOOLS

Electors of San Diego Approve $1,250,000 for New Buildings

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan 23.—A proposed bond issue of $1,250,000 for the construction of much needed school buildings and facilities carried by a vote of better than 3-to-1, according to an official check today of the results of yesterday's election.

The total vote was the lightest ever cast here in a bond election. This was accounted for by the fact that approval of the bond issue was a foregone conclusion, due to a public demand for additional educational facilities.

Included in the projects called for under the bond issue are a Junior High School at Loma Portal, a grammar school in the Burlingame district, and an auditorium at the Senior High School with a seating capacity of 3000.

Construction of the buildings will be under way early this spring, school authorities said today.

ORANGE BANK ELECTS

First Commercial Will Occupy New Home Soon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, Jan. 23.—Holding its last annual meeting in the present quarters, the First Commercial Bank of Orange today was preparing to move into its new home in the Masonic block, where it will be open for business Saturday.

While the change is being made, however, the institution will continue to do business in its present quarters in the Jorn Building, where, late yesterday, the annual meeting was held, resulting in the election of officers and directors as follows.

THINK MISSING BOYS HEADED FOR PLAINS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 23.—Two missing Pasadena boys are being sought before they get out of California on their way to the "land of cowboys" which, it is believed by their parents, wild tales of the plains have inspired them to seek. They are Waldeman Gustafson and Bob Chumbley, both 15 years of age, who ran away from their home at 720 East Mountain street last night. H. E. Gustafson, father of one of the missing adventure seekers, told local police today that they had very little money and only an extra shirt apiece as their baggage. They both weigh 125 pounds, are five feet four or five inches tall and have dark complexions.

PICKPOCKET SUSPECT BOUND OVER FOR TRIAL

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Jan. 23.—Frankie Miller, asserted pickpocket, accused of having robbed T. M. Whiting of Long Beach during Yuletide festivities on the Venice pier, was given a preliminary hearing before Police Judge Willard yesterday. The accused, who was represented by Attorney Walter Rennie, entered a plea of not guilty, and was bound over by Judge Willard on a charge of grand larceny under cash bail of $1000.

Admits Hitting Man He Accuses of Shooting Him

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Jan. 23.—The preliminary hearing of Wallace W. Brown of 721 West California street, will be continued Wednesday morning. Brown, according to the prosecution shot J. M. Barnett of 110 East Fifty-fifth street, Los Angeles, shortly after midnight last Thanksgiving.

Barnett admitted today on the witness stand that he struck the first blow preceding the shooting. He testified that while seated in his car in front of the home of L. Wilson, 325 North Concord street, Glendale, he saw Brown cross the street coming toward his car and he got out and took a poke at him. He denied that he had honked his horn more than five or six times or that he had had anything to drink. He said that prior to Brown coming up to his car all of the talking had been by Brown. After striking the first blow which was glancing he stated that Brown drew his revelover and fired, the bullet, lodging in his spine. Barnett was in a serious condition for more than a week and is suffering from a partial paralysis caused by the injury.

Dr. C. F. Tuomy, who attended Barnett, stated that as far as he could determine, Barnett had not been drinking.

CASE IS UNUSUAL

Woman Auto Driver Takes Full Blame for Accident

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 23.—No motorcycle officer in Orange county has ever found a woman like Mrs. Blanch M. Pickarts, 2938 East Fourteenth street, Los Angeles, before. Mrs. Pickarts today admitted she was wrong, that an automobile accident had been caused by her.

Mrs. Pickarts didn't "pass the buck" or offer excuses. "It was my fault" she told Sheriff Sam Jernigan which caused that official to remark: "Never heard of such a case before."

The accident took place near Laguna Beach. In attempting to pass another car Mrs. Pickarts got off the road. Unable to get her car back she crashed into a truck driven by J. J. Bartlett of Laguna Beach, who was coming in the opposite direction.

PISTON COMPANY TO BUILD IN BURBANK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, Jan. 23.—Announcement is made by the Clark-Turner Piston Company of Los Angeles of decision by the officials to locate its factory in Burbank. This decision was reached following a $200,000 fire loss to the company's plant in Los Angeles. The factory here will be located on a three-acre site on Olive avenue, in the Fawkes tract, where twelve lots have been acquired. Building operations are expected to be commenced within a week. The factory building will be 250 feet in length and fifty feet wide. At the outset fifty hands will be employed, but the expectation is to increase this number to at least 200 just as soon as the complete machinery can be installed.

REALTY MAN TO SPEAK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Jan. 23.—William E. Herren, field secretary of the National Real Estate Association, is to address a joint luncheon meeting of the Ontario and Upland realty boards to be held at the Hotpoint Club Thursday noon, according to announcement today by James R. Austin, secretary of the Ontario board. Mr. Herren is to talk on board work, multiple listings and appraisals. Glenn D. Williaman, secetary of the California Real Estate Association, will also be a special guest at the meeting.

TRAIN HITS ANGELENO TRUCKMAN

Machine Overturned but Man Lives; Other Auto Accidents at Pasadena

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 23.—In the most serious of three traffic accidents yesterday W. G. Galvin, 154 West Vernon avenue Los Angeles, narrowly escaped death when the five-ton truck driven by him was struck and overturned by a westbound train in Lamanda Park.

Apparently not hearing the wigwag bell, according to witnesses, Galvin started across the right of way and was almost clear of the track when struck by the train. He is a patient now at the Golden State Hospital, suffering from injuries to his back.

A. L. Davis of 191 North Pasadena avenue, was injured when the light truck he was driving overturned in Eagle Rock, the accident resulting in a possible fracture of his right shoulder.

In an unusual accident Gregorio Casas, a 2-year-old child, was hurt by a tire that came off the machine driven by J. B. Zimmerman. The child was treated at the Emergency Hospital.

VALUE OF HYPERION LEASE UP

Real Estate Men Estimate Figure Thousand Per Cent Higher Than City

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HERMOSA BEACH, Jan. 23.—The lease value of the 300 feet of ocean frontage at Hyperion, which the Los Angeles City Council plans to let for fifteen years for a sum of $6700 to Titus Alexander, negro politician, has been placed at from $140,000 to $175,000 by three prominent realty men of Hermosa who signed affidavits to this effect yesterday. The affidavits were made at the suggestion of William Himrod, Los Angeles attorney, and Secretary Tanner of the Hermosa Chamber of Commerce.

Himrod, who represents interests attempting to prevent the lease, declared he plans to use the affidavits as testimony at the hearing on the temporary restraining order before the Superior Court Friday. The feeling against the lease for resort purposes is strong in Hermosa and El Segundo, which are said to be the only towns in the south bay district to have taken any action against it.

The real estate man who placed the valuation on the lease for resort purposes when the territory is made clean from the present Hyperion nuisance, were A. A. Snider, Ira Hagenbuch and Morris Woodland.

BANKER TO SPEAK

Analysis Shows How San Joaquin Arrearage Proposition Works; Business Proceeds Normally

The recent proposition made by the directorate of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation which provides for a dividend of $4.50 per share on preferred stock and an increase in the annual dividend rate on the outstanding shares of preferred from 6 per cent to 7 per cent, as consideration for the surrender by the holders of such outstanding stock of all their claims to the balance of overdue dividends amounting to $13 per share, has aroused a great deal of interest, not only among the shareholders, but throughout the financial district.

It being apparent that some misapprehension existed as to just how the proposition would work, Frank L. Gardner, manager of the stock department, Banks, Huntley & Co., was asked to make a common-sense analysis with a view to finding out how the proposal would benefit both the stockholder and the company. Under Mr. Gardner's analysis the proposition is found to be more attractive than appears to have been generally realized.

"It would afford the corporation relief," he says, "from an obligation to pay practically three years' accumulated dividends for the period from March 31, 1914, to May 30, 1917, on the 6 per cent regular preferred stock.

"Recent earnings reports indicate that the corporation is in a position to liquidate this dividend arrearage in its entirety. However, the company's expansion program calls for large outlays of cash, necessitating the issuance of additional unifying and refunding mortgage bonds.

"Therefore, viewing the matter from a strictly business standpoint, the disbursement at this time of $1,137,500 in full dividend arrearages would hardly be deemed consistent with a sound business policy.

"On the other hand, the plan submitted would require a present cash outlay of only $299,500. It would entail also an annual obligation of $405,000, over and above the present annual requirement for preferred dividends.

"So much for the corporation's end of the deal.

THE INVESTMENT END

"Now let it be assumed that, approved by the Railroad Commission and by the holders of two-thirds of the outstanding stock, the plan is declared operative. How does the preferred stockholder fare?

"He owns a second preferred stock in a prosperous public utility, paying 7 per cent dividends and worth, when compared with securities rated equally, about $82 per share—a basis to yield 7.65 per cent. The value is increased to $96.50 per share by addition of the $4.50 cash distribution.

"On the reverse side of the picture, let us assume that the plan does not become operative. The stockholder receives $17.50 per share in cash on account of accumulated dividends (probably distributed over a period of two or three years, it is important to note) and he retains a 6 per cent second preferred stock that is worth, on the same yield basis of 7.60 per cent, only $79.

"Parenthetically, it may be pointed out that the difference in market value between any two stocks paying respectively 6 and 7 per cent will ordinarily approximate $13.

SUMMARY

"To sum up:

"(1.) Under the plan of the directors, the stockholder would relieve his own corporation of a considerable financial burden at a time when it needs cash and is issuing bonds. For, to revert again to Mr. Kerckhoff's letter, the corporation's surplus, although substantial, "is not held in cash," the growth of the business having "made it necessary to invest this money in property or to use it as working capital."

"(2.) The stockholder would substantially benefit from the plan. He would have $4.50 cash dividend arrears, a security valued at $82 and a 1 per cent per annum permanent increase in income, as against a $17.50 dividend arrearage credit (to be met on a date or dates unknown.) a security valued at $79 and no increase in annual income.

"Before sending in their proxies, it behooves the preferred stockholders very seriously to consider these aspects of the case."

The proposition has been submitted to the California Railroad Commission, and, if approved by that regulatory body, will be offered to the preferred stockholders.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Business forecasters are not altogether in agreement as to the date when active recovery in trade may be expected, but as John E. Clews sees it, in his current review of the financial situation, they are practically unanimous in thinking that spring business will be in good volume and likely to afford a profitable basis for operations.

Steel is still showing an increasing volume of orders, with every reason to expect continuation of equipment and automobile demands. Copper has suffered this month from the heavy output of December, but it is explained that December is usually a month in which a good deal of partially manufactured product is cleaned up. Copper shares have held their own well, in spite of less favorable statistical conditions.

In oil, the improving price of the crude material and the moderate decline in output have tended to help stock market conditions, so that most shares are better off then they were before the turn of the year.

The business community at large has received with favor the preliminary arrangements made by our commissioners in Paris, and particularly their demand that effort be definitely made to restore the productive power of Germany, and to stabilize her currency as a fundamental proposition. Disclaimers from Washington, repeating that the administration has no responsibility for what the delegates do, are necessarily accepted with some grains of salt, the fact that our administrative leaders had lengthy conferences with the commissioners before they left this country undoubtedly influencing the general trend of public opinion on this subject.

Many people are still holding to a waiting attitude before making new commitments; but, on the other hand, those now holding shares show little disposition to part with them and this accounts for the easy manner in which prices recover when the selling movement abates.

YOUR INCOME TAX

(Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.)

Many of the administrative provisions of the Revenue Act of 1921 relate to final determination of tax liability. Probably no single cause for dissatisfaction with the administration of the law is greater than that which relates to the reopening of cases long supposed closed. Along these lines it is interesting to note that in the last year a ruling was handed down to the effect that when a taxpayer voluntarily files an amended return that act on his part is considered equivalent to the signing of a waiver of the statutory period within which taxes may be assessed.

The present law allows the Commissioner of Internal Revenue five years within which to make an assessment of taxes shown due upon the filing of any return. He has, accordingly, held that when one files an amended return a new five-year period starts. If, therefore, you are now having your 1918 return examined and it is apparent that there is due from you an additional tax, it is much wiser to consent to the assessment of the tax than to file an amended return showing the tax to be due.

If you allow the commissioner to make the assessment on the basis of an office audit or a field examination you have by thereby extended the time within which additional income-tax assessments can be made against you for 1918. If you sign such an amended return the commissioner may, if he sees fit, keep the case open for a still further period of five years from the date of filing that return.

It has also been held that in cases where delinquent returns are filed and the total tax is paid at the time of filing and return the penalty of 5 per cent and interest at the rate of 1 per cent per month do not apply, but if there was no reasonable cause for delinquency a 25 per cent penalty may properly be added.

Another ruling along this line is that where an amended return showing additional tax liability has been filed no interest on the additional tax will be collected unless ten days after notice and demand by the collector the amount of the additional tax assessed has not been paid. The only exception to be noted in this case is where there has been a real neglect on the part of the taxpayer, or his intent to defraud the government.

The tax law itself provides in Section 1313 that taxpayers, under certain circumstances, have a right to enter into an agreement with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that their tax case shall not be reopened except upon a showing of fraud or misrepresentation of fact materially affecting the assessment made.

In the exercise of the authority vested in him for promulgating regulations the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has prescribed in Treasury Decision 3240 the circumstances under which permission will be granted for the reopening of cases by the taxpayer which have been closed by the office of the commissioner.

In other words, if during 1922 a taxpayer had bought a bond of the X Company at 82, and instead of selling it later in the year at 91 had exchanged it for another bond which at that time was being brought out by the Y Company at 91, he would have realized no taxable gain, but the cost to him of the X Company bond would be held to be the price he paid for the X company bond in determining future gains or losses. The amendment would make it effective that if the exchange or sale of the X Company bond had occurred in 1923 at 91 there would have been realized a taxable gain of fifteen points and that the cost of the Y bond would be the actual cost price of 91 in measuring future gains or losses.

The amendment does not, however, in any way change the old provision of the Revenue Act of 1921, which related to exchanges of personal property or real estate

STEADY BUYING SENDS COTTON CONTRACTS UP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Cotton futures last advanced sharply under heavy buying today. The market showed a steady undertone from the outset, advancing some 15 to 25 points under scattered trade and Liverpool buying after absorbing scattered selling on the call. Recent bear operators also bought moderately for the purpose of covering their shorts, but on the advance the market encountered further heavy realizing and a slight reaction followed.

After displaying a halting tendency in the early afternoon the list advanced sharply under heavy buying by New Orleans interests, local operators and brokers who usually act for Liverpool buyers, but slipped back 10 to 20 points from the day's high in the last hour and closed 43 to 74 points net higher.

Spot was steady, 75 points advance, 24 cents for middling.

Southern spot: Galveston, 23.95, 75 points advance; New Orleans, 24, 62 points advance; Savannah, 23.47, 57 points advance; Augusta, 23.65, 48 points advance; Memphis, 23.75, unchanged; Houston, 24, 90 points advance; Little Rock, 23.75, 50 points advance.

7% Second Preferred Stock (Par Value $100)	2,500,000	2,393,800
Common Stock (without par value)	100,000 (shares)	100,000 (shares)

From the letter of Mr. Charles H. Barker, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company, we summarize as follows:

BUSINESS—Founded in 1880 by O. T. Barker with an invested capital of $9,000. The business has had a steady growth from a one room store to the largest retail home and office furnishing institution in the United States, doing a business substantially in excess of $1,000,000 a month. Today the Company occupies 19½ acres of floor space with approximately 1,700 employees. It supplies practically everything for the equipment and maintenance of homes, hotels, public buildings and offices.

MANAGEMENT—The present management, composed of a son and grandsons of the founder of the business, will continue in the active management of the Company. Mr. Henry M. McKee, long prominent in banking circles in California, has been recently made president and chief executive of the corporation.

SALES AND PROFITS—As certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company, for the five calendar years ended December 31, 1923, the annual net sales and profits were as follows:

	Net Sales	Net Profits After Interest, Depreciation and Federal Taxes
1919	$ 6,739,940	$ 778,990
1920	11,040,000	854,770
1921	10,467,000	598,640
1922	11,966,000	1,211,160
1923	15,687,000	1,921,530

The net sales for the year ended December 31, 1923, amounted to $15,687,000.00, or over 15 times the average merchandise inventory during that period.

Net profits for the same period (after deducting estimated Federal Taxes) amounted to $1,921,530, equivalent to over 10 times the dividend requirements of $2,500,000 First Preferred Stock.

The average annual net profits for the five years ended December 31, 1923, computed on the basis of 1923 Federal Tax rate, would have been over 5½ times the annual dividend requirements on this stock.

In no year since its inception has the business of Barker Bros. failed to show a profit.

SINKING FUND—Commencing July 1, 1924, and on each January 1 and July 1 thereafter, the Company will provide a sinking fund of not less than 2½% of the maximum amount of First Preferred Stock previously issued which will be used for the redemption at this date at 107 and accrued dividends if not purchasable below this price.

All legal details in connection with this issue will be passed upon by Messrs. Musick, Burr & Pinney, Los Angeles, for the Company; Messrs. Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, Los Angeles, and Messrs. Roberts and Mongan, New York, for the bankers.

It is expected that delivery of this stock will be made on or about February 11, 1924.

We offer this stock, if, as and when issued and received by us and subject to the approval of our counsel.

An Exceptional First Mortgage Bond

GILBERT F. STEVENSON MIRAMAR IMPROVEMENT First Mortgage 7% Serial Gold Bonds, due 1931-1935, are secured by First Mortgage upon the Miramar Hotel property, Santa Monica, including land (owned in fee.) present buildings and a new 6-story Class "A" addition being erected from the proceeds of this issue.

The total appraised value of the security is $1,185,000—amounting to $2,375 for each $1000 bond.

The entire property has been leased for a period extending beyond the life of these bonds at a rental which provides an annual income in excess of three times the maximum interest requirements—providing ample margin to meet the serial maturities of principal.

We believe these bonds offer an exceptionally desirable First Mortgage investment, yielding 7% income. Exempt from California Personal Property Tax.

Importance of Los Angeles is Being Recognized

School Savings Expand; New Issue of Preferred

Los Angeles as a live-stock market is assuming larger proportions in the eyes of the more important shippers in the Western States. W. T. Treleaven, general live-stock agent for the Santa Fe system, declared yesterday upon his arrival here on a trip of inspection through the cattle-raising regions of the West. He found many of the big producers, who formerly sold exclusively on the Chicago and Kansas City markets, are anxious to route some of the large shipments this way, and are ready to conclude negotiations for cars and feeding arrangements.

This market, Mr. Treleaven said, is the largest on the Pacific Coast and will probably register a considerable increase because of the influx of new population. The railroads are bringing cattle, sheep and hogs from several States to meet the demand here, and are doing an especially heavy business in the transportation of hogs. The Santa Fe, according to Mr. Treleaven, brings hogs from such large markets as Kansas City and St. Joseph, principally because Los Angeles is known as a "pig market," or where swine weighing between 175 and 200 pounds are popular with the packers desiring the utmost efficiency in their slaughtering operations.

To transport stock here during the hot months the Santa Fe has adopted the unique practice of icing the live-stock cars. The company operates large numbers of refrigerator cars for the shipment of perishable products, but never considered the possibility until recently of icing live-stock shipments. By experimenting it has been discovered that sacks of ice hung in the cars where the water can drip on the pigs brings the shipments through in excellent condition and with a minimum of loss.

The Santa Fe live-stock expert is unable to predict any great variation in live-stock prices this year unless the European buyers are able to enter the market or domestic shipments decline. In his opinion the American producers will market about the same number this season, even though some well-known authorities have stated that sales of cattle will decrease because of the heavy marketing of cows and calves in the past year. The Santa Fe's field reports from its travelling agents indicate, on the contrary, that the cows sold in 1923 had largely outlived their usefulness for breeding purposes and were shipped only because the ranchers were in need of money to take care of bank indebtedness.

Mr. Treleaven believes that the financial situation in the live-stock industry is improving. The banks are adopting a more lenient attitude toward the borrowers on cattle paper as the result of easier credit conditions in the larger money centers, and a more general tendency to assist the live-stock raiser over the hard bumps until the market has substantially recovered.

Texas, in his opinion, is the cattle State in the best feeding condition at this time. Rains have been frequent and feed is plenty. The reverse holds in California where dry conditions are forcing cattlemen to seriously consider shipping out of the State to fatten their stock.

SCHOOL SAVINGS

School children in Los Angeles have 37,176 savings accounts in the banks representing $389,454.82, or an average of $10.48 per account. This is the statement of the Los Angeles Banks' School Savings Association as of January 1, 1924, as compiled by A. J. Gray, supervisor.

On June 22, 1923, the school children had 30,921 accounts totaling $323,541.55. By November these figures had increased to 33,716 accounts and $323,184.40.

According to the detailed statement, the California Bank holds the larger number of the accounts with 13,847 amounting to $99,816.32. The Security Trust and Savings Bank is second with $88,120.51 and the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings third with $55,296.29.

BARKER BROTHERS' STOCK

A syndicate composed of Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co., Hunter, Dulin & Co., and Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., is offering $2,500,000 Barker Brothers, Inc., 7½ per cent cumulative first preferred stock, at 100 and accrued dividends to yield 7.50 per cent.

The business of Barker Brothers was founded in 1880 and has now become the largest retail home and office furnishing institution in the United States, and under expansion plans recently announced by President Henry S. McKee, the business will be further enlarged through the present financing.

Net sales are at the rate of over $1,000,000 per month, and for 1923 were $15,647,000, or over six times the average merchandise inventory during that period. Net profits for the same period, after deducting estimated Federal income taxes, amounted to $1,909,703, which is equivalent to over ten times dividend requirements on the $2,500,000 first preferred stock. Officers of the company state that in no year since its inception has the business failed to earn a profit.

Proceeds from the sale of the 7½ per cent first preferred will be devoted to the retirement of the outstanding 8 per cent preferred stock and to acquire a portion of the holdings of C. Lawrence Barker, vice-president, who, however, will continue to retain a substantial interest in the business and his office of vice-president. A sinking fund beginning operations July 1, 1924, will gradually redeem the new first preferred.

TO DOUBLE TRACK

R. B. Ball, chief engineer of the Santa Fe, yesterday received authorization from Chicago to begin work on double tracking forty-three miles of line across the San Bernardino Mountains between Summit and Hicks. The project includes the building of six miles of new roadbead and the total cost will approximate $2,500,000. When the work is completed, the traffic to and from this city will move much faster, since the Union Pacific uses a portion of this line jointly with the Santa Fe.

Less than 100 miles of the Santa Fe system between Los Angeles and Chicago remain to be double tracked after the San Bernardino Mountain work is finished.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS

"The astounding increase in the value of manufactured goods, building activity and bank resources should convince the most skeptical of the industrial growth and importance of Los Angeles," yesterday asserted Fred Dohrman, vice-president of the Dohrman Commercial Company, who is in Los Angeles looking after the interests of his company and observing the activities of the California Development Association here, of which he is chairman of the membership advisory board.

"Industries are like orchards; they have to be fostered, cared for and encouraged until they have reached a sound basis," Mr. Dohrman said in commenting upon the potential industrial growth of Southern California. "But once they bear fruit and become profitable they are the source of wealth and prosperity of the community. The potential wealth of Southern California outshadows that of any other section of equal area in the world. These industrial resources are rapidly being developed, which development offers every one opportunity to earn a good living and to advance and prosper in proportion to their ability, energy and ambition.

"Southern California is becoming great because of her huge industrial development. In California we have 4,000,000 people and room for 30,000,000 people without crowding or destruction of our ideal of living."

NEW YORK CURB

Spot on Industrials

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Speculative interest in today's irregular curb market shifted to the industrial list which developed several strong spots. Glen Alden coal was the individual feature, being pushed up nearly 4 points to 85¼, a new high record, on unconfirmed rumors that the stock would soon be placed on a $4 dividend basis.

New high records also were established by Ward Baking Corporation A, at 72; the B at 23¾ and Bridgeport Machinery at 11¾, buying of all three being inspired by reports of higher earnings. Gillette Safety Razors dropped about 3 points on profit taking. Ford Motors of Canada jumped 7 points to 439.

Oils were reactionary, Standard Oil of Nebraska dropping 9 points.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb market, furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 638 South Spring street.

GOVERNMENT RELEASES LATE COTTON GINNINGS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Cotton ginned prior to January 16 amounted to 9,946,462 running bales, including 526,881 round bales counted as half bales; 39,181 bales of American-Egyptian bales of Sea Island, the Census Bureau announced today.

To that date last year, ginnings amounted to 9,642,581 running bales, including 168,438 round bales counted as half bales, 38,947 bales of American-Egyptian and 5074 bales of Sea Island.

Ginnings to January 16 this year by states include: Arizona 68,073; California 48,134; and Texas 4,120,753.

The revised total of cotton ginned this season to January 1 was announced as 9,811,603 bales with 15,389 ginneries being operated prior to that date.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Buying in Liberties

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Pronounced strength of Liberty bonds, with the prices of several issues reaching new high levels for the year and continued improvement in traction issues, carried the general price trend of bonds upward today, despite speculative selling of oil-company liens on prospects of naval-lease cancellations.

The advance in government issues was accomplished with little, if any, British buying, but the rise was attributed partially to reports that the Federal Reserve Board would buy large blocks of these bonds. The price movement in the railroad issues was mixed, with St. Paul bonds giving evidence of steadying after their recent decline.

Favorable trade reports sent industrial issues to higher ground, with advances in Anaconda and other copper bonds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Following are closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, 639 South Spring street.

Federally Supervised

JOINT Stock Land Banks are chartered by and under the supervision of the Federal Farm Loan Board—a Bureau of the United States Treasury Department.

The bonds of Joint Stock Land Banks offer many advantages. They are the only bonds excepting Government which have security outside of California and are exempt from both the Personal Property and Federal Income Taxes.

Full supervision over Joint Stock Land Banks by the Federal Farm Loan Board at Washington, along with restrictions covering the issuance of bonds, afford exceptional elements of safety.

Joint Stock Land Bank Bonds are nationally distributed and enjoy a splendid degree of marketability.

These bonds should be better known by a larger number of investors and their investment merits more thoroughly appreciated.

A booklet giving some of the facts about Joint Stock Land Banks and their bonds will be gladly forwarded upon request—no obligation is incurred.

The value of Moody's Ratings is best indicated by the renewals which we receive for Moody's Rating Books—year after year—from individuals, banks, insurance companies and financial institutions throughout the United States and Canada.

We rate securities with but one thought in mind—to accurately portray their relative investment values. We realize the responsibility of this task and therefore spare no effort or expense in endeavoring to arrive at sound conclusions.

Do you know how your investments are rated?

We shall gladly send copies of our booklets explaining Moody's Ratings to those interested.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Buying of Union Oil and Union Oil Associates rights yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange forced the prices to new levels, the privileges to buy the stock of the Union Oil Company selling at 90 cents and those to buy Union Oil Associates getting up to 41. The stocks of both companies were correspondingly strong.

Globe Petroleum reversed its trend of the past few days, and broke 4 cents to 13 1-2. Shell Union moved up 1-8 to 17 1-8 with United Oil advancing the same amount to 26 3-4. Standard of California climbed 1-2 to 45, while General Petroleum dropped behind 1-8 of a point to 39 1-4. Associated Oil also slid to 31 3-4, off 5-8 of a point.

In the industrial group, Los Angeles Investment moved forward 2 cents to 2.02. Bank of America shares were taken at 134.

Buying of Pacific Gas and Electric 5s of 1953 caused a gain of 3-4 to 96. San Diego Gas and Electric 5s of 1939 were up 1-2 at 93 3-4, and the Union Oil 5s of 1926 scored a gain of 1-8 at 99 3-4.

Two Profits From One Investment

YOUR money invested in Suncrush stock does double duty—it works for you two ways. The cumulative preferred stock pays you an assured dependable return of 8% on your entire investment. The common stock gives you full participation in the immense profits of this industry. The preferred has a par value of $10. The common is offered as a bonus with each two shares of preferred—at $20 for the group of three shares.

Naturally when you make an investment your first concern is for the security of your principal—the soundness and permanence of the industry to which you are entrusting your funds. After security of principal, your chief interest is in the profit possibilities of the investment.

The present offering of Suncrush stock meets these two requirements in a most unusual way. The correctness of the Suncrush process of crushing and bottling the pure juices of California oranges and lemons, has been proved in every conceivable use. The overwhelming, widespread demand for its products insures the permanence and success of the California Crushed Fruit Corporation, originators and exclusive owners of the Suncrush process. More than a million dollars worth of Suncrush products was sold at retail during 1923. Additional financing is now being secured to permit of volume production and nation-wide distribution.

The Facts about Suncrush present an extraordinary combination of profit with safety. Your name written in the margin of this ad and mailed to our city office will bring these Facts to your attention without obligation.

Organizing a Company?

The success of your financing and the progress of your business depend largely upon the form of your organization. Whether your Company should be a corporation, or a "common law" company; its capitalization; kind of shares, negotiations for permit to sell securities, etc., are matters concerning which organization specialists may render valuable aid. Your organization matters can be promptly and efficiently handled through this office, all legal work being supervised by a staff of organization attorneys of many years' experience.

Capital for Financing

Have you an organized Company that you desire to quickly finance? Our financing service includes details of presenting company stock or shares to Los Angeles investors. Every new project cannot succeed by this or any other plan, but if your proposition is meritorious you can expect quickest and surest returns only when your investment offer is presented to selected known investors and "followed up" by personal salesmen under direction of our Sales Manager.

Before organizing your company or deciding your financing plans, you are invited to consult with us personally. Many years in Los Angeles and many pleased clients attest to the satisfaction of our services. Call, phone or write.

GROWTH OF THE SAVINGS BANKS

Sectional Meetings Arranged for Co-operation

Industrial Development is Back of Movement

Federal Reserve Notes Are Balanced by Gold

BY ARTHUR D. WELTON
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The savings bank division of the American Bankers' Association is planning four sectional conferences, one each in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and New Orleans. The one for Chicago includes the savings banks in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and the Dakotas. It is scheduled for March 19 and 20. In the States mentioned there are over 12,000 banks. The majority of them have savings departments or affiliated savings banks; few of them are given over entirely to savings business, and there are only three or four mutual savings banks among them.

Mutual savings banks, having no capital stock, are the predominant institutions for savings in the East, indeed, in New York, the law forbids other banks to use the word savings. It is only recently that the national banks and trust companies there have established savings departments under various ingenious titles.

This predominance of the mutual savings bank in the East is perhaps one of the reasons why the savings division of the American Bankers' Association has devoted so much of its time and energy to their affairs. They are exclusively savings banks. The western and southern banks have other interests.

The rapid growth of savings in the stock banks has made them feel the need for a broader interchange of ideas and better facilities for the compiling of statistical information. However, for these or other reasons the conferences mention have been planned. It is expected that the one in Chicago will bring together at least 1000 men whose time and attention is given exclusively to the conduct of savings banks and the development of that business.

Of the possibilities of such development there is no doubt. Nor is there doubt that larger savings deposits would be of vast benefit to business and society. It has been said that if the savings deposits in all the banks of Chicago were, by some miracle, doubled in a day, the potential capacity of the people to save would not have been materially diminished.

Savings, however, is generally developed only in the cities of the West. It is a manifestation of industrial activity. In the smaller cities and towns savings banking has been growing rapidly, but there is great opportunity for it in the small banks which serve the farming communities.

One of the purposes of these sectional meetings will be to arouse the interest of the smaller country banks to the importance of stimulating thrift. It would be profitable to them, beneficial to their communities and eventually of vast benefit to the whole country. Anything that increases the capital resources of the country is of the widest advantage to business and industry. But more important, still, is the influence that savings exerts to improve the character of citizens and individual happiness and success.

GOLD RESERVE AMPLE

It is perhaps only a matter of accounting, but the Federal Reserve Board's segregation into a separate item of all the gold in the hands of the Federal reserve agents and in the redemption fund of the Treasury as a reserve against outstanding Federal reserve notes is a step forward. There is an immediate segregation of $3,177,679,000 of gold against $2,944,000,000 of notes so that the gold coverage exceeds 100 per cent. The remaining gold is held as a reserve against deposits and the coverage here exceeds 50 per cent which is more than ample. Reserve notes are now fully equal to gold and, under the circumstances, they should be.

This, of course, adds nothing to the security of the notes in a practical way. It is all merely emphatic of monetary soundness and means that the gold could be substituted for the notes if there were any valid reason for it.

The reserve banks have not yet shown that they could meet a demand for contraction. They probably can and this shift in policy is an evidence of it. Reserve notes are distinctly the money of business. They were intended to be. During the war when the latent credit resources of the nation were tapped and billions of bonds were brought into existence, the intended plans were necessarily cast aside. The bonds had the same standing in the reserve system as eligible commercial paper. They were accepted as collateral and Federal reserve notes were issued against them. Thus, necessity drove the reserve banks into issuing notes against government bonds and bond-secured currency was one of the things the Reserve Act was designed to abolish. Except as it affected the real elasticity of the currency or reserve notes as the chief element in the currency, it was of interest rather than importance. But a currency, as near perfect elasticity as possible is no less desirable now than ten or twenty years ago. Government bonds are still good collateral at the reserve banks, but if the reserve board will hold an approximate 100 per cent coverage in gold against reserve notes, this currency element will be elastic because gold is a perfectly elastic medium when it is in circulation as either gold or notes.

LOS ANGELES CLOSE

CATTLE—Receipts 300. Moderate receipts acted as a tonic to demand and while the release was somewhat uneven there were instances cited on both beef steers and cho stock that showed a degree of strength from the previous day. Interest continued to center on the better grades of beef steers and slaughter cows and heifers, while it was the same old story on medium and common grades, these having to be peddled out and no improvement shown. Best steers of hand today was a load of hay-fed Californias averaging 990 pounds that cleared at 8.00, and two load lot heavier steers but lacking finish noted at 8.25. Five head of heavy fat cows made a top of 7.40 while a load lot of Colorado fed heifers cleared at 6.90, with bulk of slaughter cows and heifers clearing at a spread of 6.25@6.50; canners and cutters on down to 2.00. Bulls ruled active, fully steady, one load bolognas made 4.00 while a few individual beef bulls ranged upward to 5.00.

CALVES—Market continued draggy with prices about steady at recent declines; few sales of medium quality Arizona calves was noted at 7.00 with few hand picked light calves up to 8.00 and a little above.

HOGS—Receipts 700. Steady prices ruled in the hog division. Butcher hogs 150 to 210 pounds average sold from 7.75@8.00, latter price top, with packing sows largely 6.25@6.50.

SHEEP—None. Market nominal.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The announcement of shipments of new crop California spinach next week was a feature in the canned goods situation today. It is understood that new prices will be $4.75 for tens; $1.40 for 2 1-2s f.o.b. California packing plant. Firmness continues in tomatoes, corn and peas although only small lots changed hands. Fancy gallon Kiefer pears were advanced to the extent of 25 cents a dozen to a basis of $6.10 for No. 10s.

Demand for pink salmon is reported good at prices ranging from $1.35 to $1.37 1-2 from warehouses N.Y. while red Alaskas are selling at $2.40 from warehouse N. Y. The pack of Columbia river salmon it is understood was the shortest in a period of seven years past. Prices for the latter now range from $3.40 to $3.65 from warehouse New York.

SARDINES

The Maine pack of sardines is reported as short which has led to a firm market position here, prices listing from $5 for quarter oil keyless; $5.50 quarter oil with key; $6 with key in cartons.

A decided increase in the movement of apricots is reported by the California Prune and Apricot Association on the new 9c basis for growers' brand. Sunsweet brand choice at 12c; extra choice at 14c; fancy at 18c and extra fancy at 20c, f.o.b. shipping point are maintained notwithstanding that growers brand sell at 1c less. The independents are quoting 11 1-2c for 40-50s and 9 1-4 for 50-60 new crop prunes New York at the dock.

The Valencia almond spot market is not in accord with the prices prevailing in Spain. Growers are asking firm prices. The markets for California walnuts is reported showing firmer tendencies and but few of these nuts are obtainable.

RIPE OLIVES

A good inquiry has been in evidence for new crop canned ripe olives.

Florida oranges were higher, advancing 25 to 35c a box. Sales of Florida oranges were 8905 boxes, prices ranging from $1.50 to $5.37½, the average price being $2.50 to $4.

There were 325 crates of Havana pineapples sold at prices ranging from $2.62 to $3.75, the average price being $3 to $3.25. Porto Rico pineapples $3.50 to $6.50, the average price being $5.25 to $6.75. Costa Rica pineapples ranged in price from $2 to $3.75, the average price being $3 to $3.25.

STRAWBERRIES

The market for strawberries was less active and Florida 32-quart boxes average about 32 to 35c with commission houses selling from 37 to 40c.

The olive oil market in Italy, Spain and France is undergoing a severe crisis in the opinion of importers and there is a steady tendency toward higher prices. Unless conditions show an improvement the packers will not furnish quotations unless they quote subject to change.

An advance of 25 cents occurred in California lima beans today to 10.50c for choice recleaned with baby limas quoted at 10.60 ex-steamer California.

SUGAR

The advance in actual raw sugars amounting to 1-8 cent to 4 7-8 cents cost and freight was not confirmed until after closing on the futures market but there was indication there that an improvement has taken place. First prices were 4 to 6 points net higher, but houses with Cuban connections, Europe and general trade buyers were more inevidence during the course of the day. At about noon, the list showed an improvement of about 5 to 7 points and this was stretched to 7 to 11 points an hour later on such buying. Without exception all months went into net higher figures under spirited demand which put March to 5.85; May to 5.91; July to 4.96 and September to 5.01. There was a final net gain of 5 to 16 points attributed mainly to better Cuban support. The day's sales were 91,000 tons which include May to September switches at a difference of 11 to 12 points; May and July, 6; January and March, 20 and 18, and March and May, 7.

Refiners quoting 5.60 cents are receiving a fair volume of business. Arbuckle continues to quote 5.50 cents shipment on or before February 2 and 5.25 shipment on or before February 9 with Howell quoting 5.60 cents on or before January 24 and Warner delayed two or three days. Federal quotes bags of fine granulated at 5.35 cents shipment soon as possible.

The United Kingdom markets were reported steady with offers for February-March shipment at 24s 3d c.i.f. and buyers at 24s equal to 4.65 cents f.o.b. Cuba. A cargo of February Cubas was reported sold to Antwerp at 26s 3d for February shipment. Cuban cables noted 156 centrals in operation as against 152 a year ago.

COFFEE

The coffee market has been fluctuating for some time in almost direct proportion to the character of Brazilian cables. Today after making an irregular start prices being 10 points higher to 4 points off on the call the firm cables stimulated better demand for the near months, originating from trade sources, while Europe was a comparatively heavier buyer of the distant positions. There was some profit-taking but after this had been satisfied there appeared new long buying to put the whole list into new highs for the day with a last-minute bulge in March of 8 points to 11.30, while May touched 9.97; September gained 5 points to 9.76 and December 5 points to 9.65. Sales were some 39,000 bags. There was a final net gain of 10 to 14 points.

TEA

The big guess in the tea market at this time is the uncertainty as to what sterling will do. It is generally acknowledged that the situation in Europe has improved immeasurably over the past few weeks. In fact, it is admitted, that Europe could easily use up every pound of tea remaining today in the London or Amsterdam warehouses besides clearing up all the China Congou teas in the American markets. The only apology existing for the current waiting trend of affairs among import tea interests is the depression of sterling. In the event of a sudden turn for the better it would not be surprising to see tea values recover to the extent of 2 or 3 cents a pound since an advance would prompt a widespread movement to cover.

RICE

With southern rice holders demanding full quotations for rough cleaned grades have been packed up in some quarters of the trade and there now seems no special outlook for immediate recessions. Foreign rice is in firm shape.

Hungarian and Rumanian peas at 5 1-4 to 5½ cents are popular here. Red and white kidneys are dull. Lima beans are well established at 11 cents. Peas are quiet.

The butter market opened with a snap, buyers showing keen interest in fresh goods of the best quality. It did not take long after the exchange call opened to establish an advance of fully 1 cent a pound. Call sales were: 90 tubs extras, 100 100 at 51½ cents; 100, 90-score, 50 cents; 100 extras, 52 1-4 cents; 80 tubs held creamery seconds at 44 cents; 35 tubs creamery seconds at 46½ cents.

EGGS

The egg market shows no important changes. Some of the Californias show excellent grades. Storage eggs are doing better than last week and prices average higher. Pacific Coast white extra, 53½ to 54½ cents; extra firsts, 51 to 53 cents; firsts, 49 to 50 cents.

Copper advanced 1-8 cent today and sales at both 12 1-4 and 12 7-8 cents for electrolytic delivered were reported. London cables prices there unchanged at £62 2s 6d for standard spot, £63 17s 6d for futures, £68 for electrolytic spot and £68 10s for futures.

Lead is unchanged at 5½ cents, New York, and 5 1-4 cents, St. Louis, with the leading interest still quoting 5 cents, New York, as a contract price. The London market advanced 2s 6d to £32 5s for both spot and futures.

Zinc is strong at 6½ cents, St. Louis, for prompt, and premiums still exist for futures. The London market was unchanged at £35 17s 6d for spot and £34 17s 6d for futures.

TIN

The reaction in the price for tin was checked and a rally instituted that took the price up for a gain of 1-8 cents, while in London advances were registered of from £3 10s to £4. In the domestic market practically all deliveries and positions of Straits and Straits shipments closed at 49 cents, but January was quoted at higher than 50 cents and spot between 51 and 52 cents a pound. London cables standard spot as advancing £4 to £254; futures £3 10s to £255 5s and Straits £4 to £257. The decline in the far-eastern market amounted to £2 5s with Straits in Singapore closing at £254 c.i.f. London.

PETROLEUM

The Standard of New Jersey has advanced the tank wagon prices of gasoline in North and South Carolina 2 cents a gallon and 1 cent in Virginia and West Virginia, it was announced today.

The Indiana Refining Company has advanced prices of West Kentucky light and heavy crude oils 15 cents a barrel to $1.81 and $1.61 a barrel these changes effective on the 19th inst.

Save for the oil issues, bond prices were steady to firm. Rail bonds led the list upward. Tractions were strong, under leadership of B.M.T. 6s. I.R.T. ref. 5s scored a new high on the move. With any severe capital tax imposed by the Labor government in Great Britain large amounts of British money are expected to lodge in American rail securities.

The Sinclair Oil bonds were again under fire. Copper and steel bonds were confined to narrow limits. Public utilities were active and steady. Liberties were firm.

MILL MAKES IMPROVEMENTS
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOLBROOK (Ariz.) Jan. 23.—Twenty-three carloads of railroad steel have been dispatched within the past few days to McNary, formerly known as Cooley, for extention of the logging lines of the William M. Cady Lumber Company. The concern is building twenty-five more cottages for housing its employees. Its mill is the largest in the Southwest, with two sets of sawing equipment, and there is promise of a continuous capacity run.

Poison Liquor is Declared Cause of Man's Death

Poisonous liquor was said by the police yesterday to have been the cause of the death of Pedro Reyes, 35 years of age, of 225 Sunset Boulevard, who was found dead in bed by his landlord, George Yakima.

Officers Adams and White said they were told three companions brought Reyes home Tuesday and put him to bed. His body was sent to the Button undertaking rooms.

Society Woman Tells of Thrilling Fight to Reach Civilization in Oregon

The adventurous possibilities of life in a land where one stands a chance of being cut off from the world by reason of inclement weather conditions were illustrated by a story of her recent experiences in Oregon told yesterday at the Biltmore by Mrs. Martha E. Henderson of Portland.

Mrs. Henderson, who is a wealthy society woman, became known in the Northern State during the building of the famous Columbia River Highway as one of the most enthusiastic supporters of that project. After its completion she chose Crown Point, one of the scenic spots on the road as the site for a luxurious bungalow, where she has made her home much of the time since its construction.

"Some ten days ago a blizzard came up at midnight," said Mrs. Henderson. "It increased steadily in fury until it became apparent that it would be necessary to leave at once unless we wanted to be snowed in for the rest of the winter.

"I loaded my creole cook, maid and yard man on a truck and sent them on down the road to Corbett, the railroad station ten miles away, while I followed in a car, accompanied by my 6-year-old niece. Soon after we started, a snowslide occurred, which effectually barred our return to the cottage and stalled the car in six feet of soft snow. We were about six miles from Corbett, but there was nothing to do but walk, which I did, carrying the little girl on my back Indian fashion. It took us four hours to reach our destination."

Investor in Oil Scheme Makes Fraud Charges

Supernatural powers aided Hilla Vacha to locate oil beneath a piece of ground at Santa Ana, but failed to warn her that R. H. L. Noaks was not to be trusted, it was testified yesterday when the hearing of Noaks on an embezzlement charge was begun before Justice Hanby.

She said she gave Noaks $5000 in several checks and he agreed to form a company and develop the oil land, but he took her money and that of several others and did not form the company. The hearing was adjourned to today.

Mrs. Lottie Noaks, Noaks's wife, is charged with embezzlement also in connection with the same transaction. Her hearing was set for February 14.

POLYTECHNIC IS BRANCHING OUT

Evening High School to Give College Courses

Plan in Line With Policy of Growing Institution

Grade of Classes Will be Up to University Grade

Beginning February 4, Polytechnic Evening High School will offer those who have received their high school diplomas an opportunity to continue their studies in the line of carrying college credits.

"The new work," says Veirling Reed, assistant superintendent of schools and principal of Polytechnic Evening High School, "is right in line with the progressive policy that has made Los Angeles outstanding in educational circles. The city has distinguished itself by not only supporting the budget for the evening, continuation and summer school work, but has been necessary to meet the tremendous demand for education and has kept pace with its growth.

GROWTH RAPID

Some years ago, when Mr. Reed became principal of Polytechnic Evening High School, a faculty of twenty-five was sufficient to meet the needs of the less than 500 students. The growth of the school has been wholesome and natural and each new department has been created in response to a demand rather than as a passing fancy of the hour. The faculty now numbers 100, and the student body totals 10,000 each year. Hundreds of students are turned away for lack of space in the classes.

Concerning the subjects to carry college credit," continued Mr. Reed, "we chose those for which there is the greatest demand, and in our field we are beginning in the same modest way that characterized all our evening school work. The courses selected are of three kinds: Law, in which is included contracts, real property, criminal law and torts; commerce, which embraces accountancy, salesmanship and advertising; and sociology; engineering, offering electrical, mechanical, civil and chemical, as well as structural, strength of materials and concrete construction.

STANDARD HIGH

Courses will also be classes in English Literature.

Under the head of mathematics are offered trigonometry, analytical geometry and calculus. Instructors in each of these classes will be of the highest standing and the work will be of the same character as that offered in the State universities.

The graduating class for 1924 will number nearly 100, and there are more than 200 who have received their diplomas and who are ready to return for advanced work. These are the students to register in these college courses that they believe the day seems not far off when Polytechnic Evening High School will become the Junior University of the city of Los Angeles.

JAPAN REFUGEE IS BARRED HERE

Mlle. Helen Ash

FATE HARD ON TRIO OF RUSSIANS

Driven From Home by Murders, and From Tokio, Unwelcomed Here

Fate catches the blame for a lot of things, but it surely never dealt three persons more misfortune than she has a trio of young Russian artists, Mademoiselle Helen Ash, Alexander Kopiloff and Victor Leonoff, who arrived at this port yesterday from Yokohama aboard the Japanese liner Seiyo Maru, to find apparently every avenue to happiness closed to them.

The three, friends in Moscow since childhood, fled the Red regime with the murder of their parents two years ago and escaped to Tokio, where they eventually engaged to appear at the Imperial Theater. In the earthquake last September they lost all their worldly possessions.

When the Japanese Relief Commission began to function at Yokohama one of its first acts was to decide that the three young Russians were nonessentials and sent them to America on the Seiyo Maru.

They reached San Francisco a week ago, penniless and without friends, and were told by the United States immigration authorities that they could not enter America before next July. The Russian immigrant quota for the fiscal year was filled. They appealed to the Russian consul and he in turn communicated with the immigration authorities at Washington. When the Seiyo Maru reached Los Angeles yesterday they were told again that America has no room for them until July.

But they came up smiling again and will go on to Salina Cruz, Mex., there to make a living as best they can until America lets down the bars.

Helen, who is 22 years of age,

CITIZENS URGED TO DOWN CRIME

Tuller Declares Americans Ignore First Duty

Report Shows Commission's Efforts for City

Police Agencies Are Guided to Co-ordination

Declaring that never before in the history of civilization have life and property been as unsafe in the hands of a government as they are in the United States today, Maj. Walter K. Tuller, chairman of the Los Angeles Crime Commission, addressing the City Club yesterday, told his audience, "In view of the state of war between honest citizens and organized criminals, I wish there were fifty Crime Commissions in Los Angeles."

"The first duty of a government is to protect the life and property of its citizens," said the speaker. "That is the fundamental reason for the establishment of government and the State which fails to perform that duty reasonably well cannot reasonably hope to endure.

"How well is America performing that duty to her citizens? By America, I mean Americans, including you and me—and I blush to voice my thoughts and feelings for I must admit that many so-called good citizens have a better government than they deserve, considering the amount of attention they devote to the affairs of the nation. Never in history has a civilized government performed its fundamental duty as badly as America performs it today.

"CALIFORNIA'S DUTY"

"The administration of criminal law in the United States is a disgrace to civilization.' Who says this? Maj. Tuller? Yes—but Chief Justice Taft, model of American conservatism, said it first. Co-operating with the California Bar Association, the Crime Commission is endeavoring to formulate, and to submit to the State Legislature, a new code of criminal procedure which will not be 500 years behind the times. When you consider that in 1921 there were only 166 convictions in New York City for 1455 separate robberies, as against ninety-five convictions in England for 106 robberies, I do not think you will deny that there is room for improvement in America.

"California should take the lead in adopting a new code of criminal procedure, setting an example for the nation to follow."

Reciting briefly the history of the Crime Commission, nd praising the City Council and the Board of Supervisors for their co-operation, Maj. Tuller mentioned the legislative action that has been brought about, specially emphasizing the value of the law against indiscriminate probation.

"Probation has its proper place and function but probation should never be granted to the potential murderer who holds a man up or enters his home with a gun in

DEATH VERDICT TAKEN CALMLY

Longfellow Slayer is Found Guilty by Jury

Killed Officer While Being Taken to Jail

Intoxication is Defense at Second Trial

Without moving a muscle of his face or showing any signs of emotion, Francisco Casado yesterday heard a jury's verdict in Judge Reeve's court which means that he will have to face the gallows. After two hours of deliberation, the jury returned a verdict of guilty of first degree murder for the slaying of Oscar Longfellow, a motorcycle officer of San Fernando, on November 29, 1923.

It was Casado's second trial. The jury in the first trial reported that six jurors stood for first degree murder with the death penalty and six for life imprisonment. The jury was discharged and Casado given a new trial.

In testimony adduced by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison, it was shown that Longfellow had arrested Casado for a misdemeanor and was taking him to jail when the defendant fired the fatal shot.

In an endeavor to show mitigating circumstances, Chief Deputy Public Defender Vercoe brought out in testimony that Casado was intoxicated at the time. Casado had refused to plead guilty and accept a sentence of life imprisonment.

The case was continued until tomorrow, when the defendant will be arraigned for sentence.

FLAMES CAUSE FATAL HYSTERIA

of Mrs. Haines by the story of her 7-year-old son Billy.

"Mother and I laid down on the davenport in the front room together," Billy Haines told officers, "but soon she told me to get up and go into my own room. I went in and went to sleep."

The child is not clear as to the sequence of the happenings which followed. He says he was awakened by smoke. Called loudly to his mother and receiving no answer, he opened the window and climbed out. Then he heard the cries of his brother Harry and went back in for him. Following this he went to the front door of the house and tried to open the door which was locked.

He says he has an impression of his mother calling to him, also of some noise like a fire-cracker, but he doesn't know which came first. The flames were licking up through the floor of the front room by this time, he said.

It was learned by officers that there had been a large fire in the fire-place until shortly before the family went to bed. It had been allowed to die down and the theory is that the wooden joists surrounding the grate were ignited by the heat.

The Haineses had only been in their house about five weeks, Haines declared. It was new and he was finishing it up himself.

An inquest will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Noble undertaking establishment in San Fernando.

Mrs. Asana, said to be the manager of the place, refused to open them and said she did not know the combinations. In these safes, the police say, were found other thousands of lottery tickets and large quantities of saki and other liquors. More than a trunkful of lottery tickets was taken out of this place. About $20,000 in cash was found in this place, the police say.

Police records show that 317 Jackson street has been a prolific source of arrests, in spite of the heavy doors. More than eighty arrests were made out of the place in the last twenty months, Vice Division records show. For a long time the club was protected by an injunction and the vice squads considered it taboo territory. The owners of the club protested they were running a social and educational institution and were being harassed by the police.

DINES PLACED UNDER BONDS

pear in court for a second examination.

"The prosecution cannot bring out too much to suit us," said Attorney Conlin. "We will not object to a continuance."

"As I have previously stated," said Justice Hanby, "I am not at all satisfied with the statements of Dines obtained at his bedside. That kind of a story, that story of his forgetting, is unreasonable. And I am glad that the District Attorney has taken this action. If he had not, I feel that I would have taken such action myself."

Justice Hanby read the affidavit, continued the hearing until the 30th inst. at 10 a.m., set $5000 bail to assure Dines's appearance in court at that time, and announced that if bail is not furnished today a bench warrant will be issued against Dines.

Dist.-Atty. Keyes's affidavit was as follows:

"Asa Keyes, being first duly sworn, on oath deposes and says:

"That he is now, and at all times herein mentioned has been the District Attorney of Los Angeles county, State of California;

"That there is now pending in the Justice Court of Los Angeles Township, in Department E thereof, and before the Honorable Walter S. Hanby, an action entitled The People of the State of California, Plaintiff, vs. Horace A. Greer, Defendant; that the said defendant is charged by a complaint in said action with the crime of assault with intent to commit murder, a felony, alleged to have occurred on or about the first day of January, 1924; at which time he, the said Greer, is alleged to have assaulted with said felonious intent, one C. S. Dines, a human being;

"That on the said 1st day of January, 1924, at about 9:15 p.m., and after the alleged assault, the said C. S. Dines made a statement to Detective Lieutenant C. H. Jarvis and others, which said statement was taken in the Receiving Hospital in Los Angeles city; that at the time of said statement, the said C. S. Dines stated in substance that the said Greer shot him, the said Dines, as more fully appears in the testimony already taken before the said Hon. Walter S. Hanby, and which statement in full is incorporated herein as an exhibit:

TESTIMONY TAKEN

"That on the 21st day of January, 1924, the testimony of the said C. S. Dines was taken before the Hon. Walter S. Hanby; that such examination was had and the testimony taken in the Good Samaritan Hospital, at which time the said Dines was confined to his bed and unable to be in court by reason of a bullet wound through his right lung;

"That in the course of said examination the said Dines testified under oath that he did not remember who shot him, and that he did not remember, of his own knowledge, that Greer had shot him;

"That a material conflict exists between the statements made by said Dines to the police officers and the testimony as given herein, and that by reason of the physical condition of said Dines at the time of the taking of the testimony it was not possible to proceed at length in an endeavor to clear up and explain said conflict, and that a further examination of the said Dines as a witness herein is necessary;

"That affiant is informed and believes, and on such information and belief alleges, that the Hon. Walter S. Hanby, the justice presiding herein, has declared a belief that evidence herein is being suppressed by said Dines, and that said Dines is able to testify further and more fully herein; and affiant believes from the above facts, that the said Dines is desirous of avoiding a further examination as a witness herein, and that the prosecution deems it necessary to further examine the said Dines concerning the circumstances of the said shooting, at such time as the physical condition of said Dines will permit a full examination; and affiant alleges upon information and belief that the desire of said Dines to avoid further examination is so strong that unless he is required to enter into an undertaking and furnish security for his appearance as a witness at such a time when, by reason of his physical condition he is able to give full testimony herein, the said Dines will not appear and testify; that affiant is informed and believes, and on such information and belief alleges, that the said C. S. Dines is a wealthy man and able to leave the State of California at any time that his physical condition might permit, and on such information and belief alleges that the said C. S. Dines is not a permanent resident of California, but that his home is in Denver, Colo;

"That this affidavit is made as a basis of a motion requiring the said C. S. Dines to furnish security for his appearance before the said court to complete his necessary testimony therein."

Prior to this action Mrs. Burns, reclining on her back in bed and with a nurse at her shoulder, recited her story. It was the first stenographic statement she had made of the case.

"Howdy do, Joe," she called, as she saw Greer enter with the court attaches.

Mrs. Burns stated she knew Mabel had owned an automatic pistol prior to New Year's Day and identified a weapon said to have been used by Greer as one belonging to Miss Normand.

"That thing won't go off?" she inquired excitedly as it was thrust toward her. "I hate guns around. So far as I know that gun was always in Miss Normand's room, in a drawer that was open every night and half of every day. Anybody, naturally, could have known it was there."

The convalescing witness stated she had seen Greer leave Miss Normand's house on New Year's night to bring Mabel home, but she had not seen the gun.

Greer had first left the house to drive Miss Normand to Dines's apartment. He returned about fifteen minutes later and announced he would continue tearing down the Christmas tree.

"Was there any conversation between you and Greer at that time relative to Miss Normand?" she was asked.

"Only that she was ill and should be home in bed. Joe agreed with me and he was so nice about it."

Mrs. Burns testified that Miss Normand, before her departure for the Dines's apartment, had left instructions that she be called on the telephone when it was time to return home.

"I telephoned three times," Mrs. Burns said. "The first time I heard busy signals on the wire. The second time, I could get no answer. On the third call, Dines answered the phone.

"'If you like Mabel,' I told him, 'you must let her come home.'

"Dines said it was too early for Mabel to go home. That is absolutely all that was said. Mabel talked to me and I told her I was sending Joe after her. I had no conversation with Joe. He said: 'Well, I'll go over and get her,' and that's the last I saw of poor Joe."

Under cross-examination, Mrs. Burns admitted she had told Greer, 'Go and bring Miss Normand home!"

Mrs. Burns also admitted she had, on several occasions, discussed Miss Normand's condition and welfare with Greer.

"I felt that he, being her chauffeur, could get her to come home much easier than anbody else. She is always such good company, people never want her to come home, so I told Joe, 'Joe, do look after her because she's not a well girl.' And Joe would say, 'Yeh, the little girl looks pretty sick.'

"Yes,—I had stated that I did not like to see Miss Normand in company with Dines and Miss Purviance. They always kept her out so late. I may have said that Miss Normand always drank a little with them—but I never have said that they kept Mabel 'hopped-up.'

"Nor have I ever told Joe to look out for Dines. I have, though, told Joe he should take care of Mabel."

be called upon to defend the nation. As soon as this became clear a majority, but a bare majority, of the young women in the new rifle club voted to disband.

At a later meeting this decision was adhered to, and the women's athletic board of the college confirmed it.

The women's rifle club had intended to take part in intercollegiate rifle matches for women, such as the young men of the R.O.T.C. engage in. Now this not only will be abandoned but Miss Gladys Gardner of the Pomona student body announces she intends to ask other colleges to cooperate in the movement to abandon women's rifle clubs.

The young men of the college who are enthusiastic members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps have not yet entered the forum, but several of them have pointed out privately that if the women give up marksmenship there will be all the more government ammunition for the young men to shoot at the targets of the local range or at an enemy in event of war. To this the young women retort that it is the principle of the thing, not the ammunition itself, that is at stake, as it were. Many of them declare they will never use powder again as long as they live.

ACTRESS IS NAMED IN SUIT

Scenarist Ordered to Pay Alimony When Wife Says He Is Too Intimate With Rosemary Cooper

The name of Rosemary Cooper, film actress, was drawn into the marital troubles of Albert G. Kenyon and Evalyn Kenyon yesterday in Judge Shaw's court, where the husband, a scenario writer, was ordered to pay his wife temporary alimony of $50 a week pending the trial of her divorce suit.

Mrs. Kenyon declared that he had been squandering money on Miss Cooper, and cited several asserted instances to prove it. She declared that Kenyon, Miss Cooper, Kenyon's mother and another woman had taken an automobile trip to San Francisco, and that he had been seen dining with her in public. His attentions to Miss Cooper, said the wife, were well known in the Hollywood film colony, and she further charged in her complaint that he had often kissed the actress in the presence of other people.

Kenyon, who inherited part of the $100,000 estate of his father, the late Dr. C. C. Kenyon, protested that the automobile trip was brought about by business, relative to the settling of the estate, and the expenses had been borne by each member of the party. He admitted that he had given money to Miss Cooper, but declared that it was in payment of a debt, and that he still owed her $90.

In her complaint Mrs. Kenyon asserted that her photograph on her husband's dresser had been replaced by that of the film actress, and that her husband had threatened to "run her out of Hollywood" if she molested Miss Cooper.

FATAL SHOT HIT BROKER IN BACK

other members of the asserted bandit trio charged with Chapman's murder, likewise were unmoved by statements of the witness.

With the completion of Prof. Maas's testimony at 3:55 p.m., Judge Avery adjourned court. The trial is to be resumed at 10 a.m. today. Ten more witnesses are to be heard, and it is likely that another night session will be called to bring the case to a speedy end.

Another witness yesterday was Mrs. Viola Miller, a member of the third party held up on the night of the murder. Mrs. Miller identified jewelry offered for her inspection as that which was stolen from her during the hold-up. Mr. Fitts explained that this jewelry had been taken from a valise found in possession of Jack Sears, a second defendant, when he was arrested.

Mrs. Bohmer said that she had known Chapman for about eight years, and had gone with him for a ride on the night of his murder. They were sitting in their car, she said, when another machine drove up and two men approached their automobile. She pointed to Ferdinand, sitting in the courtroom, and said, "He is the one who said, 'Stick 'em up.'"

Mrs. Bohmer said she and Chapman promptly held up their hands, and that she climbed out of the car, closely followed by Chapman. She said Ferdinand began to search Chapman, while his companion stood by, gun in hand.

At this point in her testimony, Mrs. Marcia Chapman, 26-year-old widow of the murdered man, broke down in a fit of weeping, and was half led, half carried to the judge's chambers.

Mrs. Bohmer then continued her testimony. She said she stood about three feet from Chapman while the man she identified as Ferdinand searched his pockets. He went through her companion's coat pockets first, she said, then stepped behind him and put one hand in his pocket, twirling the gun in the other hand.

"And then did you hear a shot?" asked Mr. Fitts.

Mrs. Bohmer nodded. "I did. Mr. Chapman groaned. 'Oh, my God!' and fell at my feet. Ferdinand was unmoved. He bent over the groaning man, and calmly continued his search. He took out Mr. Chapman's watch, looked it over, and threw it away.

"When he had finished he turned to me. He grabbed me by the coat collar, and put an arm around my neck. 'Where's your havalliere?' he asked. I told him I was not wearing any. After searching me, the hold-up men ran off, leaving me alone with Chapman.

"I leaned over his body, but he was lying without movement, and I thought he was dead. I ran for help, and on South Park avenue met two men, who came back with me. We found that Mr. Chapman had managed to climb up the bank at the side of our automobile. We carried him to the machine, and hurried him to the Receiving Hospital. Two hours later he was dead."

Deputy Public Defender Fulcher questioned the witness, explaining he would seek to show that her testimony at the trial differed from what she had said in the Coroner's office at an inquest over Chapman's body.

He read from the transcript, which showed that at the inquest Mrs. Bohmer had identified Harold Fields as one of Ferdinand's companions. Fields and I. R. Roberty were arrested shortly after the murder, but soon afterward released.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hill asked Mr. Fulcher to read a little further in the transcript, to show that Mrs. Bohmer had not been positive in her identification of Fields, but had said that he looked very much like one of the hold-up trio.

The second night session of the trial was conducted by Judge Avery last evening.

Council Ready to Repeal Law as to Permits

The City Council today is scheduled to repeal the ordinance requiring all social, political, religious and other organizations to secure permits from the Police Commission in order to hold meetings. The ordinance was adopted at the request of the Police Department so that gamblers masking their activities under "social clubs" could be prosecuted. The ordinance had to be drawn so as to include all organizations, and this has been found to be too sweeping to stand the tests of the courts.

CANADIAN ARRESTED ON MANN ACT CHARGE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 23.—P. L. Heroux, a meat dealer of Cluny, Can., was arrested here tonight by Detective Sergeants Scott and Hilts, charged with violation of the Mann Act. In his company, the officers said they found Nettie Peterson, a 16-year-old girl of Willamette, Or., who disappeared from her home several weeks ago and has been the object of a police search in several States. Heroux is married and left his wife and two children in Cluny. Police said charges of desertion of minor children also face him in Canada.

CITIZENS URGED TO DOWN CRIME

as against 477 for the same period of 1922.

After citing the statistics of robberies and burglaries committed in Los Angeles within the last five years, Maj. Tuller said: "The men guilty of these acts were all armed with deadly weapons, ready to kill if necessary — and sometimes when there was no occasion for murder. Are we to sleep forever? Shall we ever wake up?

"When that young man was murdered while protecting his fiancee from attack by a beast in human form, this community would have been stirred to its depths if our moral sensibilities had not been atrophied. However, the war is on—the war between organized society and organized crime and Los Angeles shall yet be made a safe place for decent citizens, for women and children. There are some of us who are not asleep and there is reason to believe that others are awakening."

TELL-TALE FIGURES

Among the interesting figures on the crime situation cited by Maj. Tuller are the following:

Burglaries committed in Los Angeles in 1919, 2900; in 1920, 5400; in 1921, 5500; in 1922, 8700; 1923, 10,221. Robberies in Los Angeles: 1919, 326; 1920, 432; 1921, 1020; 1922, 1048; 1923 1244.

Burglaries in the Dominion of Canada, annual average, 2200; burglaries in Los Angeles last year, 10,221. The murder rate in Great Britain is one to each 634,000 population; the murder rate in America is one to every 12,000 inhabitants. In the Boer War Great Britain lost, altogether, 22,000 men; in the same period, in America, 31,000 persons were murdered. In 1921 the robberies in England and Wales were ninety-five; in the same year the robberies in Los Angeles totaled 1920. In 1915 Los Angeles had sixty-four more robberies than England, Scotland and Wales.

CHINESE PLAN NEW YEAR FETE

spect the fantastic carvings of the shrine is the only reward that goes with the appointment. Out of the profits so made the keeper must provide for upkeep expenses of the temple as well as make his own living. In addition, he has to pay the Kong Chow a certain sum for the privilege of holding the position.

The temple isn't large and so Jim has been making all necessary repairs. He scrubs the floor once a day. There are no religious services; a worshiper comes into the temple, bows down before the shrine, utters a few prayers and departs. The temple is open seven days a week.

Jim doesn't know what he is going to do when the New Year comes around. Possibly he will be just one more recruit for the ranks of the old Chinese men who make their living by clerking in curio shops or peddling oriental merchandise from sidewalk stands.

In all events, Jim isn't kicking. The New Year is coming for Chinatown and Jim believes it will be the beginning of a prosperous year. Just how he will benefit, he doesn't know, but he's hoping for the best.

Almost every skin blemish and fault is fundamentally from this one cause

HOWEVER marred your skin may be with blackheads or blemishes, you may not be more than one short week away from a really radiant complexion.

Startling as this statement may seem, it is nevertheless true; and with thousands of women today the facts are being passed along from one to another.

It comes down to a simple truth about the skin which physicians will tell you is at the root of every skin blemish and fault.

The skin needs, not makeshifts, but something to release again its own normal health

Deep down in the under layers of your skin, far below the surface, there is going on day and night an important activity of which you are hardly conscious.

Tiny glands continually functioning—

—pores throwing off poisons

—capillaries rushing fresh blood in, and carrying off infection.

—here is a delicate balance of forces like the balance wheel of a fine watch. With healthy vigor and activity, comes a clear, clean complexion. Too much or too little stimulation, and there starts that long succession of blemishes and faults that women are constantly seeking to avoid.

A method of daily care, based simply on the idea of keeping the skin functioning normally

To cleanse the pores of dust and grime, to gently restore the pulsing of the capillaries in the lower layers of the skin, to carry off infection, and then to stop new infection before it starts—thousands have learned to use Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment in the daily care of their skin.

If your complexion is not all you want it to be, begin today to use Resinol. Work gently into the pores a thick lather of Resinol Soap; then rinse off, and splash on a dash of cold water. Then, with special irritations, roughnesses, blemishes or rashes, apply a touch of Resinol Ointment. If possible, leave it on overnight. In the morning wash off again with Resinol Soap.

Within a week you will begin to notice the difference in your skin—a finer, softer texture—a ruddier glow, a clearing of the ugly little blemishes.

Resinol Ointment also for more serious skin affections

Not only is Resinol Ointment used everywhere for clearing away minor skin blemishes—but its soothing, healing properties have for years been successful in relieving more stubborn skin affections. Rashes and eczema—often itching, unpleasant and embarrassing—will in many cases vanish in a few days. Thousands have wondered at the quickness of its action. Even a light application sinks deep into the pores, attacks the root of the disorder, and starts the skin again acting normally. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It will not irritate even the delicate texture of an infant's skin.

POWER BUREAU GETS SETBACK

"Rush Act" on Swing Bill is Flattened Out

Colorado-Grabbers Are Told River is for All

Government Board of Experts to Study Problem

The Municipal Power Bureau proponents of the Swing-Johnson bill were officially advised by Secretary of the Interior Work yesterday that the government declines to permit anyone to stampede it into a policy which will make for Colorado River development for the benefit of any group of local interests at the expense of others interested.

The bureau is opposing the Hoover pact and Councilman Criswell is in Washington in the interests of the Swing-Johnson bill and the plans of the Los Angeles political Power Bureau to grab Colorado River power rights without regard to the rights of anyone else.

The letter from the Secretary of the Interior was in reply to a "round-robin" telegram to President Coolidge signed by President Workman of the City Council and other supporters of the Power Bureau urging immediate favorable action on the Swing-Johnson bill. The Power Bureau's political department, called the "Boulder Dam Association," is sending out urgent letters to all parts of Southern California urging that similar telegrams be sent to President Coolidge and Secretary Work, but advising that these telegrams be couched in "respectful" language.

TO BENEFIT ALL

Secretary Work's letter to President Workman points out that while the Secretary of the Interior appreciates the importance of Colorado River development, the work must be so planned that it will be done for "the general benefit" rather than for "purely local interests." This is a direct thrust at the Swing-Johnson bill. That the under-cover opposition of the Swing-Johnson-Power Bureau group to prevent Arizona from ratifying the Colorado River compact is fully known to Secretary Work was shown in a reference in the Secretary's letter calling attention to the fact that Arizona had not ratified the pact, and declaring that there could be no satisfactory solution of the problem unless the full co-operation of all of the Southwestern States is assured. This is provided for by the compact. Arizona is the only one of the interested States which has not ratified the pact. After working to bring about this block of a start toward real development of the Colorado River for the benefit of the entire Southwest, the Power Bureau, Congressman Swing and Senator Johnson, then put forward extra efforts to rush the Swing-Johnson opposition measure through Congress at this session.

The emergency literature being put out by the Boulder Dam Association, to the support of which political organization the Power Bureau contributes from public funds $1500 a month, shows that the group which is fighting Secretary Hoover's Colorado River plan is fearful that no favorable action will be taken by the administration at this time.

Secretary Work in his letter to President Workman declared that no hasty action will be taken by the Interior Department, and that to secure all the facts about the Colorado River situation the Secretary has appointed a special committee consisting of representatives of the War, Reclamation, Power and Geological Departments to make a report to assist the Secretary in making recommendations to Congress.

This committee, the Secretary said, may report within thirty days.

BLOCK REFERENDUM

The Washington troubles of the political Power Bureau are being repeated in this city in the blocking by a referendum of the bureau's efforts to take over and operate the $17,000,000 electric properties of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, so the bureau will have a monopoly of the Los Angeles electric business, subject to no regulation by the State Railroad Commission.

City Clerk Domingues yesterday certified to the Council that the referendum petitions filed against the two ordinances authorizing the expenditure from public funds of a total of $50,000 to secure a valuation by the Railroad Commission of the electric properties of the gas company had been checked so that each showed the signatures of 12,350 registered voters r 3075 more signatures n each petition that the 10,275 required by law to force the Council to lay the two "gas grab" ordinances before the voters. The two petitions as filed bore 58,766 signatures, and if they had been checked completely the petitions would have borne signatures more than 15 per cent of the registered voters of the city. A 15 per cent referendum ofrces the Council to call a special election at once to vote on the ordinances subjected to the referendum, but to save the taxpayers this $50,000 expence for a special election, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation asked that the names be checked only to show a margin over 10 per cent.

Upon receipt of the City Clerk's report that the referendum petitions were sufficient, Councilman Mushet moved, seconded by Councilman Gregory, that the two "gas grab" ordinances be repealed.

This motion failed, but a motion was adopted to refer the matter to the Council's public service committee for a report as to whether or not the Council should repeal the "gas grab" ordinances or place the ordinances before the voters at a general election this year. If the Power Bureau is afraid to risk a vote of the people on the ordinances they will be repealed, and it was to ascertain the Power Bureau's desires that the matter was referred to the committee, of which Councilman Criswell is chairman. The latter is now absent in Washington, at public expense, on a political lobbying trip fr the bureau. Meanwhile the filing of the referendum petition has blocked indefinitely the spending of the $50,000 from public funds by the bureau.

BOARD FILES "ALIBI"

The Board of Public Service Commissioners yesterday filed with the City Council and the Board of Public Works the official "alibi" of the Power Bureau to explain why the bureau is now digging up fifty feet of the new pavement on Hill street at the easterly entrance to the Second-street tunnel for electric conduits," in spite of the fact that the utilities companies completed their underground work months before the pavement was laid. In brief, the Power Bureau declares that it was prevented by Contractor J. A. Hill, who is building the tunnel, from putting through the underground work, and most of the Power Bureau's statement is devoted to attacking the contractor.

Mr. Hill denies the bureau's statements and declares that on many occasions he notified the Power Bureau that the pavement was soon to be laid and that the underground work should be done at once. To these notices, Mr. Hill said, the bureau paid no attention.

TEXT-BOOK ORDER FOR CITY HUGE

State Printer at Work on Delivery of 200,000 to Education Board

A book order that would satisfy the most enterprising book agent and one that, under the usual installment plan, would not be paid for until Germany's war debt is settled in full, is being filled by the State Printer for the Los Angeles Board of Education. It is the spring textbook order for the elementary schools, and totals approximately 200,000 books. About 127,000 of them have been shipped, and will be available in a few days.

The books, be it known, are not the modern erotic "realistic" novels, but old-fashioned ones, according to Deputy Superintendent Monlux. The subjects are reading, spelling, arithmetic, history, geography and English. On this basis an average of six books per pupil have been ordered.

This order, the largest in the history of the local schools, is to provide for the increase of approximately 35,000 pupils in the elementary enrollment. The total enrollment at present is about 190,000.

Without growing personal, it is remarked that San Francisco's order for the same period was 27,000 books.

Police Hold Clew in Case of Extortion

Police investigating the report of Eugene S. Oliver, prefect of discipline at Loyola College, that he escaped from kidnapers at 736 East Thirty-third street after he had been forced to sign a check for $5000 Tuesday morning, yesterday declared that an attempt had been made to apprehend the person, unidentified, who attempted to cash the check, but so far all efforts had been unsuccessful.

An investigation of the presence of clothing belonging to Patrolman R. Dickey, found in the house where Oliver said he was forced to sign the check, will be made by police heads. Dickey was suspended pending the outcome.

It was declared that Oliver was in poor health and the school authorities had decided to send him to a health resort in the north to recuperate.

MUSIC SOCIETY TO MAKE SMALL CHARGE

PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA PLAN OF PROCEDURE ADOPTED

The Los Angeles Chamber Music Society, it is announced by Miss Antonette Ruth Sabel, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Music Federation, has adopted the plan inaugurated by the Philharmonic Orchestra of making a 10-cent admission fee for those who are employed. The plan will be put into effect at the society's next concert, to be given February 15.

The Los Angeles Trio, which adopted the 10-cent plan at its recent concert, has announced that it will make a similar offering at its next concert on February 28. A number of other member societies of the music federation, it is said by Miss Sabel, are planning to adopt the plan.

Arthur S. Bent, president of the Los Angeles Music Federation, is now in the East, and during his trip will consult leading music authorities and also give talks before a number of music societies on organization and program.

At the luncheon meeting today of the Ebell Club Miss Sabel will be the principal speaker, and also at the Harmonic Club meeting this afternoon.

LEGION RELIEF PLAN IS GIVEN APPROVAL

The Social Service Commission yesterday approved of the proposed service department to be established by the American Legion to centralize and co-ordinate all relief work done in Los Angeles county for former service men and women and their dependents. The work of the service department will include employment, medical aid, hospitalization, and legal aid.

JAIL PLANS INSPECTED

Supervisor J. H. Bean, in conference with members of the State Board of Corrections and Charities, the Public Welfare Committee, Sheriff Traeger and County Jailer Croushorn, yesterday went over the plans of the new jail and Hall of Justice, now under construction at Temple street and Broadway. County Jail plans are submitted to the State board, and the members yesterday congratulated Mr. Bean upon the modern and thorough plant being built.

eighty-nine-pound pumpkin to the Old People's Home at Fresno. And, like Roosevelt, they are probably expected to be grateful. But, if thrift is properly practiced at that home and "nothing is wasted," I don't believe those poor old souls after the seventeenth pumpkin pie and all those incredible dishes in which pumpkin can be instrumental are going to relish their grateful obligation at all.

I am strongly for that Illinois clubwoman who has come forth with a gallant defense of Mabel Normand. The lady refers scornfully to Sarah Bernhardt—who was almost canonized and, in spite of her frank autobiography, revered as a priestess of her art.

And I am recalling a famous Spanish dancer of the Lo Bello years, who used to wear a cuirass of emeralds presented to her by a royal lover and who finally bragged that sixteen men had committed suicide for her.

But, of course, both of these ladies were fortunate in not being too devoted a chauffeur. They employed—in better trained servants.

Some of us "working wives" have to chuckle a bit over "This Freedom." After we are shown what ghastly things can happen to the children of a woman who follows her career after marriage the title writer evidently had a spasm of conscience. So it is carefully explained that some women go to work for the maintenance and defense of the home—like men" with a nice implication that in such cases, of course, the children won't go to the devil—certainly not. It is only when the wretched mother cares in her career for its own sake that children are so unreasonable as to be "neglected."

Then, when the boy, goes wrong, cleverly works the alibi stunt—mother not being at home enough, the handsome, successful father looks mournfully, tragically reproachful at poor mother.

But, for the life of me, I can't not help wondering why papa, who we are led to understand, saw what was happening all along, didn't look after that man-child himself. But the dear chap seems to have spent every minute of his leisure through the years, sitting at home with his wife in the evenings, not knowing a bit better where sonny was or what he was up to than mother did. But I won't to tell you dad knew just where to place the blame.

In the meantime we have as a article in the Woman's Home Companion entitled "All the Discomforts of Home"—in which the author complains bitterly of too much interference in his affairs, the only thing the erring boy escapes happily in "This Freedom." And if you please, other men are invited to send in their complaints about homes and fussy wives and mothers "in the strictest confidence."

Yes, they call that magazine the Woman's Home Companion.

STOKE POGES SPIRE FALLS

Such a serious state of decay has been found to exist in the spire of Stoke Pogoe Church that all hope of Gray's Elegy are being shattered to raise £4000 to save the historic structure from collapse. The stonework of the belfry windows and the coping must be repaired and the most important thing is the structure of the spire as a whole is rotten that the whole thing may fall in at any time. It follows that the present tower must be entirely made over or a new one built.

Another danger is that the church adjoining the church may be bought up and used for some kind of house that would spoil the beauty of the churchyard. The parish cannot possibly afford to do for all this, and Americans are reminded that John Penn, founder of Pennsylvania, founder of the founder of Pennsylvania, erected a sarcophagus just outside the yard.—[Living Age.

TOMMY KNEW

The teacher was trying to explain to her pupils an illustration of the word "perseverance."

"What is it," she asked, "that carries a man along through ups and downs, through jungles and over and raging torrents?"

There was a silence, and then Tommy, whose father was a motor dealer, spoke up: "Power, miss," he said, "there ain't no such thing."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Exception

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever!" quoted the professor.

"Yes," chuckled the cynic, "unless you are married to it."—[New York Sun and Globe.

Subtlety

"What must I talk about to please her?"

"Her beauty!"

"And if she has none?"

"About the plainness of other women."—[Pasquino, Turin.

FAR FROM HOME

"Irish Minstrelsy"

It rose upon the cordial gloom,
A cadence sweet and low;
Through all the vulgar din it pierced,
That low melodious tone.
It trilled on my awakened ear
Amid the noisy throng,
Its music over every nerve
Vibrated in my heart.

I've heard full oft a grander song
Through lofty arches roll,
That bore on the triumphant swell
The rapt and captive soul.
In this the breath of my own isle
Blew o'er me soft and free,
And shook my spirit, as the tides
Are shaken by the sea.

In it, the ripe and golden corn
Bent down its heavy head;
In it, the grass waved its dark sweet
Above their kindred dead.
In it, the voices of the past
They might no more control
Came back and spoke in every word
And sang the songs of old.

Cellist Plays With Rare Mastery

Voice of Singer Pleases Listeners

A program of singular beauty, in fact presented last night by the Ying H. Allen Music Company materially increases the popularity of Redlands. A gathering of musicians like Beatrice De Forest, soprano; Joseph Heindl, violinist; Rosita Landman Brigham, pianist-composer, and Claude Bauer, cellist, could not fail to please the most critical audience.

Antonio De Troost, well known musician of excellent ability in musical world, rendered "Lords of Life" and "A Memory" in unforgettable manner. Both numbers very pleasing, well accompanied by Isabel Bridwell.

Bridwell is a 'cellist whose work has long been a familiar one to musical ears. His father was one of the foremost 'cellists of his day in Boston, and the son at an early age showed promise of following in his father's footsteps. He played with New York Philharmonic Orchestra for nine years, with distinction of being the youngest musician to have played in that organization. Since 1920 Bridwell has been a member of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. The mellow tones of his 'cello as the world the old song 'Dear to Me Only with Variations' while David Popper's 'Tarantelle No. 1' was played with technique which has gained Mr. Bridwell a reputation. Carrie Freeman Bauer, whose artistic accompaniments delight the artist as well as the hearer, assisted Mr. Bridwell.

TIDBIT OF NOTE

Rosita Landman Brigham, head of the music department of the Hollywood Woman's Club, is a concert pianist of note and has appeared many times before Redlands audiences. Among her splendid interpretations Liszt's 'Rhapsody No. 6' and 'Waltz, Op. 64, No. 4' by Chopin, were heard.

Claude Bauer, a recent addition to Los Angeles musical circles, displayed the artistry of his skilled violin in the playing of the Spanish dance "Mariana," his own composition. The rhythmic cadenza of "Canoeing," also his own composition, were so realistic as to expressed that it was not hard to imagine a cool breath of air in the strains of a mandolin played over the water.

Mme. Joseph Regnier is a newcomer to KHJ, but we all hope to hear her with us again. He is a fine monologuist and his entertainment was a novel treat to his audience.

Dr. Ivan Baumgardt, the popular lecturer on astronomy, pleased and interested his auditors with a talk on "Orion, the Most Brilliant Constellation."

Those who listened in were especially pleased to hear James G. Stevens, Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks, who gave a brief address on Americanism and a talk on "Standing Among Men." The broadcast by remote control from the ballroom of the Biltmore Hotel.

At 10 o'clock a varied program was presented by the Grand Oriental String Sextet and Peter Ferris, Irish poet and singer. Mr. Ferris is renowned for his lovely voice and is endowed with a voice which is suited to his poetry, well suited to the Celtic songs which he sang.

The Grand Oriental String Sextet is composed of Filipino boys who are well known in Manila. Their performance on the native instruments was remarkable for the range of their repertoire as well as for the excellence of their performance. Numbers which were especially striking were the "Mazeppa" by Mohl, the "Bridal Rose," by C. Bohm and "Amer" which is the Turkish serenade among the Oriental airs.

Among the many radio friends of the popular Arthur Raymond Hill heard the first strains of "Linger Awhile," yesterday noon, they began to telephone their requests. Some were disappointed, while others were favored with "Cross-eyed Papa" and "I'd like to be in Texas when they Round up in the Spring," and other favorites during the noon and matinee program. Mr. Hill found his way to the hearts of KHJ listeners-in when this station was opened in April, 1922, and has never entertained through any other radio station.

PLAY DANCE MUSIC

Two impromptu dancers on the roof of The Times Building, swaying to the strains of "Cross-eyed Papa," "Beale Street Mama" and other popular selections played by Murray's Venetian Orchestra through the courtesy of the King Tut Cafe, resolved anew not to miss a program which includes these players. Karl Krum, leader, Shorty Cook, Dick Murray and Max Shutz are the entertainers to thank for such dance music.

Of especial interest to housewives was the Thrift Talk of Mrs. Luella C. King, who appeared on the noontide program; and all gardeners, whether they tend a fern in a pot or attempt more difficult feats, were on the alert to catch every word of the Garden Talk given by Fred C. McNabb of Aggeler and Musser Seed Company.

The children's hour was full of delightful surprises to the lads and lassies, Dickie Brandon, screen juvenile, has already won a name for himself as an actor on the legitimate stage, for he took the title role in "Zander," which went on tour after a week's run at the Mason several weeks ago. The grown-ups as well as the children listened with interest and enjoyment to the delightful readings of the little 4-year-old man.

Ralph Beegle, cornetist, accompanied by Carolyn Moore, played "KHJ Waltz" by Walter Woodward Trahern, and "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses" to help entertain the youngsters, while Selma Steinberg, 11-year-old pupil of Louise Burton, pleased her radio friends with piano solos.

Hazel Hoffman came from Los Angeles Harbor to sing the lads and lassies to sleep after their bedtime story told by Uncle John.

Harbor Officials Make Plea for City Hall Rooms

Heart-rending was the appeal which Assistant Custodian C. E. Boltz of the Los Angeles Harbor branch City Hall has forwarded to the Board of Public Works and to the Council, which holds the municipal purse strings for improvements in the municipal building which is in charge of Mr. Boltz. He wrote the Board of Public Works as follows:

"No move has been made, up to date, to put the rooms on the second floor of the San Pedro Branch City Hall, in shape to occupy. Is there any way by which some action can be gotten, for we are all badly cramped for room. Yesterday I had to take several people, who had business with the building department out into the hall to transact business, due to the overcrowded condition of the room.

"This morning I counted twenty-six persons (at one time,) crowded into Dr. Brown's (the health officer) room.

"The City Electrician is living in hopes, waiting for a chance to move.

"Mrs. Curley, the police matron is getting very anxious to get her room.

"The judge is inquiring why, with six or seven vacant rooms, he is unable to get into his witness and jury rooms.

"We are all doing the best we can in our present quarters, but we do look with longing eyes on those vacant rooms. So, if you can help the cause along in any way, we will all be duly appreciative."

SUES HIS DAUGHTER

Aged Man Wants Land Back He Said He Deeded to Her

A case on trial yesterday before Judge Elliot Craig presented the unusual situation of a father, 92 years of age, suing his gray-haired daughter for the return of property.

The plaintiff was Hiram Phelps, his daughter being Mrs. Eugenia Ada Coute. The land involved, valued at $10,000, is near Lankershim. Mr. Phelps, who is very feeble, on the witness stand declared that he had deeded the property to his daughter with an understanding that she would take care of him for the remainder of his life. This, he stated, she had declined to do.

The defendant testified she had not made the agreement, but that she had cared for her father in a proper manner.

Banana Cargo From Hawaii Arrives Here

And now we have the Hawaiian banana. Five thousand bunches of them reached the port of Los Angeles yesterday aboard the Calawall, consigned to Zeigler and Lawless, commission merchants.

P. F. Finnegan, freight traffic manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, said that leaders of the fruit industry in Hawaii are being encouraged by the increasing interest of Southern California in the bananas and pineapples of the islands.

"Test shipments have been made during past weeks," said Mr. Finnegan. "Now a firm brings in this large consignment of bananas and 3300 crates of fresh pineapples. The Hawaiian banana has an exceptionally fine flavor, and has become very popular in San Francisco."

Mr. Finnegan said the shipment is a direct consequence of the efforts of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and others interested in off-shore trade to increase direct traffic with the islands.

LAWSUIT IS SEQUEL TO LIQUOR RAID

Action Growing Out of Seizure of Property in March, 1923, on Trial

As a sequel to the raid on a house at 511 Garvey Road, Alhambra, March 12, 1923, the suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Hanlon against Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Foltz and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gordon went on trial yesterday before Judge Stephens. One result of the raid was the dismissal and indictment, on a charge of burglary, of former Deputy Sheriff Richard Jones.

Mrs. Hanlon, who occupied the house, asserted on the stand that the defendants, after the raid by deputy sheriffs, invaded the house and hauled away the entire contents, including all her personal wearing apparel, of a total value of $600, which was taken to the home of Mrs. Foltz and stored in a garage at 1262 West Twenty-fifth street.

She stated that she had gone to the Foltz home on two occasions and had demanded delivery of the goods, which, she said, was refused her. She asked, in her complaint, for the value of the goods, damages of $1000, and exemplary damages of $1000 against each of the defendants.

The defendants have filed an answer and are contesting the suit, asserting that the goods were hauled away at the instance of Ben Parker, constable of Alhambra, and, while admitting that Mrs. Hanlon called at the Foltz home, declared that she also represented herself as the wife of a man named George Adams, who had rented the house.

A squad of deputy sheriffs were called to the region near-by on the report that a bootlegger, by the name of Manners, had shot John Foltz. The house occupied by Mrs. Hanlon was searched by the officers, who were looking for the bootlegger and several reported stills.

Deputy Sheriff Harrington, who testified yesterday, said that Jones had last been heard of in China where he was a fugitive from justice.

TAKES UP NEW DUTIES

Thomas K. Hughes, for fifteen years a deputy county clerk in the local Superior Court, yesterday concluded his business affairs at the Courthouse and assumed his new duties in the advertising department of the Los Angeles News, a paper devoted to the interests of attorneys and other court attaches. During the last six months Mr. Hughes had been acting in the capacity of clerk and Judge Burk's department of the Superior Court.

"BREAK" ENDS EBELL TENSION

Egan's Timely Humor Puts Rivals at Ease

Drama Week is Celebrated by Discussion

Pasadena Play Convention is Announced

BY MYRA NYE

It takes a break to mend a situation.

Mr. Frank Egan made the break and shattered the tension. It happened yesterday at the annual drama luncheon of the Los Angeles Ebell in celebration of national drama week, with Mrs. Walter Raymond Gillette, curator of the section of drama, presiding.

There were fully 300 women about the flower-centered table and many distinguished guests were present. The tension was caused by the fact that among them were many rivals in the histrionic field locally. But it was a gala event in club circles, competition or no competition.

Gilmor Brown, director of the Community Players of Pasadena, was chief speaker of the morning session and Mr. Egan was the first speaker of the after-luncheon hour.

"I know how terribly tedious these talks are," said Mr. Egan, "I hear that Mr. Gilmor Brown talked this morning, but I assure you mine will not be more tedious," and he emphasized "mine" in truly rhetorical style. He was interrupted by applause, but it was solo applause coming from Mr. Brown two seats away. This was the prelude to a howling symphony with women as participants.

When Mr. Egan could proceed he said the proper thing of course which like most proper things was old. He introduced our old friend Mr. Present Company Exception.

When one of the producers was speaking a woman producer hummed nonchalantly through most of her paragraphs and inconsequentially toyed at the table with her beaded purse. Now humming as a mode of feminine expression is potent. A wife always hums when her husband talks about her bank overdraft and a girl hums when her chum boasts of her beau who happens to be also the hummer's.

"The Humming Bird," was subject for talk by Mr. Egan. He said he had lost $25,000 on Maud Fulton's "Humming Bird" and his audience wondered how much he had lost on the humming bird then present who was a big rival though so small.

"I have had many failures" he said. "I could write a book backward on failure. My next production will be a concession to the popular taste. It is 'White Collars'."

AMATEUR'S VIEW

There weren't any more breaks but many a bon mot and not least of those who spoke them was Roger Starritt, head of the art department of Los Angeles High School, speaking from the amateur's standpoint.

"Chemically pure enthusiasm of beamish boys and silly girls in high school does not insure art against the producer," he said decrying some school productionsens' Clubs, gave an excellent review of the work accomplished by her department and hopes and aims for the future.

"No college has a moral right," said Mr. Sterritt, "for any purpose whatsoever to put on a play by students unless supervised by the technical director with somewhere nearly adequate stage settings. The result in most cases is a promiscuous riot and every one takes a hand and a handful. A play is a matter of interpretation above every thing else." The speaker made an intelligent plea for better dramatic work in the schools and colleges.

Another speaker who spoke directly to the point was France Goldwater, manager of the Fine Arts Theater," who announced that some of the plays to be given in that new theater include, "He Who Gets Slapped," "Lilliom," and "The Adding Machine," all successes of the Theater Guild of New York City.

CONVENTION IN APRIL

Others who spoke were Elisabeth DeJean, author, whose next novel will be out in March, published by Doubleday, Page & Co., and Cora M. Paton of Chicago, the head of the Junior Dramatic League of America, who announced for the first time in club circles the great national convention to be conducted in Pasadena in April when all in America who believe "the play's the thing," will get together and talk it over. There will be distinguished men and women in dramatic fields and playwrights from every State in the Union, she said. The exact date is April 21.

In the morning Mrs. Roger Sterritt, chairman of the motion-picture department of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an excellent review of the work accomplished by her department and hopes and aims for the future.

Confederate Daughters Lunch

Mrs. J. Henry Stewart is to be toastmistress at the luncheon which is to be given this noon by the United Daughters of the Confederacy at the Ambassador. "The Confederate Daughter of Today" is the subject of an address by Mrs. Frank Elmer Ross, first vice-president-general of the National U.D.C., and Zack Lamar Cobb, who is to be the speaker of the day, will talk on "The Ideals and Convictions of Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson." Southern airs, specially selected, will be given by the De Nubila Orchestra. The reception committee consists of Mmes. W. N. Monroe, Marion Johnson, F. B. Harrington, W. Park, R. L. Cannon, Harry Graves and Miss Madelaine Purdon.

Rebecca West Postpones Talk

Owing to illness Miss Rebecca West, English novelist and satirist, has cancelled her engagement to appear before the Ebell Club next Monday afternoon, and before the Friday Morning Club. Miss West has been forbidden by her doctor to talk and so her appearance is cancelled indefinitely. In her place Dr. Leonard J. Vandenbergh, African explorer and anthropologist, will talk before the Ebell Club Monday on "Wild Men of Africa," illustrated by a unique and interesting motion picture.

Civil War Veterans to Meet

Stanton Post, No. 55, Grand Army of the Republic, and the Stanton Woman Relief Corps will have a joint reception for their newly elected officers between 2 and 5 p.m. at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street.

Diet and Health

STRETCH YOUR STOMACH

When a statement or an expression becomes so common that it forms a little groove in our minds and slips off our tongues without any thought behind it, it is known as a bromide, and people who use these made-to-order expressions a great deal are also known as bromides or bromidics. Gelett Burgess is the writer who made the bromides famous.

The statement, "everybody eats too much," comes in this class, and the statement, "thin people eat so much that it makes them thin to carry it around," also comes in this class.

Now, everybody does not eat too much—no, indeed. Many do, but not all. Thin people do not eat too much. Thin people do not eat enough, 99 times out of 100, just as fat people eat too much, 99 times out of 100.

Now, it is my purpose to make those of you who are trying to gain realize that you do not eat enough for your activities; otherwise you would have a little left to be stored away for the normal amount of fat which you should have.

But you say, "I don't like foods that are fattening, and when I have eaten a certain amount my stomach absolutely refuses to take more. What can I do?" This, my dear T. T. T.—you have to stretch your stomach. You must make it understand that it has to take care of enough food of the right sort so that you can gain. And just as surely as the F. F. F. got results by shrinking their stomachs, so you will get results by stretching yours.

The stomach is a muscular organ and can be trained just as any other muscle can be. And in training its muscles you will also train the digestive glands to pour out more and a better grade of secretions to handle the food.

There are other things—adequate amount of sleep, exercise, fresh air, rest, etc.—to be considered in this gaining of weight, and we will come to them later.

You tell me that your stomach seems to get filled up very easily; that it seems as though you could not eat another mouthful. But you can, and that is what you are going to do. When you think you have had all you can stand you must continue a little longer; not too much at a time, but you must make your stomach know that it has to do a little extra work each day, and when it realizes that you mean business it will respond and care for the food. You have to stand the local distress to get rid finally of the general distress.

Milk is one of the best foods. It is the only food that has the correct proportion of different food elements necessary to sustain animal life in its infancy. Some one says, "But cow's milk was not intended for man, but for calves." Well . . . ? All other foods have a prior claim, when you analyse it, so that line of reasoning is fallacious.

If you should do nothing in this getting-fat routine but drink a glass of milk between meals and one before going to bed you would add nearly 500 calories to your diet (for one glass of milk is 150 C.'s) and 500 calories is equivalent to one-eighth of a pound a day, or forty-five pounds a year. If you do not like milk plain take it in the form of egg nogs or in the malted milk drinks. Boiling the milk makes it more easily digested. Buttermilk and the artificially soured milks agree better with some people than ordinary milk.

In not eating enough you have not been getting the elements that are needed for your system, and there is no doubt that you have been suffering from a starvation acidiosis and possibly are on the border line of scurvy. You have been nervous and irritable and have not slept well and are considerably under par. You will see how much better you will be when you are eating more and getting these needed elements.

There is a biblical injunction to eat what is set before you. Many people have gotten rid of a lot of their troubles by obeying that. They thought it was the attention to the spiritual needs, but often it was that little bit of attention to the physical needs that did the work. They used to be thinking of their stomachs all the time, and how they could not eat this and could not eat that and, as they testify, they lived practically on bread and water. No wonder they had all the disorders that are enumerated in materia medica.

Tomorrow—How to Gain.

Fifty dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 6 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them lucidly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of exact facts—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the heartfelt letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give an individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. e. If you request me to send you the information I have offered.

THE NEW

IN STORES AND HOMES

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

BY OLIVE GRAY

Up-to-Dateness

Metallic cloth suits, for making gowns, hats, accessories and bandeaux. Fashion, never weary of glistening fabrics, has taken this means of on-sewing her mode, combining the revival of moire—watered effects—with the pendant liking for precious-metallic fabrics.

A tribute to the three granted beige and brown as a color consortment, are fashioned from summer ermine, collared, cuffed and otherwise trimmed with mink. The two tones the most happily together.

Storing Up

"That's the fifth!" said Rosemary, in a tone of genuine satisfaction.

"The fifth what?" I asked.

"The fifth on my list of new homes, places where I like to shop." Then she continued, "I always select stores where I can at home, when I go to a new and I have now discovered in Angeles, five that I like immense This one—the fifth—has been newly housed, you know, wonderful feat to make over a store without interruption to business. Now, it is so commodious, light, so well planned and convenienced, that I like it better any store in any eastern city."

"So, you do not mean to put fifth in your esteem"—

"No means! I mean that it is fifth add to my list of store homes, able places in which to downtown time—and, of downtown money." "You fifth to name."

Inspiring Lingerie

"When I see an array like this remarked Rosemary, as we paused before a window in that big on Seventh street, "I always like going right in and spending every cent of my allowance on der-finery!" "Well, let's go anyhow!" I replied. "That able little step-in, of apricot-ored crepe with motifs of they are of chiffon—handkerchief That is for you."

"And I will allot to you the low-bud green crepe chiffon, the odd insets of lace and the dainty bud bouquets."

"That little circular skirted slip—what a love! Let's quarrel over that!"

"I'm going in and buy—do you see those price cards? I would bother to make my own when can be purchased so reasonably and don't you know there's a to the expertly created garment which is lacking in the home made, however the old-fashioned durability preacher may demand."

Creton Gayment

If you can look upon a white filled with cretons and not wish immediately cretons your home your room, or whatsoever you may possess, your fondness is at low ebb. Just now there wonderfully inspiring exhibits new patterns in this charming fabric. One may carry out any color scheme and find in cretton the desirable material for upholstery and for draperies. For one may adopt almost any period of mode and be able to fulfill one's ideals in fabrics—Chinese, Japanese, Slavic, Italian, Indian, ancient or American—all tribes and centuries contribute toward the color plates and designs of these delightful weaves.

Ribbon Binding

Ribbon is positively avid to be the desire to invade all fields of dress. It's most recent appearance is in the shape of binding upon the edges of coats and coat dresses.

Further Enhanced

It would scarcely seem as though a heavy, wondrously woven silk sweater needed enhancement, and so keen is the rivalry among sweaters that some of the most ingenious ones for spring are showing with silk braid embroidery of intricate design and sometimes of many varying colors.

The Smock

Somewhat cutting into the popularity of the one-piece dress comes the smock-dress, as I would call it. The top garment in this costume is buffeted upon the head by the artist's smock and ceases its trifle below the knees. It is worn above a matching skirt, plain and straight, of course.

FASHION'S SPRING SPECTRUM

One of the smartest coats of the season has the raised design in front and the tunic in back. Heavy fringe of mounted feathers ostrich drips over one side of the brim of a hat of gray felt.

Delightfully feminine and alluring coming are the little afternoon frocks fashioned entirely of ruffles.

The circular skirt of a velvet evening gown of white velvet is edged and bordered with heavy black fur.

Metal cloths are used for the charming little dressy frocks trimmed with knots of fringe.

Bands of embroidery are effectively used, can be used effectively on the dark evening frock.

A plume of black and white ostrich rise at the back of a close-fitting toque of black velvet.

The return of the high collar and cuffs adds a touch of daintiness to the white frock.

Applique of black velvet in large floral design is used on an afternoon gown of white crepe.

Touches of white give the youthful air to a frock of black velvet cut on quaint lines.

A touch of ermine is used in fashionable trimming now as nowhere is it more effective than on the dark velvet frocks.

Green and silver brocade forms the bodice of an afternoon frock of black velvet. An ornament of crystals and green stones holds the drapery in place.

Pearl embroidery edges the sleeves and low neckline of a frock of rose satin. The same pearl embroidery edges the skirt in two rows and is used on the sleeves.

BRIDE OF RECENT HOME WEDDING

To Reside Here After Honeymoon Trip

[Photo by Kiddie Kraft Studio]

Mrs. Gerald Voyer

ONE of the beautiful home weddings of the season was celebrated Saturday at high noon when Miss Anne Eleanor Hutchings became the bride of Mr. Gerald Joseph Voyer. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Hutchings on West Forty-eighth street. The bridal party stood in the library under an arch of white flowers and green foliage. The bride was lovely in her gown of white crepe embroidered with rhinestones, her long veil fastened with a band of orange bolssoms. She carried bride roses and lillies of the valley.

..Mrs. H. A. Shellaby, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore blue georgette, carrying Russel roses. Little Joyce Shellaby was ringbearer and was in pink organdie. Mr. Lloyd Mason, fraternity brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride's home was formerly in Olean, N. W., and she is a graduate of the University of Michigan. The groom is from Montana, a graduate of the University of Washington. The ceremony was followed by a reception for fifty guests and afterward Mr. and Mrs. Voyer left for a motor trip up the coast, and upon their return will make their home in this city.

CRAB FLAKES CREOLE

Heat in a saute pan four tablespoons of olive oil, add two finely chopped onions and one finely shredded green pepper; fry until the onions is a light golden color; drain off the oil and add one crushed clove of garlic, and if liked three sliced canned or fresh mushrooms; cook two minutes and add two peeled and chopped tomatoes or one cup of thick canned tomatoes four tablespoons of hot water; simmer slowly for fifteen minutes; add two cups of cooked crab meat, heat, season with salt and paprika and serve on a plate bordered with steamed rice.

PALMDALE SALAD

Peel, core, and cut in halves lengthwise three even sized pears and drop in cold water to which has been added two tablespoons of lemon juice. Mix one cup of peeled and chopped white celery with five tablespoons of chopped walnut meats, one tablespoon of chili sauce, one chopped pimento, and two tablespoons of French dressing. Lay a half pear on a bed of shredded lettuce on a cold plate, fill the core hole with the mixture, cover with lemon mayonnaise and sprinkle with finely chopped pimento and nut meats.

CIOPINO SANTA BARBARA

Place a large can of tomatoes in a one quart saucepan and add to them a seasoning of salt, paprika and half a teaspoon of sugar, one teaspoon of rosemary, one teaspoon of thyme, half a teaspoon of cloves, and half a teaspoon of mace; bring to a boil and simmer slowly for half an hour; strain into a clean saucepan, add one tablespoon of lemon juice and one tablespoon of finely chopped parsley and let simmer slowly. Place in a thick iron pot half a cup of olive oil, two finely chopped onions, and two crushed cloves of garlic; cook until the onions are a light yellow; add three pounds of boned and skinned halibut cut in three-ounce piece, seasoned with salt and cook until lightly browned on all sides; add the tomato mixture and simmer slowly for two hours. Serve in a border spaghetti.

ROQUEFORT DRESSING

Place in a bowl half a pound of Roquefort cheese and one teaspoon of butter, mash and rub to a smooth paste and work into it gradually one teaspoon of salt, two teaspoons of Worcestershire sauce, (if liked), one quarter of a teaspoon of black pepper, four tablespoons of vinegar, and a scant half cup of olive oil.

ZABAIONE

Beat hard for six minutes six eggs and half a cup of powdered sugar; place in a double boiler and beat over the fire with a rotary egg beater until stiff enough to hold a small spoon upright; while whipping work in four tablespoons of orange juice and one tablespoon of Maraschino syrup. Serve hot or cold in tall thin glasses.

TERM JURIES DRAWN

Term trial juries for service in U. S. District Judges Bledsoe's and James's departments were drawn yesterday, and U. S. Marshal Sittel's deputies are serving the members of the panel. The seventy names drawn for service in Judge James's court will report for duty Tuesday, February 5; those in Judge Bledsoe's court on Tuesday, February 12. They will serve until the opening of the July term of court.

The Woman and Her Job

By Valeria Hutton

[Questions concerning the vocational problems of women will be answered by Mrs. Watrous in this column if addressed to her at The Times. If personal replies are desired a stamped envelope must be enclosed.]

WHAT IS YOUR RECORD?

Another letter has come from Ruth, and I'm glad to hear from her, as she always brings up an interesting discussion. This time she writes to ask:

"Will you please tell me what speed in shorthand an A-1 stenographer should have? And in typing for a period of seven and a half hours, with a break of one hour, say three hours in the first period, and four and a half hours in the second period, would a total of 18,550 words be a 'fair' showing? It was all copying."

An average of 125 words a minute is considered a good stenographic speed, and will meet the requirements of the general office secretary. It is a high rate for technical material such as is dictated by electrical engineers. Many lawyers require a speed up to 150 words a minute, largely due to the fact that phrases, sentences, and whole paragraphs will be repeated verbatim over and over again. If a law stenographer brings her speed up to this requirement, she is competent to take depositions, and hearings before United States commissioners.

There are many business men who require a secretary able to write at this speed. To meet these demands is more difficult than to take dictation or report legal matters. A girl who can take and transcribe at this rate is worth and should be paid a good salary.

I might digress to tell you about a clever girl whom I once sent to substitute in the office of an elderly and very exacting lawyer. His office was on the second floor, his desk beside the front window that overlooked a busy and interesting street. The girl was diminutive, pretty, wide blue eyes, like a little girl wakened from her afternoon nap, and a mop of copper hair that had a trick of getting loose and curling quite alluringly about her face. The lawyer liked her looks—most of the men did.

When I sent her to him I neglected to tell him that she was 37, had spent five years in the office of an important law firm, and for three years had been working her way through medical college by reporting conventions, surgical societies, and other highly technical organizations.

The first day the lawyer dictated to her, she kept looking out of the window, and smiling at the interesting things she saw, giving the work in hand very slight attention. He was furious, and talked more rapidly, but Helen continued quite unconcerned. Then he asked her to turn back pages and pages, and read what he had dictated, and she chattered it back to him as glibly as though it were set in 72-point type.

His wrath turned to amazement, and for the next few days he looked upon her as something of a curiosity. Then he met me on the street and told me all this. After I had laughed and teased him a bit, I told him he had the crack reporter for the American Medical Association, a girl who rarely earned less than $10 a day when she worked. He confessed that she was the cleverest stenographer he had ever seen and that he didn't know it was humanly possible to operate a typewriter at the speed that seemed quite normal to her. He paid his regular stenographer $120, but paid Helen $200, and tried to dissuade her from returning to college when her vacation was ended.

To return to Ruth and her 18,550 words in seven and a half hours. It seems to me she is in Helen's class.

One of our girls on The Times holds a certificate from one of the large typewriting companies for a speed of fifty-one words a minute for fifteen minutes.

Assuming that Ruth's pages ran 250 words each, which is the average, she turned out one page every six minutes for the entire period. If she was making carbons, then her speed would have been higher than that. There must have been times when it ran away above sixty words per minute, for no human being could sustain a speed of forty-one words a minute for seven hours and a half. There would be fluctuations. There must have been some errors, which she paused to correct.

I think Ruth's performance remarkable, and if she is willing to accept responsibility, and has the initiative and confidence to act on her own judgment, she should make an unusually able secretary, and, with experience, a capable executive.

Accomplishing that amount of work, and keeping the pace hour after hour, means unusual co-ordination between hand and brain, and it also indicates unusual powers of concentration. All other things being equal, there should be an important place in the world for Ruth, but she must get out and advertise; rewards don't go to the "little brown wrens."

It might interest Ruth to read "Labor and Efficiency," if I recall the title correctly, by Josephine Goldmark. She will doubtless find it in the public library.

Shredded Wheat

WHAT ARE YOU PAYING FOR REAL FOOD?

Do you merely buy so many things to eat every day, or do you weigh your diet for its food value?

Your body requires certain elements to keep it functioning normally, and to build healthy tissue. Shredded Wheat supplies all of these elements—the proteins, the carbo-hydrates and the fats—as well as all the bran you need.

And at such a trifling cost! Two biscuits make a meal—a whole meal from whole wheat for 2½ cents!

What's more, Shredded Wheat is delicious—either by itself or topped with prunes, raisins or other fruits.

CITY IS LEADER IN RECRUITING

Army Station Here Makes Record in December

Ranks Now Have Vacancies for 60,000 Men

Posts All Over Country Are Enlisting Many Youths

Current enlistments are rapidly filling the 60,000 vacancies in the Army, resulting from the discharge of that number of men. During December 5590 recruits were enlisted by the sixty-three recruiting stations the Army has in various parts of the country, and the results for January will exceed that number, it was announced at the local Army recruiting station.

The Los Angeles Army recruiting station at 432 South Main street, leads all the recruiting stations in the number of enlistments for December, according to figures compiled by the War Department at Washington. The local recruiting staff is headed by Maj. E. H. Pearce, United States Army, who is a veteran of the Spanish War and the World War.

PLEASED WITH RESULTS

Maj.-Gen. Charles G. Morton, United States Army, the second highest military officer in the United States, commanding the Ninth Corps area, was highly pleased with the results obtained by the local recruiters on his recent inspection trip to the Southland. He commended Maj.-Gen. Pearce for the excellent results.

The standard of the young men taken into the service is high, and the physical examination is rigid. The age limitations are between 21 and 34 years, but under exceptional circumstances young men over 18 years are accepted providing the consent of the parents is obtained.

Enlistments for Hawaii and Panama are the most popular, with the air service as the most desirable branch. The men manifest a desire to see foreign countries. Enlistments for China and the Philippines are at present closed, these stations having their full quota.

LOCAL PERSONNEL

The personnel of the local Army recruiting station consists of specially selected men whose records are excellent in all departments of service. Several of them are "old timers" with more than twenty years' service. It is estimated that each member of the recruiting staff answers three questions of non-military import to each five minutes during the day, for which reason courtesy is an evident qualification.

FOLLETTE IS WITNESS IN OWN BEHALF

Denies Procuring Bonds for Prisoners; Refutes Lindquist Testimony

Channing Follette went on the stand in his own defense late yesterday afternoon in Judge Keetch's courtroom, where he is on trial accused of perjury.

He denied, in answer to the questions of his attorney, Paul Schenck, the assertions of the State, that he had interested himself criminally in the procuring of worthless bonds for several prisoners in the County Jail.

Parts of the testimony of Carl V. Lindquist, a State witness, Edgar B. Hervey, and others, were denied by Follette, formerly a Justice of the Peace, who, in several instances, gave corroborating facts to prove his innocence. He sought to show that, in his testimony before the grand jury last May, when he was questioned concerning "straw bonds" and a $700 bribe, he was telling the facts as he knew them.

He will be cross-examined today by Special Prosecutor William J. Clark.

Follette was preceded on the stand by Attorneys John S. Cooper and Wellington Judd, who gave evidence for the defense. Each of the witnesses traced certain occurrences attendant upon the procuring of the bonds to show that Follette was innocent of any criminal intent.

Judge Keetch ruled yesterday that the evidence adduced by the State was sufficient to force the defense to proceed with testimony, and denied Mr. Schenck's motion for an instructed verdict of acquittal.

DRIVER INJURED IN AUTO-TRAM CRASH

When Kai Pihl, 29 years of age, of 1330 Exposition Boulevard, started to make a left turn yesterday directly behind an inbound Hollywood car at Portia street and Sunset Boulevard he did not see a street car approaching on the other track. In the resulting smash-up Pihl received internal injuries and two passengers waiting to board the outbound car were slightly hurt. They were Mrs. Leo Lyford of 1407 Portia street and Miss Atherton of 1335 Portia street. Pihl was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

OPPOSITE VALENTINO

BEBE DANIELS FEMININE LEAD WITH RUDY

By Grace Kingsley

Those young lady fans who have heretofore been envious of Bebe Daniels on account of her beauty and success are going to be ten times more envious now.

Miss Daniels has just been signed to play the leading role opposite Rudolph Valentino in "Monsieur Beaucaire," which is the story serving to bring the idolized sheik star back to the screen and to the Lasky fold after his long separation from both.

Not only this, but following her appearance in "Monsieur Beaucaire," Miss Daniels is to be co-starred in a series of pictures to be produced at the Lasky studio in Hollywood.

All this is in accordance with the announcement made yesterday by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in charge of production.

In the first of the series she will be co-starred with Antonio Moreno. Work on this photoplay, the title of which has not yet been announced, is to start early in the spring.

"Unusual care was exercised in casting the important role of Lady Mary Carlisle in 'Monsieur Beaucaire,'" said Mr. Lasky, "and we deem the selection of Miss Daniels to be an exceptionally happy one. She is ideal for the part, which affords her genius an opportunity to make the most of the acting ability and rare screen personality which are hers and have so endeared her to the photoplay-going public."

"Monsieur Beaucaire" is to be made in New York, and Miss Daniels will start thither tomorrow morning. She will be accompanied by her mother.

The star has just moved, with her mother, into her handsome new home on Commonwealth avenue, but, like any much alive young lady, is delighted at the prospect of another trip to New York. This will be her second trip within the year.

"I'm very happy over all the arrangements which Lasky is making for me," said Miss Daniels last night. "Mr. Valentino is a fine actor and a charming young man, and I'm sure it will be a pleasure to work opposite him. And naturally, I'm equally delighted to be co-starred with Antonio Moreno. Both speak several foreign tongues; I'm brushing up my Spanish and French, and I suppose I shan't be able to remember a word of English by the time I'm through with these two pictures."

Wally Eddinger in "Applejack"

The suspense is over, and it has been decided that San Francisco, instead of Los Angeles, is to get the first look at Wallace Eddinger in "Capt. Applejack."

Eddinger, who is under contract to Sam Harris and Thomas Wilkes, left yesterday for the northern city, where he will start rehearsals at once on the play. Later he will appear at the Majestic here in the comedy.

Universal Buys It

George Barr McCutcheon's popular novel success, "Husbands of Edith," has been purchased by the Universal Pictures Corporation, according to announcement from Julius Bernheim, general manager at Universal City.

"Husbands of Edith" is one of the most popular products of the McCutcheon pen. Universal executives believe it has exceptional possibilities as an all-star feature or as a starring vehicle for Reginald Denny. It may be used for the latter purpose.

Another literary purchase of importance is Kathleen Norris's novel, "The Butterfly," which probably will be used for a Virginia Valli-Norman Kerry appearance in an elaborate production.

Pauline Frederick To Tour

If all goes as now planned, Pauline Frederick will shortly be making pictures in London for A. H. Woods. The famous lady of the screen is to have her own company over there. She is also to appear on the London stage under the Woods management in "A Woman In Love."

It is planned for Miss Frederick to leave Los Angeles next month.

Hope Hampton Travels

Hope Hampton and the Warner Brothers have come to the parting of the ways, according to a wire from New York. Miss Hampton has left New York for Europe with her husband, Jules Brulatour, sailing on the Belgeland on the 19th inst. The cruise will be a sixty-seven-day one on the Mediterranean, and will touch all the ports of consequence as far as Alexandria.

The break came between Miss Hampton and the Warners, it is reported, because after Miss Hampton had read over a certain part in Ernst Lubitsch's next picture which she was supposed to play, she suggested certain changes in the role which the director refused to accept.

There is a rumor in New York, according to word just received, that Miss Hampton is considering going into musical comedy when she returns from her world-tour.

"Let Not Man Put Asunder"

Colorful Art of Russians Again Allures

Kaleidoscopic art presented with the most satisfying finesse was the outstanding feature of the second program of the Ukranian National Chorus, under the direction of Alexander Koschetz, last night. Philharmonic Auditorium was filled, and every number, both solo and ensemble, was more than enthusiastically received.

One reverently thanks the powers that be that here at last is a singing organization whose members know the meaning of the word decrescendo. They treat vocal ensemble in interpretation as instrumental music, and have, in every way earned their title of "the human symphony." And this has special reference to symphonic shading in its most alluring aspect.

They sing intensely, emotionally, vigorously. They follow their director, M. Koschetz, with an attention which is beautiful to see. And they sing with an accuracy and precision which are astonishing.

It matters little what they sang, so far as reference to the programmed numbers is concerned. The composers were gratefully new and Russian practically throughout. Many of the selections were folksongs.

The faces of the members of the chorus are a fascinating character study, for on each is written deeply and individually a love for the musical art that is sacred.

Ewasel Belousoff, 'cellist, played several programmed numbers and five on six encores. His Variations on a Theme Rococo by Tschaikowsky brought out the full possibilities of his instrument. He treated his 'cello with a rare tenderness, not only procuring tones of sterling beauty, but of ethereal sweetness and softness, as well.

BOSTON BLACKIE ON CALIFORNIA SCREEN

A "crook" story transferred to the screen with so much realism that it makes you sympathize with those who are matching wits with law and order is coming to the screen soon. It is "Through the Dark" picturized from Jack Boyle's Boston Blackie tale, "The Daughter of Mother McGinn," and it is to open at the California on February 3, following the engagement of Victor Seastrom's drama of love, "Name the Man." While retribution overtakes those who stray from the straight and narrow in this story, as in real life, those portraying the various underworld characters make them personalities that are so charming and human that they win and hold the sympathy right up to the finish.

GEORGE FITZMAURICE TO ATTEND PREMIERE

George Fitzmaurice, promoter of "The Eternal City," is making a special trip to Los Angeles to witness the presentation of his production at Grauman's Million-Dollar Theater.

A wire received by A. A. Kaufman, managing director of the three downtown Grauman Theaters, stated that he was leaving New York in time to be present at the opening, Monday evening. On that occasion Mr. Fitzmaurice and Barbara La Marr, the star of the picture, will make their appearance on the stage, together with other film celebrities who have signified their intention of being present.

PLAYDOM

"SUNDOWN" STARTS

LARGE CAST WILL SOON GO ON LOCATION

By Edwin Schallert

The life of the cattle country, with the passing of the great cattle herds of the West as a climax, is just about to be woven into a new and picturesque feature, that may develop into an actual epic of the American pioneer ideals. The First National organization has announced the beginning of "Sundown," and the work of establishing locations, and assembling a vast herd of cattle is under way in the vicinity of El Paso.

Laurence Trimble will direct the picture from a story by Earl J. Hudson, supervisor of First National's producing units. The story has been scenarioized by Frances Marion and Kenneth Clark.

The principal actors, who will go on location within a week, include Hobart Bosworth, Beasie Love, Roy Stewart, Charlie Murray, Tully Marshall, Ben Alexander, Hal Wilson, Wilfred North, Charles B. Crockett, Bernard Randall and Tom Delmore.

High Power Leads

The combination of Barbara La Marr and Conway Tearle in pictures is a new one, and consequently a great deal of interest will attach to "The White Moth," which Maurice Tourneur will film, because these two players head the cast. Miss La Marr is now completing work in "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," from the Robert W. Service poem, and Mr. Tearle recently finished playing a co-featured role in the Corinne Griffith production, "Lilies of the Field."

Crosland With Paramount

A long-term contract has been signed by Alan Crosland with the Famous Players-Lasky organization, according to announcement yesterday by Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president in charge of production. His first picture, "Sinners in Heaven," from Clive Arden's novel of South Sea love, will be produced at the Paramount Long Island studio, starting in March. Mr. Crosland directed recently "Under the Red Robe" and "Three Weeks."

PAVLOWA HERE TO OPEN ENGAGEMENT

A special train of five cars, consisting of three Pullman drawing-room sleepers, and two extra-length baggage and scenery cars will bring Anna Pavlowa and her array of ocular operas to Los Angeles this morning. The Russian star has been enjoying a successful engagement in the Bay Cities and by reason of the diversified programs announced for presentation at Philharmonic Auditorium, there is a widespread interest in the Pavlowa engagement, which starts with a matinee performance this afternoon.

PREMIERE OF HAROLD BELL WRIGHT STORY

Harold Bell Wright's novel, "When a Man's a Man," picturized by Sol Lesser, will be given its world premiere at Loew's State Theater February 2.

The book was filmed on the locale described in the narrative, with the co-operation of the author. The leading roles are played by John Bowers and Marguerite de la Motte, with many others in the cast. Eddie Cline directed the picture.

Where the homing instinct abides

From far and wide on unerring wings, come thousands of gulls. The hush of twilight steals down from the mountains. The flat, red disc of the sun sinks into the Pacific—and the gulls soar down to their nightly rest.

Out from the shore, jutting their hulking forms from the restless sea, are the bird rocks. Pointed from every quarter of the Peninsula, the gulls come here for their rest, night after night, year after year. Here the homing instinct abides—and endures.

So with your home, once you make it here. Here are the worthwhile things of life in gripping measure. Here is home—so productive of content and happiness that the homing instinct abides—and endures.

The Monterey Peninsula affords you home communities among which you'll find your ideal. Here you may work harder with less effort, and here you'll find more joy in playing.

Then too, it's worth more to live where every house is a home, yet here it can cost you less. Write for the book "Fulfilment." It costs you nothing, but it tells you much of homes and happy living. Some day you'll want to visit or to live here. Get acquainted now, through this elaborate little book. We've not a thing to sell, but much to tell. Mail the coupon NOW.

The Free Book "Fulfilment"

The Monterey Peninsula is the favored beauty spot of Californians. It's their most delightful outdoor region, and here's their most equable climate. Duofold's Over-size barrel ends Writer's Cramp

Big and Easy to hold, with fingers and mind relaxed

Its super-smooth tip costs us $2340 a pound—Guaranteed for 25 years' wear

START the New Year with this fine tool of hand and brain and do bigger things with less exertion. For the Duofold's Over-size Barrel not only holds an extra large supply of ink—it relaxes the mind and the fingers because it's so big and balanced that the hand can hold it without fiercely gripping the shaft, as you would to keep a small light pen from wobbling.

Its Chinese lacquer-red color, with smart black tips, flashes your eye a reminder not to forget your pen when you lay it down.

All this in a pen so smooth you can tell the Parker Duofold point from others with your eyes shut! Make this test today at the nearest pen counter—you'll be surprised.

This famous point is guaranteed 25 years for mechanical perfection and wear. It needs no "breaking in"—no style of writing can distort it—hence a pen you can lend, not with fear, but pride!

Strong ★Gold Girdle—was $1 extra—now free, due to large production. (Considerably more than a million Parkers were bought last year.) Any good pen counter will sell you this classic on 30 days' approval—the same in all cities and towns.

SUIT REVEALS ILLICIT LOVE

Polish Girl Says She Was Tricked Into Living With Man, Thinking He Was Her Husband

Declaring she had been induced to live with Sam Oskey as his wife on the pretext that only a marriage license was necessary to cement their marital relationship, Emma Meliski, who described herself as a Polish girl, unschooled in the English language and the ways of this country, yesterday testified in her own behalf in the trial of her suit against Oskey for $25,000 damages.

But when Mrs. Meliski admitted that she had been previously married and divorced in San Francisco, Judge J. Perry Wood dismissed the case, declaring the grounds were insufficient.

"When he asked me to marry him, I said I couldn't because we had known each other such a short time," she told an interpreter in Judge J. Perry Wood's court. "He said it didn't make any difference; that I should marry him anyway. He said if I would marry him he would give me half of his property. I told him I didn't have any divorce papers and he said that that didn't make any difference because everybody knew I was divorced."

Oskey told her that all that was necessary was to obtain a marriage license certificate, she declared, adding that she went to live with the defendant March 1, 1923, supposing herself and Oskey to be husband and wife.

She declared that Oskey failed to deed to her one-half of his property as he was said to have promised. The property was valued at $20,000, according to her complaint.

Oskey, in an answer he filed to the suit, admitted he and Mrs. Meliski had obtained a marriage license, but he declared she demanded a share of his property before she would give her consent to go through a wedding ceremony.

She was asserted to have come to his home in Vernon and offered to live with him, according to Oskey, who stated she did not tell him she was a married woman.

TESTIFIES IN CHECK DEAL

President of Story-Distributing Company Asserts Agent Kept Proceeds of Novel Sale

One witness, Reine Davies, yesterday was called in the preliminary hearing before Justice Hanby of Kelly Walton, charged with embezzlement. The case was continued one week for conclusion.

Walton is said to have pocketed $6150 belonging to the International Story Company, for whom he was acting as an agent. The money came into his possession when he sold a novel "The Son of the Sahara" to the First National Picture Corporation to be made into a picture.

Miss Davies, sister of Marion Davies, film star and actress, is president of the story-distributing organization. Her testimony yesterday gave the details of the transaction between the office in New York and Walton in this city.

"He was authorized to make the sale for us," Miss Davies told Justice Hanby. "But we expected to receive a check for the amount of the consideration. It never came."

After several months' delay in receiving the check, Miss Davies said, she instituted an investigation with the result that Walton was arrested and held on the embezzlement charge. It is said that he indorsed and cashed the check, representing himself as an agent of the corporation.

A motion-picture company at present is engaged in filming the story under a different name. Several scenes are being made in Egypt.

WIFE'S NOTE BRINGS MERCY

Judge Suspends Sentence of Husband Accused of Speeding Home from Long Beach

"Dear Judge Baird: I hope you will take time to read these few lines. Last Wednesday my husband was coming home from Long Beach when two motorcycle officers tried to stop him. But he didn't know that they were officers and kept on going until they caught up with him.

"He tried to tell them, Mr. Judge, but they wouldn't listen and now he is tagged and has to appear in your court next Wednesday. That will knock him out of a day's work and whatever is in your heart to fine him, Mr. Judge. He isn't a reckless driver; you know a man with a family isn't going to speed.

"I am all upset cause work is hard to get and every day he misses means so much. We are way out here in Bellflower trying hard to pay our debts, which piled up on us when my husband had typhoid fever last year. And now this tag on us is enough to give anyone the blues. For you know when there are three children it keeps a person figuring to pay honest debts, let alone a movie once in a while.

"I wish, judge, if you have to fine him, you could take it out in hens. I have some that I've raised myself and if you had a place in your backyard to keep them you wouldn't regret having them. They're good layers."

This was a letter which greeted Presiding Justice Baird on his appearance yesterday morning in justice court to hold his weekly gathering of speeders.

What did he do? Well, first he frowned, then he smiled. And when A. W. Seefeldt's complaint was passed to him, he hastily scribbled on the back, "Sentence suspended," and passed it back to the clerk.

Others didn't fare so well. Oscar Perret, Ignacio Carrello, M. Garcia, J. E. Brunton and Warren O. Robison each were sent to jail because they couldn't pay the fines imposed. R. Nix, 16 years of age, was fined $250 and sentenced to fifteen days in jail for driving through a crowd of school children at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour.

A hundred others brought before the magistrate by Capt. Cannon's group of county officers were fined amounts varying from $10 to $50.

EX-BROKER IS HELD AS EMBEZZLER

False Representations of Loan Security Laid to H. B. Eshleman

Hugh B. Eshleman, former broker of this city, yesterday was held to answer by Justice Wood on a charge of embezzlement. The hearing followed a grand jury indictment on a similar charge now awaiting trial before Judge Crail.

Witnesses yesterday in the justice court told Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan of asserted misrepresentations regarding property security by which Eshleman succeeded in borrowing money. These securities, according to testimony, proved worthless.

The specific charge against the broker concerns an embezzlement from Mrs. Mary M. Pickler of $3395. It occurred, Mrs. Pickler said on the stand, when Eshleman wanted to borrow money from her for Dr. Benjamin A. Wilkes. He told her that Dr. Wilkes had a lot which he would put up as security and assured her of the value of the lot. Mrs. Pickler verified the representations of the case and agreed to make the loan. She later, she says, turned the money over to Eshleman's firm.

When the notes later were investigated, according to evidence introduced yesterday, it was discovered that the wrong address had been placed in the note as security. It was further stated that Dr. Wilkes had never received the loan.

Eshleman is accused in a grand jury indictment of a similar offense. Hearing of that case was recently continued to March 1 when Eshleman's attorney requested time to make restitution.

HONEYMOON BRIEF, WIFE PUT IN JAIL

Woman Arrested Here Held for Missouri on Extraditable Charge

Married one day—in jail the next.

Such was the experience of Mrs. Edna Murray, arrested yesterday by Detectives Hamilton and Mahoney on request of Chief of Detectives Walston, of Kansas City.

Mrs. Murray, also known as Edna Sullivan, according to the wire from Kansas City, is charged with leaving Missouri with mortgaged property in her possession.

When she was arrested it was learned that on Tuesday she was married to Jack Murray by Justice Wood. When notified of her arrest her husband announced he would institute habeas corpus proceedings for her release, police stated.

Mrs. Murray is 25 years of age, and was arrested at 4149 1-4 Monroe street.

Funeral Service Conducted Over Drowned Man

Funeral services for E. O. Swenderton, 64 years of age, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, whose body was found floating in a small lake near Saugus, were conducted yesterday at the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle.

Swenderton had been missing for several months. His body was found by a duck hunter. Death was due to accidental drowning, according to investigators.

Swenderton lived in Culver City and is survived by a widow.

Funeral services were in charge of the W. G. Noble mortuary of San Fernando.

Here and There With Mr. Dunlap and the Sheriff

Harry J. Dunlap, badge bandit and suspected murderer, is at a camp fifty miles south of the Mexican border and a squad of police from Tijuana have gone to arrest him, Deputy Sheriff Stein reported yesterday on his return from San Diego.

Dunlap also was reported seen yesterday going west on Slauson avenue. He stopped in a store and asked the way to Redondo Beach, which the Sheriff thought queer as Dunlap is well acquainted with that vicinity.

Dunlap is said to have eaten one meal in Burbank yesterday and another in Universal City.

Deputy Sheriffs Dewar and Modie have gone to Fresno to bring back a man, who, it is thought, may be Dunlap.

MRS. SARAH VILAS CALLED SUDDENLY

Mrs. Sarah Vilas, 70 years of age, of Ceres, sister-in-law of former United States Senator Vilas of Wisconsin, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Madeline V. Finley, 826 Fedora street, Tuesday night. Only a few hours before her death Mrs. Vilas was enjoying a motor-car ride with her daughter and there was no thought of her death.

She was well known in Modesto and in Washington, where she spent some time during the administration of former President Cleveland. Her brother-in-law was then Postmaster-General.

The remains were taken to Modesto last night. Interment will be in Masonic Cemetery there.

CLUB PLANS NEW BUILDING

Commercial Organization to Erect Height-limit Building in Downtown District

Tentative plans are now being prepared for a new height-limit club building in the downtown district for the Commercial Club of Southern California, it was announced yesterday by J. Ward Cohen, organizer, who is also prominent in local oil circles. According to present arrangements actual building operations will be started within ninety days, or as soon as negotiations have been completed for the purchase of the site.

Mr. Cohen stated that he had several sites under consideration and expected to make a selection within the next thirty days. "I am considering one site in the southwestern section of the downtown district," Mr. Cohen said, "which I am unable to announce at this time but which, in all probability, will be chosen by the building committee."

Initial sketches have been completed under the supervision of Architect Edwin Bergstrom, designer of the Southern California Athletic and Country Club now under construction on Wilshire Boulevard. The proposed building will have a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of at least 175 feet, to be thirteen stories high, of reinforced concrete and class A construction.

NOTABLES JOIN

"Our club has only been organized three months," Mr. Cohen said, "and during that time many prominent business men have applied for membership. Our membership now include M. A. Hamburger, formerly of Hamburger's Department Store; Orra Monnette, banker, Cecil B. De Mille, motion-picture producer; Lloyd McAtee, financier; James Woods, vice-president of the Biltmore Hotel; Michael Gore, theater magnate; Joseph Schenck, Irving Heilman and Eddie Maier.

"The purpose of our club is to promote good fellowship among business men in Southern California and to create friendliness between the various industries of the Southland. We will operate our club on a nonprofit and nonsectarian basis and will accept only the highest type of business men in our memberships," he said.

Details being worked out by the architect and the building syndicate provide for the erection of one of the finest club buildings in the West, containing elaborate club-rooms, dining-rooms, recreational halls and a spacious roof garden. When the structure has been completed it will represent a total outlay of more than $1,000,000 exclusive of property investments.

THEATER PLANNED

Other important building deals announced yesterday include the erection of a new ten-story hotel on the northwest corner of Fifth and Wall streets for F. W. Byer and the erection of a legitimate theater in the downtown district for Louis O. Macloon involving approximately $300,000.

Architect L. A. Smith has been commissioned to draft plans for the hotel to be built on the Wall-street corner at a cost of $300,000. According to specifications the structure will be forty feet wide and 100 feet deep, of reinforced concrete construction, and arranged to contain 150 rooms.

Louis O. Macloon, who is now associated with Frank Egan in the production of a play at Egan's Theater, admitted yesterday that preliminary plans are being considered for a new legitimate showhouse to be located in the business section. Mr. Macloon stated that he is negotiating with eastern producers with the view of erecting a new theater to contain features similar to that of the Biltmore Theater. No site has been selected, Mr. Macloon said.

THIRD WIFE FIGHTS CASE

Liberty Bonds Valued at $65,000 and $15,000 in Jewelry of Millionaire Sought

Mystery in the whereabouts of $65,000 in Liberty bonds and $15,000 in jewelry, part of the estate of the late George Taylor, Sr., millionaire broker of Chicago, yesterday brought about sharp verbal tilts between attorneys assembled here to take depositions of important witnesses.

In a complaint filed in the Superior Court of Cook county, Illinois, Mrs. Mary Taylor, third wife and widow of the wealthy broker, Walter S. Taylor, a son, and John Wilson, a nephew of Mrs. Taylor, are asserted to be in conspiracy to deprive George Taylor, Jr., a son of the second Mrs. Taylor, of property belonging to him as one of the three heirs of the estate.

Taylor, Sr., according to attorneys, left a will dividing his estate equally between Mrs. Taylor, Walter S. and George Taylor, Jr. Of this estate some $600,000 in bonds and securities has been distributed by the two sons acting as executors. Part of the remainder, consisting of real estate, is still undivided.

When Mrs. Taylor the second died some years ago, she left a will bequeathing jewelry valued at $15,000 to George Taylor, Jr. This will, it is said, was not properly witnessed; it was later declared void by court and the jewelry turned over to Taylor, Sr., as the proper heir.

According to the complaint filed in Chicago, Taylor, Sr., afterward told his son that he would carry out the provisions of the disputed will. But after his death it is asserted that the jewelry disappeared.

Examination of the dead broker's books also discovered the item of $60,000 worth of Liberty Bonds which were supposed to be in a Chicago safe deposit vault and which, it is asserted, have not yet appeared in a schedule of the estate's assets.

During the period of Taylor, Sr.'s last illness, it is averred that Miss Ruth B. Miller, his private secretary, who now resides in the exclusive Brownell Apartments, 916 South Lake street, Los Angeles, Walter S. Taylor, Mrs. Mary Taylor and others had access to the vaults in which the bonds were kept.

By agreement between John H. S. Lee, Chicago attorney, who gained fame as a prosecutor when former Governor of Illinois John S. Deneen was State's Attorney of Cook county, and the firm of McCormick, Kirkland, Patterson & Fleming, of Chicago, representing the plaintiff, the testimony of Miss Miller and other witnesses on the Pacific Coast is being taken this week by deposition before Notary M. J. Bedell, 478 I. W. Hellman Building, 411 South Spring street, Los Angeles.

The session yesterday was marked with frequent interruptions by counsel for defendants, who averred that Attorney Otto Christensen of Los Angeles, acting for the plaintiff, was on a "fishing expedition" to lay a foundation for probable future court action. After three hours of argument the matter was continued until Saturday afternoon.

George Taylor, Jr., the dissenting heir, is at the Biltmore. Attorney Lee is a guest of the Ambassador.

BONUSES TO SAM SEELIG EMPLOYEES

Eight Hundred Dine at Banquet of Rapidly Developing Grocery Concern

More than 750 employees of Sam Seelig Company, representing 200 grocery stores in Southern California, attended the annual banquet last night in the new $500,000 warehouse at Vernon avenue and Alameda street. President Seelig presided as toastmaster.

Distribution of $50,000 in profit-sharing bonuses to approximately 450 employees, in addition to $30,000 already awarded during the year for individual activity, and announcement of salary increases for about 40 per cent of the employees were features of the affair. Mr. Seelig personally presented the bonus checks and gave the notification of the salary increases. The bonus, he stated, is a means of expressing the appreciation of the company for the work of the employees in building up the business during the past year. All employees of six months' service participated and the bonuses averaged about $100 per employee.

The past year was prosperous and was marked by increased sales in each of the branch stores, Mr. Seelig said. Sales for 1923 totaled $8,500,000, and it is expected the 1924 total will reach at least $11,000,000, he declared. Announcement was also made that the two hundred and first store will open soon at Burbank.

"Without exception," said Mr. Seelig, "reports from managers of the seventy-six stores established in 1923 are that extraordinary sales have greeted the first few months. The managers also report that the districts in which these new stores were started are building up rapidly. I expect we will start seventy-five new stores during 1924."

Mr. Seelig announced a 7-per-cent dividend on the preferred stock of the Sam Seelig Realty Company and a substantial dividend in the grocery concern.

The new warehouse will be officially opened to the public with a housewarming the 30th inst., at 3 p.m., it was announced.

AUTO CRASH TAKES LIFE OF MOTHER

Two Men Injured, One is Expected to Die; Another Woman Fled Scene

One woman was instantly killed and two men were injured, one probably fatally, last night, when a heavy touring car in which they were riding struck a telegraph pole near the half-way crossing at Harbor and Lomita Boulevards, Los Angeles Harbor. Another woman, said to have been riding in the rear seat, whose name was not learned, is reported to have fled in the darkness when the victims were taken from the wreckage.

The dead woman was identified by papers on her person as Ethel Lane, 22 years of age, 5878 Towne avenue. The dying man is Ross McMahon, 22, living at Compton, while the less seriously hurt is Ray F. Carpenter, 25, of 716 East Laurel street, Compton, said to have been the owner and driver.

The large machine was badly wrecked. The entire right side was torn off by the crash, according to police.

Carpenter, after Police Surgeon Langan administered first aid, recovered sufficiently to give his version of the accident. He is reported to have told police he drove the machine into the pole to avoid a street car.

After Carpenter told his story he was placed under arrest on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter and is being held in the Los Angeles Harbor Jail. He told police he is a commercial aviator employed by the Daugherty Aviation Comuany of Long Beach. He is said to have recently married.

The body of Miss Lane is being held at Goodrich's Undertaking Company, Los Angeles Harbor. McMahon, when the extent of his injuries was determined, was removed to the General Hospital in a harbor police ambulance. He is suffering from a broken leg and internal injuries. The dead woman was said to have been the divorced wife of Barton Schults, 1317 Rose street. She leaves two small children, who live with their father, police said.

LOS ANGELES IN THIRD POSITION

New York and Chicago Lead in Telegraph Business

Thousand Per Cent Increase Here in Ten Years

President Carlton and Other Officials to Arrive

That Los Angeles within the past two years has jumped to the position of third largest telegraph office in the United States, preceded only by New York and Chicago, is the interesting information given out in connection with the arrival today of high officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Newcomb Carlton, president, and other officials will arrive at 10 a.m. in a pirvate car on the Union Pacific for the annual inspection tour of the Pacific Coast. They will remain in Los Angeles today, tomorrow and Saturday.

FORMERLY RANKED TENTH

The amazing fact of this city's growth as the third largest telegraph center in the country was given out last night by W. R. Williams, Los Angeles superintendent. Los Angeles formerly ranked about tenth, he said. In the past ten years Los Angeles telegraphic business has increased more than 1000 per cent. It is this phenomenal growth that will occupy the attention of the officials during their visit here. They will discuss what steps to take to keep pace with the development.

In addition to Mr. Carlton the party will include J. C. Willever, vice-president in charge of the commercial department; G. M. York, vice-president in charge of engineering; J. J. Welch, vice-president in charge of traffic; W. C. Titley, vice-president in charge of the plant department; all of New York; M. T. Cook of San Francisco, general manager of the Pacific division; W. L. Glasbeen of San Francisco, division traffic superintendent, and W. C. Merley, private secretary to Mr. Carlton.

HAS OTHER INTERESTS

Mr. Carlton as a director of the Union Pacific Railroad also will look into his interests in that connection.

He will attend the regional conference of officials of the Boy Scouts at the Biltmore. Other prominant men who will attend this conference are Dr. George J. Fischer, deputy chief scout executive and head of the field department; Charles H. Howard, president, Commonwealth Steel Company, St. Louis; Stewart W. French of Pasadena, and Charles C. Moore and John McGregor, both of San Francisco.

Judge R. C. Lovett, former chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific, will meet Mr. Carlton. The telegraph company officials will return to New York by the southern route.

CARNIVAL OF LEGION POST IS IN RAID

Three Are Arrested and Wheels Seized at Huntington Park

In answer to many complaints that an American Legion carnival in Huntington Park was operating games of chance, a squad of deputy sheriffs last night raided the place and arrested three men.

The men arrested were William H. Bartlett, Jr., commander of American Legion Post, No. 81, C. A. McGahen, concession manager for the Wortham Shows, and G. M. Williams.

Justice Edward Miller of Huntington Park was called from his home to preside at the arraignment of the three. He set the preliminary hearing for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Bail was fixed at $250 each for Williams and McGahen, which was furnished by Bartlett. The latter was released on his own recognisance. Bartlett and McGahen were arraigned on a charge of "causing to be conducted games of chance," and Williams on a charge of "conducting a game of chance, to wit, 'housey-housey,' otherwise known as the corn game."

Bartlett told the justice the American Legion post was getting $15 a week on each concession, wheel or no wheel game, and 15 per cent of the gross receipts of the show.

Arrived at the carnival, the deputies, in charge of Deputy Sheriff Wilmot, discovered no games of chance were being operated, but they were informed the proposed raid had been apparently tipped off and that the wheels used in games had been hidden. They searched the carnival company's wagons and found eleven wheels, which were seized.

The Legion post commander was indignant. He said the raid was a "dirty trick" and that the Legion faces a heavy loss. The carnival proceeds were to be devoted to building a home for the post.

Deputies in the raid were Wilmot, Stewart, Gray, Conly, Wheeler, White and Heine.

CALLED HIM DUMBELL; HE WANTS DIVORCE

Gertrude Taylor stayed away from home late nearly every Saturday night for a whole year, Emerson Taylor alleged in a suit for divorce filed yesterday in the Superior Court. Mrs. Taylor was asserted to have carried on a clandestine correspondence with several men and to have called her husband a dumbell when he remonstrated with her. Taylor stated his wife finally deserted him November 3, 1923, after he had twice forgiven her for her alleged waywardness, for the sake of a minor son.

ESPEE ASKS FRANCHISE

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company yesterday petitioned the City Council for a franchise for tracks on the east side of the Los Angeles River between the so-called pigeon farm and Humboldt.

Explains People Will Pay When They Get Bill

Drama Authority Interested in American Films

Settlement of the German reparations problem will not be effected during the present session of the commission charged with considering this question, in the opinion of Dr. Max Eppstein of Berlin, editor and correspondent, who was among the foreign visitors arriving in Los Angeles yesterday.

Dr. Eppstein, who is at the Alexandria, ranks as one of the foremost dramatic critics in Germany. He is the editor of Des Blaue Heft, a periodical devoted to dramatic and musical topics, and a contributor to the well-known Berliner Zeitung am Mittag.

"I am in America to gather material for a series of articles dealing especially with the sentiment of this country toward Germany," he said. "I have visited a number of the large cities of the East and Middle West, and came here from San Francisco."

APPRECIATES COURTESY

The German editor expressed his appreciation of the uniform courtesy with which he had been met by the Americans during his travels in this country. "I am not thoroughly familiar with the attitude of your government officials toward the Germans, but so far as my experiences here have been concerned, they could not have been more pleasant."

Referring to the present situation in Germany, Dr. Eppstein explained that the principal point in the controversy connected with the reparations question is not that the Germans refuse to pay an indemnity, but that they insist on having a definite amount fixed which they know they will be required to pay.

"If that matter could once be agreed upon, the Germans would settle down and pay their obligation without further difficulty," he said. "They would merely regard it as an inevitable addition to their taxes and proceed to pay it off as soon as possible. It is the uncertainty as to just how much and for how long they will have to be taxed that is the chief cause of German demoralization."

NEW MONEY STABILIZES

Dr. Eppstein said the new rentenmark currency system instituted in Germany a short time ago has already had the effect of stabilizing conditions somewhat.

"We have adopted the dollar as the standard of our currency in the new system," he said, "with tenth and quarter-dollar bills for subsidiary exchange purposes. The new currency is backed by what gold and sound securities are still left in Germany, and it is hoped that the adoption of the system will prove the first step to a restoration of the country to a sound financial basis."

Speaking of conditions in general among the German people, he said there is much suffering among the working and middle classes, especially in the cities.

"It is not so much money the Germans need as food, clothing and fuel. There is a dearth of the barest necessities of existence," he said. "The demoralization is especially noticeable among the educational institutions. Many of the public schools have had to be closed owing to a lack of everything required to keep them going. Our universities, which once ranked with the greatest in the world, have been unable to keep abreast of recent educational developments because they can't buy equipment or even maintain their libraries."

FRIEND OF LUBITSCH

Dr. Eppstein is a close friend of Ernst Lubitsch, the motion-picture director, and Pola Negri, whom he represented in Germany during her European screen career. He takes a keen interest in the motion-picture industry here, and stated that he goes to see a production daily.

"Your American producers surpass the Europeans in the excellence of their photography," he said. "Of course, we have no such studio equipment in Europe as I have seen at Hollywood, and your theaters are far ahead of ours in comfort and magnificence.

"In our motion-picture productions we are following much the same lines as the American producers. For home presentation, however, we go in more for the fantastic in subjects than is usual in American pictures. Educational films are very popular in Germany, and the production of pictures of a semiscientific nature is regarded as one of the most important departments of their business by our largest producers."

Toothache, Earache, Headache Gone Forever

Since time began the human race has suffered from pains of all kinds, but at last science has perfected a wonderful formula which brings complete relief in five minutes.

This wonderful formula known as Sed-a-vol is not habit forming, does not depress the heart as do many anti-pain products, and not only stops pain instantly, but brings a feeling of freshness instead of that tired out run down condition.

Sed-a-vol is absolutely harmless, now being prescribed by thousands of doctors. Step into your nearest drug store and get a package for a few cents. Take a couple of tablets right there. If it doesn't stop your pain in five minutes, the clerk will refund your money. —[Advertisement.

Los Angeles. — "In my young manhood I caught a cold which affected my bronchial tubes and lungs so that I coughed continuously. One day a man said to me, 'You have a bad cough that you had better get rid of or it will get you.' I told him I would be only too glad to be rid of it if I knew the way. Then he told me about Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and advised me to get a bottle. I took his advice and found such relief while taking the first bottle that I was glad to keep on with it until I was totally cured of my cough and bronchial weakness. Quite some time later I injured my hip and an abscess formed. I knew that the 'Golden Medical Discovery, was considered a splendid blood purifier and thought it might relieve me. I only had to take it a short while until the abscess left me and I have had no return of it since."—Isaac H. Weir, Rt. 6, Box 913.

Exhibition of Bookmaking Art for the Biltmore

An exhibition of fifty of the finest examples of the bookmaker's art, selected by the American Institute of Graphic Arts, will be shown during the week beginning next Monday in the lounge room of the Biltomre.

The books cover a wide range of subject matter, the principal interest of the selection lying in the superior craftsmanship of the bookmaker. Similar selections are to be made each year hereafter, and shown in the cities where they were printed, and in other large cities of this country and Canada.

It is notable that the exhibit, while it includes the works of novelists, old and new, and books of poems, also includes a large number of what might be called "business books." Numbered among these latter are the Manual of Linotype Typography, The Victor Book of the Opera, Art in Industry, Monotype, Elements of Lettering, Printing Types, and A Century of Banking.

Aged Man Dies Suddenly as He Bathes in Pool

Suddenly attacked by heart failure while enjoying a swim at the Bimini Baths, Alfred Lewis, 64 years of age, died last night in the pool before life guards could pull him out of the water. The aged man had entered the pool with his brother, Harry Lewis, and while in deep water, suddenly went under and failed to reappear.

A commotion among other bathers in the pool was caused by the cries for help from the brother of the stricken man. Several life guards immediately plunged into the water and lifted the man out.

Lewis, a retired business man, resided with his brother at 1919 South Grand avenue. His body was taken in charge by the E. E. Overholtzer Undertaking Company.

SOCIETY TO FROLIC

Under the auspices of the Loyal Illinoisans, there will be an all-Southern California picnic of the Suckers all day Tuesday, February 12, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. This will celebrate the anniversary of the birth of the immortal Lincoln, and all the Illinoisans of the Southland will join in remembering the great American. Basket dinners will be enjoyed and coffee will be supplied. Tourists and visitors from the home State will be welcomed.

SHEPHERD DOG SHOW

Announcement was made last night by Mrs. Elliott Dexter, president of the Shepherd Dog Club of the West, that all post entries for the third annual shepherd dog show must be in the hands of the secretary not later than Friday. The exhibit is to be given in Hollywood February 2, and for one day only. Applications for post entries can be made to Sherwood Hall, 2160 North Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena. Information may be obtained by telephoning Mr. Hall at Fair Oaks 6656.

NORTHERN COLORADANS

Otto H. Wengelin, president of the Northern Colorado Society of Long Beach, is inviting all who ever lived in the State to join in the picnic reunion in Bixby Park, Long Beach, Saturday. Basket dinners will be taken by the picnickers but coffee will be supplied.

Girl Says She Was Forced to Wed Stepfather

Coerced into a marriage with her 53-year-old stepfather, according to the juvenile authorities, 15-year-old Edna Case was being held in Juvenile Hall last night pending court action that would free her.

The man in the case is Will Jamison, engineer at the McKinley school. He married the girl's mother, a widow, whose husband died at sea. After the mother died, Edna's sister and Jamison's daughters are asserted to have prevailed upon the girl to leave her grandmother's home on Thirty-fifth street and live at Jamison's. Shortly after she had made the change, however, she told the authorities, Jamison lured her into the marriage, telling her that he wanted a wife in name only to clear the title to some land that would be left the children.

He obtained a license on the 8th inst., according to the authorities, giving the girl's age as 19 and his as 33. The grandmother, Mrs. Fanny Case, saw the names in a newspaper and the action of the juvenile authorities followed. The probation officers handling the case are now searching for a suitable home, where she will receive a mother's care.

Suing Wife Says Spouse Is Sheik of Neighborhood

Nicodemus Elias is asserted by his wife Rose to be the operator of a fruit and produce business at 1172 North Vermont avenue. He also is the "sheik" of the neighborhood, according to her suit for divorce, filed yesterday.

Elias, who is said to enjoy an income of $500 a month, failed to take his spouse to any place of amusement and entirely neglected her, she complaint recited. But, Mrs. Elias said, he continually flirted with other women and showered so many affectionate caresses on them in her presence that she was extremely embarrassed and displeased.

"You are too old for me," Elias was alleged to have said to his wife, adding that "I can get any other woman I want. If I feel like taking one, I will take her; if I feel like taking four, I will take them," the petition further stated.

Actors Seeking Boost in Pay to Film Scale

The high wages of motion-picture actors have attracted such widespread attention that the fact has been overlooked that many actors get less than they should, according to Frank Gillmore, executive secretary of the Actors' Equity Association, who left last night for the East after conferences with Will H. Hays, president of the Association of Motion-Picture Producers.

The Equity Association, which has stirred up theatrical matters in the East through its determination to better the condition of its members, is backing the minimum contract proposal framed a year ago. Mr. Gillmore said the motion-picture producers appeared to be willing to accept this proposal and that an agreement is likely in the near future.

MAP APPROVED FOR WIDENING OF DRIVE

The assessment map for the widening of Riverside Drive between Los Feliz Boulevard and the Dayton-avenue bridge was approved yesterday by the City Council, following the receipt of a statement from the Board of Education announcing that the board would pay its assessments on two parcels of school property facing the improvement. On motion of Councilman Wheeler, the City Attorney was asked for a report if it were necessary for the Council to ask the Board of Education if the Board would please pay its improvement assessments. Councilman Wheeler declared that the Council should go ahead and assess the board as is done with individual property owners.

URGES TRADING IN ARGENTINA

American Attache Says State Should Act

California Products in Demand by Nation

Los Angeles Business Men Given Information

Opportunities to increase American trade with Argentina were never better than at present, says Edward F. Feely, commercial attache of the United States Embassy in Buenos Aires.

Mr. Feely, who has been in this country for some time to promote commercial relations between America and Argentina, conferred with several local business men at the Chamber of Commerce on South American conditions yesterday.

"I advised them to visit Buenos Aires and see for themselves what the situation is down there," he said. "To my mind Pacific Coast interests are particularly well situated for branching out in South America. Here in California you are nearer Argentina than is any other section of your country, you produce a large quantity of material for which there is a demand among the Argentinans and you are especially favored in the matter of inexpensive transportation.

Mr. Feely stated that up to this time Argentina has had to depend on imports for a large amount of the commodities used by her people. At this moment there is a movement among the younger business men to place the country on a self-supporting basis.

MACHINERY MARKET

"This will involve the importation of vast quantities of various kinds of equipment for use in the developing of industry and will render Argentina a good market for American machinery and construction material. It is important that the American should get on the job as soon as possible, however, to meet the competition of the European countries, practically everyone of which is represented among the business interests of Buenos Aires."

European influence is far more marked in the South American country than it is in the United States, Mr. Feely said. In habits, customs, modes of thought and business usage, the Argentinian follows those of the Latin countries in Europe closely, particularly Spain, and, in recent years, Italy the population having been greatly augmented by an influx of Italian immigrants during the last decade.

SHOW INFLUENCE

"Our newspapers show this influence most clearly, the principal dailies of Buenos Aires devoting at least five pages to cable news every day. So far as Argentinian sentiment toward America is concerned, I should say that it is one of more or less indifference. The United States is far away and there is nothing about it that especially interests the Argentinian. He is friendly enough to the few Americans found there and American goods are held in high regard. He would probably rather buy from America than elsewhere if the material was obtainable."

Buenos Aires is now a city of 2,000,000 inhabitants, and is growing at a pace that is causing the government officials some concern.

"There are no bars on immigration and people from Southern Europe and, since the war, from Germany, are flocking to the country by the thousand. Many of these newcomers settle in the capital, and the problem is to induce them to seek the country districts, where vast areas of fertile land await development at the hands of agricultural workers.

"Argentina is almost exclusively an agricultural country. Its chief products are grains and cattle. It has no supplies of iron or coal, so that extensive industries are out of the question. There are a few small factories in Buenos Aires, but they are not important."

MY DAUGHTER WOULD CRY AT EVERYTHING

Nervous and Irritable. By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Became Entirely Normal

Clinton, Wisconsin.—"My daughter was in a very run-down condition, and was irritable, and would cry at every little thing she was so weak and nervous. As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped me when I was a girl I gave it to her to build her up, and the results were all that we could wish for. I wish that every mother with growing girls would try it for these troubles girls often have. I had taken it myself before my girl was born, and she was one of the nicest babies any one could wish to have. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to women and girls and cannot praise it too highly." —Mrs. I. A. HOLFORD, Box 48, Clinton, Wisconsin.

Mothers can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve their daughters of those troubles they so often have. They know from experience the value of the Vegetable Compound in the treatment of these complaints and many, like Mrs. Holford, give it to their daughters.
